Baugh Heads Beach Publishers Commercial Printing Department

Will D. Baugh, formerly general manager of the Commonwealth Press in Radford, Virginia, has been named manager of the commercial printing department of the Beach Publishing Corporation, publishers of the Virginia Beach Sun-News. It was announced this week by Fred A. Haycox, president. Baugh began his new duties the past Monday.

Alvin R. Malheur, who has served as business manager for the corporation for more than two years, has been elevated to the position of general manager of both the newspaper and printing departments.

"Baugh heads a printing department that is equipped to print booklets, folders and general commercial printing forms and one that has developed to a point that expansion has become necessary," Haycox stated. "We are indeed fortunate in securing a man of Baugh's proven ability and it will afford us an opportunity to fill the printing needs of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County," Haycox added.

Baugh, a native of Georgia, came to Radford July 1, 1943, from Williamston, W. Va. where he had managed the Blackburn Printing Co. and later the Williamson Printing Co. for eight years.

He was the first chairman of the Commercial Printing Committee of the Virginia Press Association in 1946, a member of the committee in 1947 and chairman again in 1948. He was the founding president of the Virginia State Printers Association which was organized in 1951. He served as chairman of the board of V. S. P. A. in 1952; chairman of the membership committee in 1953 and chairman of the legislative committee in 1954. He was the recipient of the 1953 Memorial Award in 1953 for outstanding service to the printing industry in Virginia.

Bloodmobile Exceeds Quota On Monday Visit

The Red Cross Bloodmobile made its June visit to Virginia Beach Monday under the sponsorship of the Intra Civic Clubs with the assistance of the Virginia Beach Gasoline Station. During the hours from noon to six o'clock 161 donors were secured. This exceeds the quota of 150 and is a direct result of the splendid cooperation of the Intra Civic Clubs in bringing about the visit.

"UNQUALIFIED SUCCESS" DECLARE PARTICIPANTS OF BEACH SAND FESTIVAL

The Gala Sand Festival last weekend at this ocean resort was proclaimed a huge success by the over 100 press and radio representatives that covered the two day festivities. Leo Harty, Chamber of Commerce Secretary, disclosed that police estimated that over 25,000 people attended the many events crammed into the week-end program.

Johnny Doyle, General chairman of the Festival and guiding spirit behind the promotion, announced that plans were already under-way to stage a bigger and better version of the Festival in 1955, probably in late May, or in conjunction with the Memorial Day observance.

Many of the score of newsmen, TV and Radio executives and Travel and Resort Editors from metropolitan newspapers extended their stay at the resort, which was given the widest publicity in its history, as a result of the Sand Festival.

An array of celebrities, among them John Grimick, several times winner of the Mr. America title; Marvin Byrum, recent winner of the National Hand Balancing Contest in New York City; Linda Rivera, former featured dancer with the world renowned El Greco Dancers, plus many other top personalities, were featured in the two variety shows staged on the beach Friday and Saturday.

Two top bands provided continuous music for the street dance held Saturday night in the center of downtown Virginia Beach, and more than 2,000 people enjoyed the fun and frolic.

A diversity of side-lights were cast on the Festival program, including exhibitions of land-water tactics by amphibious units of the Army, Navy and Coast Guard, a parade of pleasure craft, a girls football game, an athletic show and the annual Beauty Pageant, at which Miss Nita Aldridge was selected as Miss Virginia Beach to represent this resort city in the Miss Virginia Finals at Norfolk, Virginia later on in the summer.

The Sand Festival Parade was the biggest Pageant of marching bands and floats in the country, containing over 100 units, 6 bands and over 500 costumed marchers.

For Nita Aldridge Being "Queen" Means Busy Life

Miss Nita Aldridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Aldridge, of 412 22nd street, Virginia Beach, was crowned Queen of the third Annual Sand Festival last Saturday night, and her life became a busy round of guest appearances thereafter.

Runner-up to Miss Aldridge for the coveted title was Miss Betty Sue Matthews, of Princess Anne County. Miss Matthews was sponsored by the Virginia Beach Rotary Club and Miss Aldridge by the Virginia Beach Lions Club.

Miss Aldridge will compete in the State event to name "Miss Virginia" and the winner of this competition will be eligible to enter the "Miss America" contest in Atlantic City in September.

Henry King at Cabana Club

When Henry King and his orchestra begin an engagement at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club, Friday the famous piano-playing maestro will once again bring the strains of his melodious music right into the dancing heart of the public.

Noted for his outstanding style on the piano, Henry King has run the gamut of the line from the classic to the modern, and has never lost touch of the danceable, listenable music that has made him so eagerly accepted.

In the past few years he has been one of the top orchestras in the picture world with such films as "The Yanks Are Coming," "Sweetheart of the U. S. A.," and the Paramount Picture "Out of the World."

Always popular on radio and records, the orchestra has reached the bestseller class in Decca and is credited with being one of the first orchestras to promote the Latin tempos through his album and radio shows. For a full year Henry was music director and leader on the popular George Burns and Gracie Allen program and no matter where he has played the networks were always sure to see that his music was aired directly from the spot of his engagement.

So popular is the piano, music and personality of Henry King that during his first engagement at the Waldorf Astoria in New York he was the first orchestra to ever play all three of the dance rooms - The Empire, Bert and the famous Starlit Roof. Keeping up the tradition of only the finest in music, the Henry King engagements during the past year have included such spots as the Plaza in New York, the Ambassador and Biltmore in Los Angeles, the Palmer House and Edgewater Beach in Chicago and the Mark Hopkins in San Francisco.

Goad Resigns County Position

J. Melvin Goad, clerk of the Princess Anne County Trial Justice Court for the past several years, has resigned that position. It was rumored that Goad had contemplated resigning from the court post for some time. Several weeks ago a State auditor's report was critical of the manner in which the court's records and finances had been kept.

The resigned clerk could not be reached for comment on his future plans.

Fireworks Cancelled

The fireworks display planned by the City of Virginia Beach for the Fourth of July has been cancelled, according to word from City Hall. Cancellation of the display was necessary due to inability to get shipment of the fireworks and certain legal restrictions placed on transporting explosives from the City of Virginia Beach to the water main serving Port Story.

Halstead, who was a member of the Virginia Beach City Council for eight years and vice-mayor for most of that time, negotiated with the Army last week and in a matter of hours had the situation well under control and the additional water began flowing to the residences in the North Virginia Beach area.

Artmobile Here Twelve Days Starting on 14th

The Artmobile, described as "genuinely a museum on wheels," will be at Virginia Beach from July 14 through July 26. Arrangements for its Virginia Beach appearance have been cleared with the Virginia Beach Council and with the approval of the city engineer. The Artmobile will be on a plot facing the ocean between the Coast Guard station and the Albemarle Hotel and will be open to the public from noon to 5:30 p. m. and from 7:30 to 3 p. m. each day.

The collection to be shown includes 16 paintings, the work of Flemish and Dutch masters of the 16th and 17th centuries, taken by Walter P. Chrysler, Jr. from the walls of his New York office and the Warren home and lent for the exhibition. The Artmobile was brought to Norfolk last year. This will be its first visit to Virginia Beach.

The Artmobile was created to solve problems of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts regular to its loan exhibition program, by providing properly safeguarded exhibition space for rare and valuable works of art to serve those Virginians without access to the museum in Richmond.

The committee responsible for planning the visit is composed of Mrs. Owen, Mrs. Trummer, Mrs. David L. Butler, vice president of the Kempsville Woman's Club; Mrs. H. H. Eller, president of the Bayside Club; Mrs. R. B. Tynes, representing the Virginia Beach Art Association; Mrs. David Malbon, fine arts chairman of the Princess Anne County club; Mrs. E. J. Geroff, Jr., president of the

North Beach Folks Thank Halstead, Army

North Virginia Beach residents are thankful to Virginia Beach City Sergeant H. E. Halstead these days for securing additional water for that area last week. A serious water shortage had developed in the area and Halstead went right to work and secured permission from the Army for the City of Virginia Beach to tap into the water main serving Port Story.

Halstead, who was a member of the Virginia Beach City Council for eight years and vice-mayor for most of that time, negotiated with the Army last week and in a matter of hours had the situation well under control and the additional water began flowing to the residences in the North Virginia Beach area.

The situation had become acute last Thursday morning and Mayor P. F. Murray asked City Sergeant Halstead, in view of his past experience, if he would look into the possibility of tapping into the Army water main.

Halstead called Senator Harry Byrd's office in Washington and asked if the Senator would contact Second Army headquarters which has jurisdiction over Port Story and Port Story. On Friday morning Halstead received a telephone call from General Harris, Second Army chief of staff, who advised that he (Harris) had informed both Port Story and Port Story to permit the City of Virginia Beach use of the Army water main.

The City of Va. Beach owns the water distribution system in the North Virginia Beach area, although it is a part of Princess Anne County. Princess Anne County spent $50,000 in the area last year to install new lines, which, in turn, were devoted to the city.

And now the residents in the area have ample water due to the quick action of City Sergeant Halstead.

Two anti-organization candidates for the office of city sergeant for the City of Virginia Beach Wednesday denied emphatically any intention of withdrawing from the race which will be decided in an election on July 13.

Guy Barnes, a local oil company employee, and J. Clarence Fayman, a state operator, told the Sun-News that they had no intention of withdrawing from the race.

1,000,000 Pennies Sought

A special committee to raise funds for support of the new Princess Anne County High School will launch a drive today to raise one million pennies between now and November 1. It has been announced.

The money will be used to outfit the band and for purchase of instruments. In the pledge cards being used the committee states that the money will be used for the best band "in the land."

The band committee is made up of representatives from various civic groups and other organizations in Princess Anne County. Individual containers will be placed throughout the county so that everyone will have an opportunity to contribute their surplus pennies to the drive.

Nixon Gets Nod From 1st District Republicans

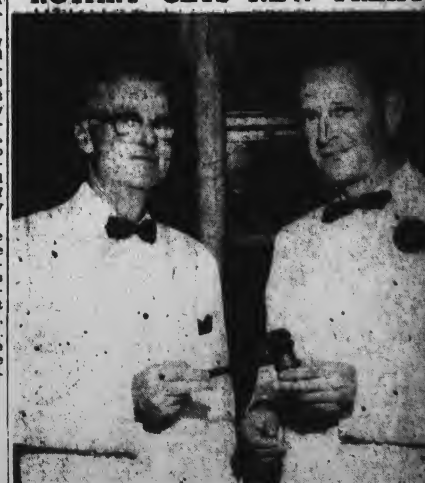

A newcomer to politics, William M. Nixon, of Princess Anne County, will run for the House of Representatives next November in opposition to Representative E. J. Roberson, Jr. of Warwick.

Only 26 years of age, "Billy" Nixon was chosen by First District Republicans at their regular meeting Saturday in Yorktown. Nixon himself was not present, as he is in Lexington preparing to take State bar examinations, but his nomination was accepted by his father, Julian C. Nixon, a delegate from his son's county.

Campaign plans will be formulated at the district meeting of Virginia Republicans in Roanoke on July 17.

TIPPING THE CHAPRAU

The garden of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Brooks, located at 331 52nd Street, at the corner of Holly Road, is the beauty spot of the week as selected by the Council of Garden Clubs. In spite of the hot dry spell, the lawn is bright and green. Always throughout the year, the Brooks garden is one to be admired. Berberis shrubs thrive during the winter months, followed by camellias in the early spring. Situated on a high hill, the sloping lawn is always neatly trimmed and at this season of the year, the garden is a beautiful sight. The garden is a beautiful sight. The garden is a beautiful sight.

NOTE: The Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County, through this column, selects a beauty spot each week.

IT'S YOUR MOVE

A SHORT STORY

The houses on Dilley Street all terrapin little beasts and need look alike. Old Lenny McAllister, whose house squatted near the middle of the shabby line-up, didn't like the arrangement one bit. Electing to do something about it he purchased a pair of saw, yellow paint, a huge brush, and a cheap ladder.

Scampering up the ladder like a seagull fire-fighter he soaped discovered that he had overreached himself. The ladder promptly collapsed. The bucket of paint landed with painful impact on Lenny's foot. The ensuing howl of agony was genuine and lusty. Sympathetic neighbors rushed upon the scene to inspect Lenny's big toe. They decided that an amputation was in order. While these experts stood about solemnly shaking their heads, Lenny poured maledictions upon all sellers of rickety ladders. Suddenly one of the bystanders had a startling idea: why not get a doctor?

This being done it was soon discovered that Lenny would live. A cheer went up from the little group.

Immediately following Lenny's accident the good people of Hillcrest assembled in the town hall to devise a way to aid him. It was a noble project and one that would have been carried off to everyone's satisfaction had it not been for the presence of Abner Wright—he was Lenny's next-door neighbor. Abner thought little of Lenny McAllister—exceedingly little. He had on one occasion accused Lenny of sacking his cat on his—Abner's pigeons. Nothing could be further from the truth. Cats are structions to the surprised painter. Late that afternoon Abner Wright elbowed his way angrily through the crowd of people on his front lawn. Then he stopped short. What had happened to his house? The entire outer surface of the building looked like a checkerboard—huge green and white squares!

"It's your move, Abner!" cried Lenny from the safety of his own porch. "Till say it's his move!" bellowed a big red-faced man before Abner could answer. It was Mr. Peabody, Abner's landlord. "You must be an idiot, Mr. Wright! You screamed while Abner splattered helplessly. 'How take your paint pot and your pigeons and get off my property!'"

Abner Wright hasn't been seen since. It's been rumored that Lenny plans to take another crack at painting this fall. He's got a new ladder.

Myrtle—How does that clock so you won at the fair? Vernon—Fine! It does an hour in less than 45 minutes.

Contracts Let for Work at NAS

A contract totaling $892,344 was awarded Tuesday for additional projects at the Oceana Naval Air Station, now becoming the largest master jet air base in the world.

The Virginia Engineering Company, Inc., of Newport News, was awarded a $353,000 contract to build two communications buildings and a radio transmitter station.

E. V. Williams, Inc., and W. H. Scott, of Norfolk, submitted a winning bid of $539,344 for paving 82,000 square yards of ground to be used as airplane parking area. Also included in the project are refueling taxi lanes.

Other bids are scheduled to be opened soon on other projects proposed at the air station, a program that will cost approximately $64 million before completion.

LAKE POLICED TO STOP STUNTING

It has come to the attention of property holders located on Crystal Lake that some boatmen and skiers have been engaging in the dangerous practice of running into water fowl in the lake.

Recently a group of young boys were observed skiing into a group of pet ducks in the lake. The incident could have been serious and as a result the lake is being policed against such stunts.

FORT STORY

Fort Story is 38 years old this month, and the SUN-NEWS is happy to extend greetings to our Army neighbors at the tip of Cape Henry. Virginia Beach merchants and residents alike will agree that Fort Story's soldiers are indeed neighbors in the best sense of the word. For them our resort community is not just one more "Army town outside the gate." The strongest proof of this is that incidents of misconduct involving men from the post are gratifyingly few. On the other hand, instances of their courtesy and generous cooperation in civic events are too numerous to mention.

One reason for Fort Story's splendid relations with Virginia Beach in the past year has been the experienced guidance by Col. Guy D. Thompson who assumed command of the Transportation Amphibious Training Center last summer. To the fullest extent of his ability, Colonel Thompson has kept in view the interests and sensibilities of the community while devoting his main energies to making his command a model of its type. The SUN-NEWS regrets to learn that Colonel Thompson is soon to retire from active service after a long and useful career. But we are confident that his successor will be the same outstanding sort of Army officer.

The building of a NIKE guided missile installation now underway at the fort opens a new phase of its history, but it should not diminish the post's unique value as a Transportation Corps base for amphibious training. Virginia Beach will for a long time to come, we hope, welcome the DUKW men and their families as people it is a pleasure to know.

The SUN-NEWS, which regularly publishes news and pictures of Fort Story activities, can testify to the cooperative spirit of the post's Public Information representative, M-Sgt. Bill Fitzgerald. A soldier who is also an experienced newspaperman, Sergeant Fitzgerald fully appreciates like Colonel Thompson — the necessity for amicable and close relations between the military and the civilian community. The record of the past year would show that they have done their jobs well.

My PET PEEVE

Nothing under the sun peeves me more than meeting someone who calls me by name when I am unable to return the favor and am forced to half-heartedly attempt polite conversation while trying to call up a name to match the face. A crucial time is when I am walking down the street with visiting relative or friend. We meet someone who calls me by name and asks about my family. I ask about his and we carry on this type of conversation while visiting friend or relative stands by twiddling his thumbs and wondering why I don't have the courtesy to at least introduce him so he can get into the act. After all he has a family of his own to talk about. I can apologize all I want to later on, but the visitor thinks you're just trying to cover up some bad manners, or something.

Take what happened to a friend who was eating out with his wife in one of the better restaurants. In walked a girl from the home town. There was a difference of several years in their ages and the last time he saw her she had been cutting out paper dolls. Now she was a freshman in college. They looked at each other and here is a summary of the conversation, somewhat cut down to eliminate the old-fashioned questions about "how's the family?" It went like this:

"Hi!"
 "Hi!"
 (long pause)
 "I knew I knew you, uh, uh. I mean I knew you, I mean."

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

When Ruth M. Kennedy, 45 New Lawn Avenue, Arlington, New Jersey, graduated from high school she had her heart set on going to college, but because of an eye condition, the doctor advised against it—and almost broke her heart. She had been preparing for four years and the letdown was too much. She had not the qualifications for going right out into the business world so her parents suggested a secretarial school for a year. This was the last thing she had wanted to do. But to please her parents, she graduated — and made a flop of it. She got to the point where she was building up resentment toward everyone. She would cry if anyone dared make a remark to her, but she would tell no one what troubled her. By the time she got a job the change was too much for her.

There were no signs of nerves in the beginning, but she had pains in her stomach—nausea to eat, and finally was sick in bed. She lost over forty pounds and the doctor finally said she must go to a hospital for intravenous feeding. The intravenous feedings did give her a little strength, but they didn't help her otherwise. The doctor finally brought in a psychiatrist who recommended shock treatments. These helped a lot, but it wasn't until she realized that nothing would cure her completely except her change of mental attitude that she began to help herself. With God's help, eleven months later she was back on her feet; but not until she had caused a terrible headache for all concerned. Today when things don't go just right she talks it over with God in prayer, and she doesn't wait until she gets to church to kneel.

At last, she declares, she has learned how to live.

Private Enterprise Can Provide Adequate Houses

Private enterprise and private ownership can and do provide our real reservoir of adequate low-cost housing, Ronald J. Chinnock, Chicago, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said today.

"Half of all the non-farm rental housing in the United States," Mr. Chinnock said, "rents for $35.50 per dwelling per month or less. NAREB doesn't say so. The federal government says so in its latest census findings. This is the 1950 national non-farm median rent — the figure that divides all rental payments into two groups of equal number, those below it and those above it."

Denim, once the mainstay fabric for factory and farm work clothes, has within the past few years become fashion's utility material.

Denim has acquired a lot of new weights, new looks, new colors and new weaves which have found a variety of new uses and which sell denim from the general store to the top fashion establishments.

Denims are now soft enough for women's and children's wear, tough enough for washing, and colorful enough to interest designers of dresses, sportswear and accessories. This summer's leisure and vacation time is bringing out a variety of colorful denim designs both for utility and style.

Washability should be the main consideration in the shopper's choice of sportswear, work and utility apparel, according to technicians at American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center of the laundry industry.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

After spending a hard and sometimes dry spring on the essential jobs of planting, cultivating, and fertilizing your field crops; many of you will reach a relatively slack season of your year in the next two to four weeks. At that time you will probably turn your attention to one of the many maintenance jobs that must be done during the year to assure normal and efficient farm opera-

One of the most important of these jobs is proper farm fencing. A job, as a matter of fact, that has been sadly neglected in many cases.

We both know the main reason that it is hard for you to do a good job of fencing. An efficient Open-Ditch Drainage System is seriously hampered by field fencing. Therefore, 75 per cent of the fencing that we do is only temporary. The average fence that is built in this County is not expected to remain in place over 2-3 years.

However, the fencing problem is a serious one. For example - every farmer that was in a position to feed his corn to hogs during the past year sold his corn crop for a little over $2.00 per bushel. In other words for every thousand bushels of corn that you sold last fall at a $1.50 per bushel, you lost $500.00 due to a lack of adequate fencing. It is relatively easy to erect a temporary fence around your corn fields after you have constructed your permanent fences bordering your farm, and these are the ones I would like to discuss with you. Whenever you build a permanent fence that is not designed to last 20-25 years then you are wasting valuable time, labor, and money.

In an attempt to show you how this fencing problem can and should be licked, we are planning a demonstration at the farm of Roger Sawyer on the Holland Swamp Road, Thursday, July 8th. The meeting will start at 2:00 P. M. At that time we will show you how to treat your own fence posts to last from 15-20 years. Also you will see how a fence can be built to last for the life of the posts.

"The Successful Farmer"

Many city folks think that anybody can farm—that push-button mechanization and a bountiful Nature make farming a cinch. True; the folks you've just been reading about have made outstanding successes. And never in history has the farmer had more tools at his command.

But today's farmer, who feeds more people than a man on the land ever fed before, must be a jack-of-all-trades—and master of all!

He doesn't have to know all the chemistry behind the chemicals he buys, but he has to know how to use them.

He doesn't have to be a mechanical engineer, but it might help him keep $10,000 worth of machinery running.

He doesn't have to be an economist to analyze whether a $3,000 pick-up trailer will pay for itself, but he does need to do some figuring. And a dash of meteorology might help decide whether to buy a sprinkler irrigation outfit, hire a cloud seeder, or just trust to Nature.

He doesn't have to know the King of Spades from the Deuce of Clubs, but he does have to gamble—with the weather and with the markets.

He must be a diplomat to convince his wife a new tractor should come first—that it will help buy the automatic washer and clothes dryer.

He's frequently called upon to practice medicine without a license as he diagnoses the obstruction in the cow's throat as a green apple.

It's assumed, of course, he can fell a tree, dock a lamb, tune up a motor, operate on a pig, and toss around 100-lb. bags of fertilizer.

On top of that he must be able to walk into a bank in muddy boots and smelly clothes and ask for a 20,000 loan without batting an eye.

Anybody can farm—it's a free country. But to be a successful farmer you need to know plenty.

GAME COMMISSION RULES ALLOW OPEN SEASON ON DOES TO CHECK INCREASE

It is important for hunters to realize that where the Commission has declared open seasons on antlerless deer it is intended that does shall be shot. Harvest of a proper number of females is the practical means of checking the increase of the animals in an area where they are becoming too numerous.

Based on intensive studies of the ranges and existing deer populations, open seasons on antlerless deer have been declared on the last shooting day in 10 of the counties west of the Blue Ridge. This action was taken for the specific purpose of checking the increase in numbers of animals in those areas, for the future welfare of the deer as well as the hunters.

Lifting the ban on taking deer of either sex on the last day of the season, rather than on the first, was in keeping with the desire to get a larger number of does killed off. Hunters going into the woods for the first time rather naturally look for opportunity to bag bucks with trophy antlers and are likely to pass up chances to kill females.

It is a well-known principle in deer management that the pyramiding numbers of animals must be checked long before they become numerous to endanger their ranges. In many States they have had the distressing experience of having allowed the herds to become so large that they have destroyed their ranges for years to come. Browse for deer is not developed overnight.

Technicians of the Commission are making most careful studies of the mountain deer ranges and their carrying capacities with a view to preventing trouble from overbreeding before it sets in. Strictly enough, the very areas where efforts are now being made to control the numbers of animals are the same areas where there were no deer until the restocking program was inaugurated back in the 1930s.

Problems in handling deer have been acute down through the years in many States. If hunters will follow the Commission's guidance, there will be no need for us in Virginia to repeat the errors which have led to tragic results elsewhere. In many areas deer have died by the hundreds because of overcrowded ranges and resulting undernourishment and starvation.

Experiences have proven that there are serious problems in managing deer throughout the development of a deer population. While there appear to be no areas in Virginia where there is danger of reaching the starvation point, there must be continuing efforts to keep the numbers of animals in proper relationship to the availability of browse on their ranges.

Hundreds of clearings in the woods have been made and old logging roads and trails have been developed to supply greater abundance of food, and this important work will continue, but large numbers of deer have to depend mainly upon the native shrubs and mast of the forests, which must not be depleted to the danger point.

Where food in abundance is not available, it has been found time and again that the animals fall off in average weight, they are attacked by disease, the does become sterile, and the males seldom have fully developed antlers. These consequences are noted long before shortage of food is apparent to the casual observer.

When only bucks are shot in the hunting season, the herd continues to grow, for the females will produce an average of one and one-half fawns annually. The increase is not so noticeable until there are considerable numbers of deer on a range, then their numbers increase with amazing rapidity.

Harvesting a proper proportion of female deer is one of the most important factors in deer management. The hunters may know that when the Commission deferred realization of a need for blood in this area. Another big factor was the enthusiastic publicity given the drive by the gasoline station attendants who distributed pamphlets and displayed posters at their stations during the past week. They also demonstrated their sincerity by turning out en masse at the Bloodmobile on donor day as did the Fire Department once again.

Assisting at the Bloodmobile were the following volunteers:

Earl DuVal of the Civitan Club greeted everyone at the door; Gray Ladies, Mrs. Sally Ellis, Mrs. Arthur Hill, and Mrs. L. P. Patrick; Staff Aides, Mrs. David H. Batchelder, Jr., Mrs. V. Alfred Etheridge, Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. Wm. Reid, Mrs. W. J. Higgins, Jr., Mrs. C. S. Snodgrass, Mrs. W. Cecil Carpenter, Mrs. Wm. W. Boykin, and Mrs. Ernest E. Inter-League Game Suggestion Arouses Interest of Fans, Players

Baseball fans are currently engaged in a hot dispute because of the suggestion by Cleveland's general manager, Hank Greenberg, that teams in each league play teams in the other league in regularly scheduled games. Greenberg proposes that each club in each league play every other club in the opposite league four games a year.

He would have these games count in the regular league standings and lists these advantages of the proposal:
1. The games would add interest to the schedule.
2. They would benefit second-division clubs, after they had lost all hopes of figuring in the pen-sons with no first aid training can be of some help by following these general directions:

1. Don't move the injured person unless it is absolutely necessary. If he has a spinal injury or internal injuries, moving may make them worse.
2. Look for bleeding first. Most serious bleeding can be stopped by applying pressure directly on the wound. If the person has stopped breathing, begin artificial respiration immediately.
3. Help prevent shock by keeping the injured person lying flat until you know how serious his injuries are. Keep the victim from becoming chilled.
4. Send someone to call a doctor or an ambulance. Give clear directions on location of the accident and the nature, cause, and probably extent of the injuries. If it's a traffic accident, post somebody in the road to prevent traffic jams.
5. Keep him comfortable and cheerful if possible. Never give liquids of any kind to an unconscious person.
6. Keep onlookers away from the victim. They won't do him any good, and may interfere with proper care.
7. Be sure prepared for the next time. Enroll in a first aid course offered through your local Red Cross chapter.

idea or thought of withdrawing and each stated they were in the race to the end.

Barnes and Hayman are opposing H. E. Halstead, who is seeking reelection and who is backed by the city organization.

"I have no intention of withdrawing from the race. I did not come in withdrawing and will not go out withdrawing," Barnes said. "There has been some talk of getting together but there is no getting together and nothing to get together about." Barnes added. He obviously referred to rumors of one of the anti-organization candidates stepping aside.

Hayman said "I have given no thought to withdrawing and am in the race to the finish."

Thus, the July 13 election shapes up as a three-man race for the post now held by Halstead.

New Muller Play to Have World Premiere at Beach Next Week

Theatre-Go-Round brings another premiere to Virginia Beach as its second attraction of the season, presenting the first performance of Romeo Muller's new comedy, "Angel with the Big Big Ears," Tuesday through Sunday, July 6-11, in the tented arena on Sixty-seventh Street.

Muller is Theatre-Go-Round's director and the author of "With Drum and Colours," a fantasy which had its premiere here last summer. It opens on Broadway in the Fall with James Barton in the starring role.

"Angel" is a hilarious satire on the radio and television give-away programs. It's the story of a little old lady who enters a contest and wins an elephant, and the hubbub which ensues when the packyerm is delivered to the peaceful little Long Island community where the little old lady lives with her daughter and dentist son-in-law rocks the whole island.

Virtually the entire Theatre-Go-Round company appears in the big-cast play, along with a number of the group's talented apprentices.

Curtain time is 8:40 nightly, and all seats are reserved. Admission prices are $2.40 and $1.80.

Even with unemployment currently at about three million, we have 60 million persons employed—over five million more than were working during the massive production period of World War II, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce says.

New Combination Ambulance-Police Emergency Car on Market

A versatile ambulance, police emergency vehicle and patrol car suitable for use in small communities as a combination unit or in metropolitan cities as an auxiliary emergency car has been introduced by Studebaker.

Slight changes in the interior arrangement also make the vehicle ideal for use by hospitals as a private ambulance. Funeral homes that offer ambulance service can quickly replace the regulation emergency equipment after the vehicle has been used as a flower car or general service car.

For industrial use, all emergency equipment, including siren, beacon, and four-wheeled cot, can be removed in a few minutes to convert the ambulance into a personnel carrier.

According to state police who were consulted on design requirements, the Studebaker vehicle is ideal for highway patrol duty because of its balance at high speeds, its comfort, and ease of handling.

Also it has ample room to carry all of the special equipment required for accident investigation work, emergency treatment of ill or injured persons, plus room for a standard ambulance cot.

Police were especially enthusiastic about the ease with which a patient can be placed in and removed from the vehicle.

Interior specifications allow latitude of choice in the type of emergency equipment that can be installed. For example, two-way radio units can be placed over the transmission housing for easy access, and operated from the instrument panel. Mounting plates can be placed in numerous locations for such items as oxygen tanks, rescue tackle, or auxiliary flood-lighting equipment.

The Studebaker ambulance is modified from a Conestoga station wagon. Both front and rear seats are of the divided type, and the rear seats fold down in the conventional manner. When the right section of the rear seat is raised, it provides space for a medical attendant at the head of the ambulance cot. With both rear seat sections raised, there is room for three passengers.

Zipper openings in the flax vinyl headliner provide easy access to mounting bolts and wiring that connect the revolving beacon and siren on the roof. A two-way toggle switch cuts out the conventional horn and allows the siren to be operated from the horn ring during emergency runs. A spring-actuated bridgeboard covers the gap that one man can easily roll the ambulance cot into position and lock it into the carrier brackets.

The Studebaker ambulance is available in four different models — Deluxe Champion, Royal Champion, DeLuxe Commander and Regal Commander. Exterior color options include nine solid colors and five two-tone combinations. Interiors are in flax colored wolf-grain vinyl.

As an aftermath of the disastrous floods in Holland, one Dutch railroad train is called the "Ebb Express." It runs only when the tide is out, because at high tide, the track it uses lies six feet underwater.

Psychologists claim that gulping milk and cheese indicates emotional stress; coffee and beer, depression.

Many Interesting Places in Nearby North Carolina

Persons going to the Dare Coast this year to see a performance of Paul Green's symphonic drama "The Lost Colony," will have an opportunity to see many historical and interesting sites. Notably, of course is the Fort Raleigh National Historic Site with its museum and restored fort, where the famous drama is now being presented for its 14th season.

As Kill Devil Hills close by the site of The Lost Colony, is the Wright Brothers National Monument. This year in addition to the monument which commemorates man's conquest of the air in a heavier-than-air, powered machine, are the reconstructed home and living quarters of The Wright Brothers, Wilbur and Orville, identical to the way they left the quarters after the first flight experiments of 1903. The buildings are equipped as they were 51 years ago.

This year, for the first summer season, it is possible for Dare Coast visitors to drive their own automobiles direct to famous Cape Hatteras. Cape Hatteras is in the center of the new National Seashore Recreational Area which begins at Nags Head and extends southward to Ocracoke Inlet.

200 Schools to Compete in Handicraft Work

Classroom handicraft projects of more than 200 Virginia secondary school students will be among those competing for $45,000 in prizes in the forthcoming 1954 Industrial Arts Awards national finals, according to Chester R. Lane, of Martinsville, Virginia state IAA advisory council member.

Students, who represent more than a dozen junior and senior high schools throughout the state, will have entries in all 14 divisions of the competition. Lane said.

Judging of the more than 5,000 entries in the annual competition sponsored by Ford Motor Company will take place July 14-16 in Dearborn, Mich. Winners will be announced August 16.

Cash prizes will be awarded in more than 700 classifications, including 30 for outstanding achievement. In addition to individual awards of $100, these winners will receive a three-day tour of Dearborn with their instructors as guests of Ford Motor Company.

Ennard, Jr. of Richmond, Va., on "Flower Show Practice." Mrs. Benjamin L. Smith of Greensboro, N. C. will speak on the "Elements of Flower Arrangement."

The two days of lectures will be followed by examinations. The Reading examination will be given on Friday.

370 Deaths On Highways Predicted

A total of 370 Americans will die in highway accidents during the coming three-day July Fourth weekend, according to a prediction released today by the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies.

The Association's estimate, based upon "a conservative expansion of the accident rates of three-day Independence Day holidays in the past," breaks down the fatal accidents into six principal categories.

Speeding is expected to kill 123 persons; excessive use of alcohol will account for 82 more both motorists and pedestrians; failure to keep to the right of the centerline 37 deaths; failure to yield the right-of-way, 26 deaths; over-fatigued drivers or drivers actually asleep at the wheel, 23 deaths; miscellaneous causes, 79 deaths.

In releasing the estimate, Thom-

The marriage of Miss May Henry Sadler, daughter of Mrs. Henry Sadler, of Tazewell, and the late Mr. Sadler, to Al Baum Midgett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Alfred Midgett, of Virginia Beach took place on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Tazewell Baptist Church, Tazewell. The Rev. Dr. George W. Sadler, of Richmond, uncle of the bride performed a candle-light ceremony assisted by the Rev. Dr. Orrie Bradshaw, pastor of the church. The church was decorated with magnolia blossoms. James H. Midgett, brother of the bridegroom sang several selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, William J. Wilson, of Fort Valley, Ga. She wore a wedding gown of chantilly lace and tulle over satin, long sleeves, fitted bodice and an overskirt applied with lace which formed a chapel train. IT'S Fun TO COOK!

By LUCILE CLARK

on Station WTAR-TV

Our early American forefathers made a great event of outdoor cookery. They were usually all day affairs, sometimes with political overtones. So you see we have inherited our love of cooking out of doors.

Frozen chicken is especially right for on-the-spot barbecuing in the backyard or at picnics. You can take along packages of frozen chicken and still be confident that two or three hours later you chicken will be still cold and fresh. In fact, it will be thawed just about enough for you to start cooking it.

You will find frozen chicken in cut-to-order-style - grill-ready and pan-ready just the way you like it best. You may choose split broilers, cut-up fryers or packages of your favorite individual parts. Any style will barbecue perfectly and here are some details to give you the necessary know-how - thanks to Sue Swanson's Kitchen and mine. Sue's Barbecued Chicken and mine. Sue's Barbecued Chicken.

rected (2) Let fire burn down to glowing beds of coals, no higher than 2- to 3 inches. Low even heat is essential to keep chicken from browning too fast.

(3) Place chicken on grill-skin side up - using long handled forks - or tongs. Brush chicken with spicy Barbecue sauce. Try not and pierce chicken - turn carefully every 5 minutes - so juices of chicken will not escape and become dry. Watch closely and cook slowly. Barbecuing time varies from 45 minutes to an hour - according to size of chicken. To test - cut into thickest part of drumstick with sharp knife and if no pinkness is visible close to bone it is done. Remove from fire and brush again with sauce.

STRAIGHT from the SHOULDER...

... Fashion - that is

By ALICE BREWER WHITE
FASHION and WOMAN'S EDITOR

Tune in to Radio Station WAVY - 1350 on your dial - for the latest fashion news, interesting items about people, places, stuff and things, by Alice Brewer White, each day, Monday through Saturday, 9:00 to 9:30 A. M. - NBC in Tidewater.

EASED FALL FASHION - The New York Fashion Group last week in New York, condensed, edited and presented American fashions to its members and guests at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and emphasized that one of the new values lady-shoppers may expect to find in new fashions is increased ease. That's good news! Without looking like straight jackets, the new coats will be slim. Suits will have comfortable jackets with some gently bloused and neatly belted. Knitted and jersey dresses will be plentiful and will become even more popular than they were last season and with many of them designed to wear for after-dinner events. And, of course, the ever-popular sweater will be even more so which will be good news for the girls who "simply can't live without my sweaters!"

SHIRTSWAIST LOOK - The ready-to-wear committee of the Fashion Group prophesied the shirtwaist and short-tail look all through the fashion line-up for Fall and Winter from sports clothes to glamorous evening fashions. A gayer note for these months than ever before was seen in the showing of so many bold, bold colors which were on everything. Again the details on the essentially simple clothes will be concentrated at the top, with lots of collars and sleeves with exciting new flairs for life.

CAUSULE DIOEST - Charles James, designer for Dressmaker Casuals, introduced a new coat silhouette with the waistline sky high - above bosom height, if you please! ... Pauline Trigere has brought out the most luxurious idea: a stunning, sleepless theater coat over a mink-sleeved white satin dress! ... Virginia's own Jane Derby has cut some of her cocktail dresses like glorified trench coats, one especially lovely one was in pale blue satin and looked very much like a get-up an exotic Lady spy would select! ... Vera Maxwell looked of the loves and times of George Sand for her inspiration in one of her series of costumes for Fall when she introduced a fitted riding jacket over matching tweed slacks which is an interesting development in country clothes surely! ... Brigance showed some spectator skiver which was startling when one outfit of red fleece pants under a tweed jacket was modeled for the Fashion Group gals! ... Carolyn Schnur has brought out old-fashioned overalls in velveteen, for casual wear! ... Greta Platty's plaid wits with a pleated-sleeve shirt was a knockout, too! Many three-part tweeds looked important and were because of their new easy fit with the tweeds satin trimmed! Chic evening wools will be good for later hours come the winter months, especially those in plaids and a red wool evening dress, simply designed and with not a lick of trimming, designed by Gal anos of California, topped the list of after-dinner formals.

THE RETURN OF THE MIDDY - The midday shirt is again making fashion news, according to the Younger Sets throughout the country. It has returned to the fashion scene in a wide variety of new styles: striped, buttoned, laced, tightly-fitted or loosely cut, casually styled or daintily trimmed. They all add a fresh fashion note to grandma's school blouse. Partner the midday with devilish slit-to-the-knee pedal pushers for an exciting new look for the rest of the summer. For instance, royal-blue stripes paired across a midday with a long torso-line. Neckline is slashed high in a batwing and the sleeves are loose to the wrist. Another midday, cut along easy lines, has a laced V-neckline filled in with a red and white striped, knitted cotton neckpiece. A drawing ties in a small bow at its elasticized hemline. Another way for midday to look is like half of a feminine version of a sailor's suit. The white shirt is collared and cuffed in bright blue, ties with a drawing at the hemline for that flattering blouse effect. Small buttons two-step down the front of a midday in bright blue and white cotton which is a Very Important Fashion. Middy-lovers please note the June Seventeen magazine for details. It has a wonderful layout which will get you doubly enthused for this casual fashion that is SOOO Young!

NECKLINES MAKE NEWS IN SUMMER COTTONS - Although Fall fashions are showing an emphasis on collars, still the collar emphasis is still very important in the summer fashion trend right now. Puritan collars and wonderfully wide, squared collars top snug bodices that dissolve into voluminous skirts. A puritan collar lends a delightful air to a harem-style, full-skirted dress of white novelty cotton pique, for example. Collar edging and tiny buttons on a double-breasted bodice of a lively orange color with a full - blooming with its own crinoline, is one of the cute teen fashions or junior size that is different. Dresses of this type in orange, blue or old gold cloth, with belts of frosty leather, are being seen at Beach parties.

SPICEY SPORTWEAR FOR THE GALS - For spice in summer sportswear, choose brightly-colored, bold striped separates. A sharp yellow, black and white striped poncho top mated with a pair of black Bermuda shorts, edged in the same striped fabric, was viewed at the Cavalier Beach Club last week and added a sure-fire spicy bit for conversation!

MERRY MATRONS

Mrs. Harrison Williams, the Duchess of Windsor, the Duke of Windsor, Christian Dior, Balenciaga, Greta Garbo, the Queen Mother Elizabeth and her Royal Family will be discussed by the famous author, designer and photographer Cecil Beaton over WAVY at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning when his tape-recorded interview with your Allabee will be repeated for the benefit of the ladies in Tidewater and Princess Anne who did not hear the original playing of this fabulous interview. Cecil Beaton advocates a woman being individual. He thinks it has only been the people, down through the fashion history days, who have been laughed at or talked about for their originality that have really contributed to the fashion picture. Don't miss his advice on this as well as his sly comments on being a best dressed woman.

EASY DOES IT
Looking for Cool, smooth ideas to make mealtimes a delight? You'll like these suggestions: Pinkie appetizers can be tempted with a salad platter which offers variety. Into large lettuce cups on a large platter place the following: Seasoned cottage cheese melon balls, fresh berries, unstemmed dark cherries, punks stuffed with pineapples chunks and peach slices.

Crisp waffles are a wonderful brunch or supper idea. To serve over them combine 1-2 cup each honey and table cream with 2 tablespoons butter and cook over low heat about 10 minutes. Serve hot.

If your husband brings home fish from his catch serve baked or fried fish with this delectable cool sauce: combine a cup of sour cream with the juice of half a lemon, a quarter cup of prepared horseradish and 1-2 teaspoon salt. A favorite "whole meal" salad takes a half cantaloupe filled with sliced bananas, pineapple, berries and seeded, halved grapes.

Garden peas are delightful when teamed with slivered almonds and melted butter after they're cooked. Add boiled potatoes and broiled lamb chops and you have a perfect menu even if company comes.

Spicy Chicken Sandwiches Makes 12)

NOTES FOR HOMEMAKERS

By Mrs. Elizabeth Deal

Steps Against Mildew

A good time to get set against mildew damage in your home is before hot, humid "mildew weather" arrives. Mildew that causes mildew thrive in damp, warm, poorly ventilated and poorly lighted places. They grow on anything from which they can get food - cotton, linen, silk, wool, leather, paper or wood, for example, often getting a start on dust or other soil. They decay wood and discolor fabrics and leather. If left to grow, they may eat into fabrics, rot and ruin them.

To prevent mildew, make sure that clothes or household goods are clean and dry when stored for the summer and then are put in a clean, dry place. For example, when storing winter clothes and blankets, make sure they are both clean and dry before they go into tight containers, and then put the container in a dry place. Otherwise, mildew may cause damage. Though the prevention may seem dry, it's hazardous for summer storage because condensation in muggy weather causes dampness. Automatic dehumidifying appliances are being widely used today, especially in basements. Electric fans, chemicals that absorb moisture, and keeping an electric bulb burning in small closets also are helpful against mildew.

Freezing and Tenderness Of Meat

Does freezing make meat more tender? This question comes frequently to the Home Demonstration Agent from those who have home freezers or rent freezer lockers.

The answer - according to R. E. Hiner, meat research specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and based on his studies - is: Generally yes. But he found that freezing makes some cuts and some types of meat more tender than others. He also found that the lower the temperature, the greater the tenderizing effect. At zero F. to 10 below zero - that is, the temperature of most freezing compartments in home freezers or good lockers, there was considerably more tenderizing than at 20 degrees F. - the temperature of meat-storage containers in the usual home refrigerators. Dr. Hiner believes the tenderizing effect is largely mechanical. He explains that as ice crystals form in the meat, the fibers swell and break and the connective tissues stretch and break.

In his study of the effect of freezing on a variety of representative cuts of beef animals of different ages, Dr. Hiner found that the meat made most tender by freezing was young beef from animals 15 months old that

UN Hints That 'Purdah' Should Be Abandoned

A United Nations mission hinted diplomatically to Pakistan recently that its women should be unveiled. A labor report, six months in the making, notes that there is nothing in the Moslem religion requiring women to live in Purdah. Whether Pakistan would let its women by law, such as was done in Turkey, or by a slower process, the U. N. reports it as much as to Pakistan that women in that country will never be able to take their part in normal community life under the Purdah system.

It noted that reaction to this system had already freed many women in the upper-income brackets from the custom of remaining veiled, and that, in the lower-income brackets, women often were forced to work to help support the family and thus were freed from the custom. But it noted, a majority of middle-class women in Pakistan are still kept in strict Purdah, with little opportunity to meet and contact people outside their homes.

The archaic unfairness of such a system is hard for American citizens to imagine, and if United Nations study groups can succeed in pointing out backward conditions such as this to member nations of the U. N., then the organization will be making considerable progress. Another hint to Pakistan, made by the United Nations' International Labor Organization, which studied labor conditions in Pakistan for the six-month period noted above, concerned compulsory primary education. It is now the custom in that country to send only boys to school, when facilities are available, or where parents can afford it. Few women are therefore qualified for top jobs. The U. N. urges compulsory law, just as most of the education law, just as most of the world's advanced countries have long ago done. In this sort of thing, the U. N. is doing a good job.

Rubber articles that are part cloth need a storage space that's dry, as well as cool and dark to keep the cloth from mildewing.

Why are they? Nutritionists at VPI explain that many of the tenderizers now on the market have papaya as a base. The papaya is a tropical fruit that grows in Florida, Texas, and Hawaii. It looks a little like a melon, has a thin smooth skin and is green when immature, coloring to yellow and orange when ripe.

The tenderizing quality of papaya is its ability to digest proteins. This is done chiefly by an enzyme in the papaya called papain. Papain is found in the green fruit as well as in the leaves, stem and roots of the plant. Ripe papaya are not used in tenderizers because the enzyme disappears as the fruit ripens. Ripe papayas are eaten as a fruit in the areas where they grow, but are practically unknown elsewhere.

FOUR DECADES BRING MANY CHANGES TO FT. STORY

Famous Landmarks on Site of Army's Training Command

Almost four decades since Fort Story assumed its present name on Army installation have brought sweeping changes to both the post and its nearest neighbor, Virginia Beach.

The fort, site of two famous historical landmarks — the old Cape Henry Light (1791) and the Cape Henry Cross marking the landing of the Jamestown settlers in 1607 — was named for Maj. John Patten Story in July 1916. Its third landmark, the towering black-and-white Cape Henry Lighthouse in use today, dates from 1881.

Years of growth and development have brought the attractive homes and gardens of North Virginia Beach right up to Fort Story's east gate. During World War II the post also expanded to its present 1394 acres. Formerly completely surrounded on the land side by Seashore State Park, it gained about 700 acres of the park area by government acqui-

DUKWS — amphibious trucks — that gives the fort its salty atmosphere. These water-going carriers are no novelty to Va Beach residents. A parade up Atlantic Avenue or a celebration such as the Sand Festival wouldn't be complete without a number of the sleek vehicles, manned by jaunty crews, to demonstrate their versatility on the beach or in the surf.

Fort Story's current "new look" — it was chosen as the site of the first Nike supersonic guided missile installation to protect the Tide-accommodated almost 13,500 patients from September 1944 to March 1946. In that year the first Transportation Corps unit, the 458th DUKW Company, moved in, foreshadowing the post's future mission as a TC installation for amphibious training which became official in July 1948.

The Army's "big brother" to the DUKW, the experimental 90-ton BARC, also has its home at Fort Story today. Three of the four existing giant carriers are based there now, and the fourth will arrive soon from the West Coast. In addition, the post also embraces a Navy unit, the Harbor Entrance Control Post; the Headquarters Batteries of the 38th and 550th AAA Battalions; the U. S. Treasury Department which operates the Cape Henry Light, and the U. S. Weather Bureau station.

Visitors to Fort Story often are struck by the variety of terrain and flora within the relatively small limits of the reservation. The white beaches extend into

The Army's Fort Story is 38 years old this month as a Federal fort and these pictures taken recently are typical of the activities of the historic Federal installation. The commanding officer of Fort Story, Colonel Guy D. Thompson, is shown in the upper left hand corner, and the Fort's executive officer, Lt. Col. Herbert A. Ziegler, is shown in the lower right hand corner. The center picture is a view of the "new" lighthouse taken from within the crew's nest of the "old" lighthouse. (All pictures are U. S. Army photographs.)

Today Fort Story's broad, gleaming dunes and beaches accommodate the Army's Transportation Amphibious Training Center, a major command of Fort Eustis and the Transportation Training Command. For the past year the post and TATC have been commanded by Col. Guy D. Thompson, a veteran Cavalry officer who has served since 1917 almost as long as Fort Story has been so designated.

Assisting Colonel Thompson in running TATC are Lt. Col. Herbert A. Ziegler, executive officer, and Lt. Col. Laughton A. Foss, who commands the largest unit on the post, the 54th Transportation Battalion.

Although Fort Story is the home of other military units, it is the 54th Battalion with its "fleet" of water area from air attack — is another reason for County residents to be heartily thankful for the Cape Henry post. Actually, the Nike, for which the J. R. Houska company of Norfolk is now doing construction work, will be only an atom-age reversion to Fort Story's original mission, the defense of the entrance to Chesapeake Bay. When it was a Coast Artillery post it boasted the heaviest armament of any fort on the Atlantic shore, but its big cannons have all been dismantled.

Toward the end of World War II, Fort Story was the site of an Army Convalescent Hospital which grassy dunes dotted with clumps of wind-whipped scrub. Farther inland are rolling pine groves that give way to bleak, Sahara-like banks of sand. Finally there is a pocket-sized forest primal — the impassable cypress swamp bordering Route 60, a gloomy morass of rotting stumps, luxuriant vegetation and water snakes. In contrast to all of these is the im-

Chrysler Sees Sales Upswing

A general business upswing with a marked increase in interested prospects is reported by a group of Chrysler sales executives who have completed a series of meetings held in 16 major metropolitan U. S. markets, reports E. M. Braden, general sales manager, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

Members of the group held meetings with Chrysler metropolitan dealer groups with a total membership of over 1,000 dealers to present Chrysler sales and merchandising plans for the remainder of 1954 and to learn at first hand from the dealers the problems currently encountered at the retail level.

"Generally speaking we found that dealers feel that all business is improving and that sales will tend to be better than was anticipated a few months ago," Braden said.

"Part of this optimism was verified for us last week when we experienced the second biggest order day Chrysler Division has had during the 1954 model run with 1,700 orders coming in from dealers in an eight-hour period."

Braden credited Chrysler's increased business to several factors. He said that Chrysler sales executives and Chrysler dealers are now geared to the type of hard selling necessary to keep the production lines running.

He said that Chrysler dealers are doing an outstanding job of penetration in the higher price market with Chrysler sales of V-8's at the highest percentage in the Division's history.

"Dealers tell us that people are coming into their show rooms in greater numbers and buying immediately — if they meet a really good salesman," Braden said. "We know that the buyer is meeting well-equipped salesmen more often now because our dealers have been using the sales training material furnished by the factory to build up the skill and morale of the salesmen already working for them as well as for the new recruits."

Braden said that Chrysler has been engaged in an intensive sales organization building program during the past year in addition to stepping up promotional activity. Among the activities have been two dealer sales contests, salesmen's contests, national dealer meeting in Detroit outlining Chrysler's forward policy, a demonstration ride program, which brought all dealers into contact with E. C. Quinn, Chrysler Division president, plus last week's dedication of the Chrysler proving grounds which was attended by newsmen from all over the U. S.

Norfolk-Virginia Beach Soroptimist Club as delegates in Banff, Lake Louise.

At the Soroptimist dinner meeting held at the Princess Anne Club last Tuesday: Bertha Lee Temple, inducted into the office of president, wearing a divine, form-fitting, level-sparked linen dress; Mrs. Horace Wolf, outgoing proxy, with her broken wrist still wrapped in a huge bandage, stunning in navy linen; Mrs. Hurley Harrell, very statuesque in a black sheath covered with heavy white cotton lace; Blair Seyward looking cool and elegant in a baby-blue voile dress with tiny flowered-hat of the same shade; Alberta Johnson, a Beachite who really takes her sunbathing seriously, with a brand new short hair cut; "Trudy" Riganto in an off-the-shoulder linen dress and wearing candleabra earrings that would make Liberace jealous sube nuts!

Mrs. Lroy Ober, speaker for the Soroptimist event, is "a dream girl" whenever you are in her audience to speak. She is not only a very moving and informative speaker, in a quiet lady-like manner, but she dresses the part and is so lovely to look at that it all adds up to most pleasant experience whenever you are in her audience. Her devoted hubby never took his eyes off of her during her talk and later said that "it is always a pleasure to listen to my wife speak" in such a sincere manner that you know these two happy people must have much in common to give them a Happy Life.

Artmobile, Here For Ten Days Beginning Wednesday, Said to be First "Museum on Wheels" in Country

Will Locate at 24th & Ocean

When the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts Artmobile arrives on July 13, Virginia Beach will see the first such rolling museum in the country. To be located at 24th Street and Oceanfront, the Artmobile will remain in Virginia Beach from July 14 through July 28, according to Mrs. David Y. Malbon, chairman of the Artmobile visit and fine arts chairman of the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County.

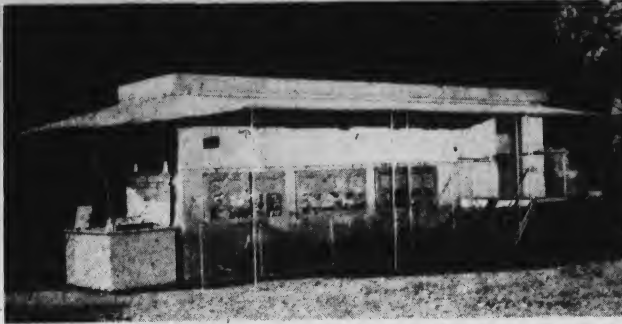

Closed up and traveling along Virginia's highways, the Artmobile is a shining silver trailer. Provided by Miller and Rhoads, the Richmond department store, and built by the Fruehauf Trailer Company, the Artmobile with cab included measures 45 feet long, 8 feet wide and 12 feet 6 inches high. The cab was built by Chevrolet and provided by Mr. John Lee Pratt, a Trustee of the Virginia Museum.

Folded against the exterior sides of the trailer are the aluminum sections which drop down to cover the wheels and hinge out to provide a shelter for visitors waiting to enter the Artmobile. Underneath the trailer, attached to its "belly" is a storage box where electric cable, a dismantled information booth, and stairways neatly fit into place. A museum by day and a storage room by night, the inside of the Artmobile has space for 18 fluorescent lighting fixtures, the illustrated information panels which go on the exterior walls, ladders, miscellaneous tools and equipment as well as catalogues and other material. Careful planning has so stipulated that the Artmobile shall, with the aid of only two helpers, the Driver-Curator, be able to set it up entirely on its own. A three-hour operation, the Driver-Curator will, after the shelter panels are attached to the staircases, an removes the stored information panels which slip into place on the sides of the exterior. He then sets up the information booth at the rear of the Artmobile, makes the necessary electric connection, and is ready for visitors.

During regular operating hours, the Artmobile greets the visitors as they approach the Artmobile. The classical music, amplified by a loud speaker, is played on a special recording machine and is hung by four loose-pin hinges. One side of the hinge is attached to the back of the frame, the other to the wall with a locking pin joining the two halves.

Fire protection, installed by Walter Kilde and Company, is provided by an automatic extinguishing system, harmless to the paintings. Year round air-conditioning and humidity control help preserve the paintings and assure comfortable temperatures in both winter and summer. Trailer and tractor are wired throughout with a network of electrical contacts which set off sirens if the Artmobile is touched when closed up.

In addition to recorded music outside, explanatory recordings prepared by the Museum's education department are played while visitors are within the Artmobile. These recordings, one geared to an adult, the other to a Junior Museum staff, and the Artmobile will begin another state-wide tour. A product of generosity and hard work on the part of many civic-minded groups and individuals & the staff of the Virginia Museum, the Artmobile is genuinely a "Museum on wheels."

Pond Building At Good Pace

The program of pond construction in areas where fishing opportunities are lacking has progressed nicely. After completion of a magnificent pond in Mecklenburg, the Commission enlarged the scope of this program and set out to create eight new bodies of public fishing water. Two of these have been completed, a pond in Halifax and one in Pittsylvania.

Work is progressing satisfactorily on a pond in Brunswick and another in Fauquier. A pond is shortly to be acquired in Powhatan, which is in reality two ponds classed as one. There is hope for final clearance for starting work on a pond in Chesterfield, another in Scott County, and still another in Fluvanna.

Quiet Marks Next Tuesday's City Election

City Sergeant H. E. Halstead will be opposed by two men in next Tuesday's election when the voters of Virginia Beach go to the polls to vote for a candidate for the office of city sergeant.

Normally the offices of city treasurer and commissioner of the revenue would be voted on, but this year the two incumbents, Lewis E. Smith and E. W. Smith, are unopposed.

Halstead's opposition comes from two anti-organization candidates, Clarence Hayman and Guy Barnes. Early in the campaign there were rumors that one of the anti candidates would step aside in favor of the other, but this has not developed.

All three candidates have conducted comparatively quiet campaigns. Halstead, with solid backing of the city organization, has gone about the job of seeking reelection with confidence that the voters approve of his efforts as city sergeant.

Hayman and Barnes have done little in the way of campaigning. Both have expressed confidence that they will be elected on Tuesday.

Polls will be open as usual from sun up to sundown. Precinct One voting place is the city first station and Precinct Two is at 3106 Pacific Avenue.

Club Operators Receive Fines on "Guilty" Plea

Operators of the swank Links Club in Linkhorn Park pleaded guilty Tuesday night to operating a gambling establishment and operating a "red" and "black" and each given a 60-day suspended sentence before the assistant Police Justices.

Karl Andrews and F. D. "Spot" Ferguson appeared before the assistant justice before court opened Tuesday night and paid the fines.

Charles E. Coe, a doorman at the Links Club, swank night spot in the Linkhorn Park area, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and given a 30-day suspended sentence. Coe was not arrested the night of the raid but was apprehended by police on Sunday.

Hayman said he had dismissed charges of aiding and abetting against Forrest D. Whitaker, of Aberdeen, N. C.; Joe Gorman, of Troy, N. Y.; Crayton Bullock of Virginia Beach, and Arthur F. Burke, of Miami, Fla., because "what evidence the police had was not sufficient to justify the charge." The raiding officers were complaining witnesses on the warrants.

Twenty-three patrons of the establishment picked up at the time of the raid also were dismissed for the same reason - not enough evidence. None of the cases were called in Police Court, where they were scheduled for hearing last night. Hayman said he made his decision before court, with no witnesses other than three of the raiding officers. He said that $429 seized at the Links Club at the time of the raid was ordered confiscated, and that (Continued on Page Six)

Weekend of 4th One of Happiest Ever at Beach

Virginia Beach enjoyed one of its most successful and one of its latest Fourth of July holiday weekends last week, according to reports from businessmen and records of the local police department.

Although the Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Rescue Squad answered a record number of calls during the three-day holiday period, there were no fatalities due to accidents.

The volunteer rescue squad answered a total of 28 calls during the period ranging from sunstrokes to heart attacks, the latter being of natural causes.

Business was brisk all over the Beach and hotels and restaurants reported very good business over the holiday weekend. All hotel and night accommodations were filled both Saturday and Sunday and indications are that the first business picture will continue through the month of July.

Hotel reservations have been reported a "extremely good" for all of July and most of August, with the heaviest month Virginia Beach experiences in the summer resort season.

The Virginia Beach Police Department set a record also over the weekend. It made fewer arrests and was less active than during any previous Fourth of July celebration.

Much Interest Being Shown in CHS Fund Drive

People in Princess Anne County are showing much interest in the 1954 campaign for funds for the Children's Home Society of Virginia, according to Mrs. Floyd M. Dormire, of Virginia Beach, the drive chairman for Princess Anne County.

"While contributions have not started to come in any great numbers," Mrs. Dormire said, she has found a warm interest in the program and anticipates an excellent report for this section when the results of the drive are announced.

The Honorable John A. Hannah, assistant secretary of defense for manpower and personnel, Washington, D. C., and Roscoe Drummond, Washington bureau chief for the New York Herald Tribune, have been named the two evening speakers for the Institute of Rural Affairs at VPI, July 27-30.

Hannah's speech is scheduled for opening sessions Tuesday night, July 27, Drummond's for Wednesday night, July 28.

Wednesday morning, three sections are scheduled. Speakers for one section will include Frank L. Teuton, Agricultural Research Services, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., on "New Uses for Farm Products," and Miss Gayle Ueland, marketing economist, USDA Extension Service, Washington.

In another section, the centennial celebration of professional entomology will be given top billing, with M. P. Jones, entomologist, USDA Extension Service, and Dr. J. O. Howell, VPI entomologist, as speakers.

Departmental programs are scheduled for Wednesday afternoon in dairy products, dairy husbandry, animal husbandry and agronomy, fruit, ornamental horticulture, plant pathology and physiology, and rural health and medical care.

Dr. A. Powell Davies, minister, All Souls Church, Washington, D. C., will be the principal speaker at one section Thursday morning, featuring a thorough discussion of (Continued on Page Six)

Many distinguished military and civilian guests have been invited.

Largest and most important new facility is the Enlisted Recreation Center. It includes a gymnasium, six bowling alleys, a snack bar, Navy Exchange retail store, library, barber shop and other service features. Heretofore the station's recreation and Navy Exchange activities have been housed in over-age and overcrowded temporary war time structures. Lack of a gymnasium has prevented Dam Neck's would-be athletes from making their mark in service basketball circles. Recognizing the importance of leisure time relaxation for men who train hard all day, Captain Crist ordered the dedication ceremony held in the gymnasium.

Next in importance of the new buildings is a 68-officer Bachelor Officers' Quarters, located just behind the beach dunes of Dam Neck's famous Atlantic Ocean beach. Formerly station Bachelor officers were billeted in upper rooms of an old Life Saving Service Station while transient officers lived in a section of the enlisted barracks. The new building is a handsome small snack bar, a hand-somely appointed lounge facing the ocean boasts a striking floor-to-ceiling marine panorama viewed through glass doors.

Dispensary The Dispensary doing dedicated is likewise the first made-for-the purpose building of its kind at Dam Neck. Buildings were previously administered in makeshift barracks spaces located along the heavy anti-aircraft batteries. Examinations and treatments were often interrupted when lightning, fixtures, patient and doctor rocked to the concussion of the spruced mock battle outside. Both Medical and Dental Departments, and their clientele, are pleased that the new dispensary is a third of a mile from the front lines.

Located at the Main Gate, the new Security Building and its facilities, the Gate House, replaced a six-by-six skid-mounted clipboard booth in which the growing station's gate sentries stood their watches for three years. Former Dam Neck water station as well as the present station company will have the gratified to learn that a heating plant is included to moderate the effects of Atlantic gales which frequently caused frosted hands and toes.

Baracks Completion of the new barracks wings was delayed by material shortages, and that structure will not be occupied for several weeks after the ceremony. The new wings will add capacity for 112 men to the station's existing six permanent wings, completed in 1949.

All the buildings to be dedicated were built under a single contract by the McCoy-Heldman Co. of Greenville, South Carolina. Architect-engineers were Clark & Buhr of Norfolk. Design supervision and construction inspection were the responsibility of the 8th Naval District Public Works Office.

Navy men expect to be seeing more of similar substantial modern structures, for these functional easy-to-maintain buildings have won service-wide favor, and with minor modifications are accepted as prototypes for future Navy construction.

TIPPING THE CHAPEAU

Surrounded by a white picket fence and with many of the prizes, gladiators and stars of the selection of the Council of Garden Clubs at the home of the week, Mr. and Mrs. Jaffe have been working towards improving the beauty of their selection. Their plot is located directly on the Ocean Front, at the foot of Cavalier Drive. The program, has been placed on a temporary basis to improve the entire appearance of the beach. Contributions from the Ocean Front, Mr. and Mrs. Jaffe are doing their part in beautifying Virginia Beach.

Gubernatorial Appointments Cover Wide Range; Woman on Conservation Board

Governor Stanley has announced appointments to Boards of Directors of two Turnpike Authorities created by the 1954 General Assembly and named a new member of the State Highway Commission.

Appointed to the Old Dominion Turnpike Authority, the agency authorized to build a 75-mile toll highway across Southwest Virginia from the West Virginia line to the North Carolina line, were: E. Dewey Coburn of Narrows, Dr. George B. Kogley of Bland, Warren Giersch of Galax, Sam D. May of Tazewell, a member of the Highway Commission, O. H. Mayberry of Pulaski, J. W. Stanley, Jr. of Carroll, E. A. Sale of Martinsville, H. Lee Turpin of Wytheville, M. F. Woltz of Salem.

Appointed to the Richmond-Petersburg Turnpike Authority were: William E. Wood of Richmond, Albert Suttle of Petersburg, T. Merrill Winfree of Colonial Heights, Hardin K. Bache, Jr., of Henrico, G. Lumsford Buttrick of Dinwiddie, Douglas W. Murphy of Chesterfield, and Sol W. Rawls of Franklin, member of the Highway Commission.

In both instances, the Governor established the policy of not appointing elected officials to the Board of Directors. The appointments included one member of the Highway Commission on each board. These are the first toll road authorities in Virginia. The Richmond-Petersburg road is planned to relieve a severe metropolitan bottleneck in eastern Virginia, and the Southwest turnpike would connect up with the West Virginia turnpike at a proposed interstate route running from Florida north.

Former State Senator Wm. A. Wright of Tappahannock who also formerly headed the State Department of Conservation and Development, was named to the Highway Commission to succeed George F. DeHart of Gloucester, who asked not to be considered for reappointment. General James A. Anderson, the Highway Commissioner, was reappointed, as was Howard C. Rogers of Loudoun, a member from the Culpeper District.

Three other Department heads were among 130 appointments made in the past few days. They are Jesse V. Dillon, State Treasurer, Miss Martha Conway, Secretary of the Commonwealth, and Harris Hart, State Personnel Director. All were reappointments.

Governor Stanley appointed the first woman member of the State Board of Conservation and Development, Mrs. James H. Adams, of Richmond, succeeding Rodney M. Coggins of Warsaw. Mrs. Adams is past president of the Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs. Reappointed to the Commission were Judge A. G. Lively of Lebanon and Victor Stewart of Petersburg.

New members appointed to the VPI Board of Visitors are Giles H. Miller of Culpeper, John S. Alford of Norfolk, Harry A. DeBatts of Upperville and Robert A. West of Covington. Capt. G. Alvin Massenburg of Hampton and John C. Parker of Franklin were reappointed.

Two new members were named to the VPI Board, G. L. Furr of Roanoke, and G. M. Read of Lynchburg. Reappointed were William H. Burruss of Lynchburg, Charles H. Reed of Chesterfield, and Oscar F. Smith, III, of Norfolk.

Major Samuel W. Dobyns of VMI was named as a new member of the State Board for the examination and certification of architects, Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors. He succeeded Edmond E. Fitzgerald of Gretna.

W. A. Collins of Bassett is a new member of the State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors, succeeding H. M. Purviance of Boykins. Joe Pete Gilliam of Dinwiddie was named to the Virginia Bright Flue-Cured Tobacco Commission to succeed Henry T. Coleman of Blackstone, and L. H. Kernode of Danville was appointed to the Advisory Council on the Virginia Economy to succeed J. C. Holtzclaw of Richmond who resigned.

The State Board of Medical Examiners has two members, Dr. Snowden C. Hall of Danville and Dr. Henry Dodge of Richmond. John H. Elder of Brookneal was named to the Advisory Research Committee on School Construction, succeeding Leroy H. Smith of Roanoke, who recently died. G. Wallace Hook of Manassas was named to the State Board of Pharmacy to succeed D. D. Gray of Norfolk.

A new member of the State Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries is Isaac T. Walke, Jr., of Norfolk from the Second Congressional District, succeeding Charles D. Andrews of Suffolk.

Other reappointments included:

State Board of Accountancy — Samuel D. Baker, Jr. of Richmond. State Soil Conservation Committee — Delegate John H. Daniels of Charlotte C. H. and Wesley W. Naff of Franklin County. "Girl Can Tell" Next Attraction At Beach T-G-R

Lesley 'Savage' Theatre-Go-Round, presenting the world premiere of "Angel with the Big Ears" this week, will bring another comedy by F. Herbert, another comedy by F. Hugh Herbert, author of "The Moon Is Blue," to the tent on Sixty-seventh Street next Tuesday.

It is a comedy by Romeo Muller, director of Theatre-Go-Round, and Miss Savage plans to produce it on Broadway next Fall. It continues nightly through Sunday at 8:40.

Theatre-Go-Round patrons have every right to expect another special treat as their third attraction of the season. It is the sophisticated comedy, "A Girl Can Tell," written by the same man who wrote "The Moon Is Blue," which broke Theatre-Go-Round attendance records and turned away crowds for a week last Summer.

Herbert's new play, which had a successful run on Broadway last Winter, is the amusing story of a girl who seeks advice on her romantic problems from her mother and the piquant recollections of Mama's own early love life.

The play will run for six nights. Curtain time at Theatre-Go-Round is always 8:40 p. m., and reservations may be made by telephoning 2730.

TUESDAY'S PRIMARY

Tuesday's primary election for the office of city sergeant for the City of Virginia Beach should not present a problem to the voter in the selection of the best qualified man for the position. The present city sergeant, H. E. Halstead, on his past record in that office, easily qualifies as the best equipped of the three candidates seeking the job.

A letter appearing elsewhere on this page attests to the qualifications of City Sergeant Halstead for the position. The letter also points up the tremendous amount of time and energy this man has contributed to city problems in the past and without compensation.

Halstead served eight years as a city councilman for Virginia Beach and is generally credited with being one of the most conscientious and hardest working men ever to sit on the city council. Halstead has served as vice-chairman of the Virginia Beach Erosion Commission since its formation in 1952. He has always worked diligently in every position he has occupied.

Only recently it was Halstead who stepped into the beach to secure additional water for North Virginia Beach through his intervention and contact with the Federal Government and the United States Army.

In addition to the above, Halstead's office in the city government structure has been operated efficiently and has received praise from State officials. On his past record of public service without compensation and the experience he has gained as city sergeant or the past year and one-half he is the overwhelming choice next Tuesday.

ARTMOBILE VISIT

Next week Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County residents will have an opportunity to view the art exhibits on display in the Artmobile of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts. The Artmobile will be open to the public on July 15 and will remain here through July 29th. The novel and unusual display will be stationed at 24th street and the Oceanfront.

The Virginia Artmobile is the Nation's first statewide in-situation devoted to the visual arts and its creation has erased a problem that confronted Virginians for so long, the inability to visit the Museum in Richmond. The Artmobile brings the Museum, in part, to citizens all over the State.

Much planning and cooperation went into the Artmobile. Design plans had to be drawn up and the Fruehauf Trailer Company undertook the work of constructing the trailer-type vehicle.

Included among the countless number of priceless paintings in the collection on exhibit are 16th and 17th century Dutch and Flemish paintings loaned to the Museum by Walter P. Chrysler, Jr. Mr. Chrysler is a long time friend of the Museum and is a resident of Virginia. Operation expenses of the artmobile are being undertaken for one year by the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs.

The 16 paintings exhibited in the Artmobile are representative of Flanders and The Netherlands in their greatest moment of history.

Entitled "The Little Masters," the exhibition includes landscapes, seascapes, portraiture, religious and genre scenes. The 17th century was the "golden age" for Dutch painting as well as for Dutch commercial prosperity and political importance. It was the period of the great painters Rembrandt, Hals and Vermeer.

The Artmobile is something new in that it was officially inaugurated in a ceremony held in Fredericksburg on October 13, 1953. A preview tour continued until January 1, 1954. The Virginia Beach visit is one of many such visits to cities and towns in Virginia during this, the Artmobile's first regular circuit tour.

The Sun-News wishes to take this opportunity to congratulate the member clubs of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs in our area for making this visit of the Artmobile to Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County possible. We heartily recommend a visit to the Artmobile during its stay with us at 24th street and the Oceanfront.

MAURICE C. McKENNEY

Last week at the comparatively young age of forty-one this community and Tidewater area lost a most respected and loved citizen in the untimely passing of Maurice C. McKenney, who resided in Oceana, but who concerned himself with every good movement that might better the welfare of the entire area of Princess Anne County.

The loss of a person such as the late Maurice McKenney can never really be overcome for there are far too few persons with the genuine civic and charitable characteristics that this man so forcibly demonstrated during the short span of 41 years. His contribution to society and to the betterment of his community and area can be described as forceful, yet this man accomplished his deeds in a quiet, unassuming way and always with the thought of asking not of seeking recognition or credit for what he did. His actions were completely unselfish and genuine.

"Mac", as he was known by countless friends, was a religious man and a man who was always ready to work for his God and his church. He was active in all civic fund raising drives. His passing will be sorely felt and his family can be commended in some measure by the real sympathy felt by his many friends and acquaintances.

ARE YOU ONE OF THESE ?

ALERTING ALL VOTERS

Tuesday the voters of Virginia Beach will go to the polls to cast their ballot for one of three men for the office of city sergeant. The campaign for the nomination to this office in the Democratic primary Tuesday has been unusually calm and quiet, particularly so when it is compared with recent councilmanic election held in June.

It is well to call to the attention of the thinking voter, in the face of the comparatively quiet campaign, the known tactics heretofore employed by the anti-organization forces on the eve of an election. We are recalling these tactics since it is extremely likely the anti group will reply on these methods to confuse the voter.

Assuming that the anti forces run true to form in the election practices, we may see again more false allegations; probably false lawsuits against officials to try to embarrass them, and false promises to the electorate on the eve of the election. The allegations and suits are usually timed so that the "victims" do not have an opportunity to even be heard prior to the election.

It is well to beware of these tactics and be on the lookout for their use. While it is an assumption at this time we feel it our duty to call the possibility to the attention of our readers so that they will not be misled in voting for the right man next Tuesday.

A LOGICAL STEP

The decision of the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors made recently to make a study of the properties owned by the City of Norfolk and located in the county with a view to a possible increase in the amount of tax paid thereon is a sound approach, we feel, and one that comes in the logical, orderly growth of an area.

The most lucrative property owned by the City of Norfolk that is located in Princess Anne County is the city's water supply facilities. Last year the City of Norfolk paid $9,120 in taxes to the county on this property.

This property, as well as other city holdings in the county, has not been assessed since 1940, a span of 14 years. It is logical to assume that the property, during that period, has enhanced in value along with all property in the area. It's assessed value made in 1940 should certainly be reviewed at this time. It would seem that the Board of Supervisors are on sound ground in seeking a study of the city's property.

The City of Norfolk receives a good price for the water that the county buy from the city and the improvements and growth of the business volume on this property alone would indicate that it would be somewhat more valuable in 1954 than it was in 1940.

A Norfolk newspaper recently pointed out in an editorial that any assessment of the city's water supply properties for taxation in the counties in which they are located must be based upon the profits from the proportion of the water that is sold beyond the city's limits. Most of Norfolk's properties other than the water supply properties are not profit-making, and therefore are exempt from county taxation.

The editorial went on to say that Princess Anne County should not make unreasonable tax demands on the City of Norfolk. If, by law, the amount of taxation on such property is regulated it seems illogical that the county would make any unreasonable demands of the city. Certainly, we feel that the Board of Supervisors are employing the proper approach to the question and that their desire is, first, to make a study of the Norfolk properties, and secondly, if that study should reveal an inequity in the amount of assessment placed on the property, to read, just the valuation to meet 1954 standards.

The Editor's Mail Box

(The following letter came to the attention of the Editor of the Sun-News and permission was obtained from the writer to publish it in this week's edition of this newspaper. The letter was written and mailed to a list of persons selected by the writer. The letter is published for the information of Sun-News readers.)

July 7, 1954

Dear John Doe: Knowing you to be a thinking person and desirous of achieving good government, I would like to present a few of the reasons why I believe Mr. H. E. Halstead is the best qualified man for the office of City Sergeant.

1. He has proven his ability to handle the office during the past year and a half.

2. He served as Town Councilman for eight years, and spent most of his time at Town Hall.

3. As Chairman of the Police and Fire Committee, he acquired a good background for his present office as City Sergeant.

4. You always know where he stands on an issue, and he is always ready to give you his reason.

5. He is a big man in that even though you differ with him, he is willing to concede your right to your opinion.

6. If he makes you a promise, you can count on it. He will keep it.

7. Anything called to his attention is taken care of immediately. He seems to know who to contact, and have enough authority to get it done.

8. If he thinks he can help you in any way - let necessarily in city affairs - you don't even have to ask him. If he happens to know about it, he will offer to help.

9. He works well with other people. He has served on more committees than I can remember, and their work has always been successful.

10. He has a remarkable memory and a wealth of information on our city affairs which he is always willing to share.

11. He makes a very effective appeal in behalf of our city. While in Washington, on a personal matter, I found our Congressmen very anxious to discuss our beach erosion problem. Apparently Mr. Halstead, who had been to Washington the week before, did a good selling job again. The results to date speak for themselves. I was present at the hearing for the removal of the railroad tracks on Pacific Ave. He made a very effective appeal that day. The results speak for themselves again.

12. His personal contacts are invaluable to the city. I am sure we have all read about how he handled the water situation with the Federal Government about a week ago.

I want to make it clear that I am not trying to tell you how to vote. I just wish to call Mr. Halstead's qualifications to your attention in order that you might evaluate them in making your own decision.

God bless you and our city with good government.

Sincerely,
 Mrs. Frank W. Klepper

Defense Demands Limited Cuts In Appropriations

Congress passed all ten of the major departmental appropriation bills for the 1955 fiscal year before that year began on July 1 and thus paved the way for an early adjournment.

Those interested in the Federal economy can take comfort from the fact that the total amount of money appropriated in these bills was approximately five and a half billion dollars less than was appropriated in the same bills last year and approximately one and a half billion dollars less than the President's budget recommendations for the coming year.

Those more pessimistically inclined will point out, however, that where we ended the 1954 fiscal year last week with a deficit of around $3.3 billion, the Treasury is estimating that the deficit at the end of this year will be closer to four billion. That is because the reductions in spending authorized have been more than matched by tax cuts that will reduce the Government's revenue collections.

Early this year I predicted, in one of these columns, that our ability to balance the Federal budget next year would depend largely on the international situation and that unless conditions improved quickly such a balance would be impossible. Such a large percentage of Federal spending in recent years has been for security purposes that it is difficult to make a real showing in budget cutting without reducing defense funds and that obviously cannot be done to any extent while we face the imminent threat of another world war.

The 1955 appropriation for the Department of Defense was $34.3 billion and we reduced that this year to $28.8 billion, which was around one billion less than the President had asked. That, I felt, was as far as we could prudently go at this time and we all regret that if conditions in Latin America, East Asia or in other areas where the Communists are fomenting trouble, become more critical it will be necessary to make a supplemental appropriation before this fiscal year is over.

Just as we are saving on our intended savings on defense, we are saving on our pay for our security. The Mutual Security appropriation, for which the President asked $3.5 billion as compared with $4.5 billion appropriated last year, is a case in point.

Considering the large carry over I am inclined to think that we can make a substantial cut in the new budget. That would mean doing away with most economic aid, for which I believe the time has passed, and I also feel that we should limit our military aid to those nations which clearly demonstrate their willingness to co-operate with us and with each other in holding the line against totalitarian aggression.

DALE CARNEGIE

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

Stanley W. Call, 10 Vanderbilt Drive, Lake Success, New York, and his wife were sitting in the lounge of their new home in South Africa listening to the British Broadcasting Company news from London. The voice over the radio announced that the British Government had devalued the Sterling Pound and tomorrow the exchange rate will be $2.80 per pound instead of the present rate of $4.00 per pound.

The walls began to close in on Stanley Call. He had four thousand United States dollars invested in his home and his investment had depreciated to $2,800. A loss of $1,200, all because of the action of the British government.

The catastrophe started the worry bugs to working on him. He found that as the days went by he became more distressed and fatigued. At first, he felt that he had lost $1,200, then the thought struck him that perhaps he would lose his entire investment. More uncomfortable days followed. Then he began to think. Lose it all! Why, he had lost it all! So what! The worst that can happen is the loss of the sum of money invested. Having arrived at that conclusion, he experienced tremendous relief.

As soon as he had conceded the worst, his worries ended. From that time on he really enjoyed life because he went to work on gaining back some of his losses.

He declares that this same magic formula has since worked on all of his problems. First he analyzes the problem. Next he decides what is the worst possible result and then accepts it. Then he starts doing something to improve the condition, and invariably his worry is dispelled, life takes on a different meaning and he is happy again.

That Special Smile

A SHORT STORY

As Mark Dolan sat in his office figuring prices on the cedar lumber he was manufacturing, his mind stayed to Nell Langley, the girl who checked out books at the library.

He had heard her at a county school bus supper. She had smiled at him a very special smile he thought, and he knew right then that she was the girl for him. But he had never been able to see her, except at the library and then only in a library business way.

Maybe she thought he was such an avid reader he didn't have time for dates. Well, he would find out, and quick. He picked up his hat and strode down the street to the library.

He found Nell busy as usual, but she gave him that special smile and he went on to find a book.

"It's my own fault, he accused himself, remembering how timid he was during his school days. Looks like a man in my position could overcome adolescent timidity. Timidity's a curse. He would overcome it right now. He slammed the book down on the table and hurried to Nell Langley's desk.

"May I help you, Mark?" she asked.

"I'll find a gift," Nell promised. "You may call for it tomorrow."

She dismissed him without a smile. Mark went back to his office and worked with a heavy heart. Nell didn't care for him, he could tell.

When he was feeling at lowest ebb, the door opened and Nell Langley walked in.

Mark jumped to his feet. "This is a pleasant surprise," he said.

"Yes, please." The words he wanted to say wouldn't come. He saw there was sympathy in her eyes, and that made him blush.

"I want a book on bees," he lied. She dashed back to the book shelves and came back with a book on bees. He inwardly cursed himself. He didn't care anything about bees.

When she had marked his card, she showed the book toward him, and smiled.

Mark stood still, but he couldn't think of anything to say.

"Something else, Mark?" she asked.

"Yes," he said. "Could you select a gift for my girl friend?" He held a bill on her desk.

The smile left Nell's face. Didn't she want to accommodate him? "What is she like?" Nell asked.

"And what does she like in the way of gifts?" There was a sharp edge to her voice.

"She's pretty. Her eyes are like blue violets, and her hair the color of honey. I don't know what she would like."

"I'll find a gift," Nell promised. "You may call for it tomorrow."

She dismissed him without a smile. Mark went back to his office and worked with a heavy heart. Nell didn't care for him, he could tell.

When he was feeling at lowest ebb, the door opened and Nell Langley walked in.

Mark jumped to his feet. "This is a pleasant surprise," he said.

Mr. PET PEEVE

Stouthearted and brave is the individual who passes up a second helping of potatoes with no hope of cutting off a loop of belt and punching in a new hole with the family ice pick.

Just as praiseworthy is the individual who can manage to put down - whether in a cup of tea, a glass of water, or between two slices of hard toast - one of those horrible little pills guaranteed to "make you eat like a bird." I admire these people, yes, but I still think the idea of dieting is strictly for the birds.

Experience has led me to believe that most jolly, well-rounded, adjusted human beings become snarling, quarrelsome and overly aggressive bullies when they don't get enough to eat. The only way they can satiate the hunger pains in their stomach is by taking verbal bites out of everyone within shouting distance.

A friend recently told me about a man with the right idea - the "fat boy" in his home town who was the most popular citizen and the sure-fire brunt of every practical joke. As he grew older, he waxed rounder, his popularity increased. One day the local doctor suggested a diet, "for health's sake." Said the fat man, "What and risk the loss of my best personality asset?"

Me? At the moment I struggle along with well over 200 pounds, carelessly distributed on a frame designed for a capacity load of about 175. But, if I continue to fight my wife's determined effort to get me on a diet, I should lose enough in the battle to get back within the weight limit without enduring either pills or starvation.

Life in 1964?

Here's a Guess

No one really knows, of course, how life will be in 1964. But from the trends of today, it looks something like this:

There will be many more people running machines, and fewer laborers and skilled craftsmen. An upper level of scientists, engineers and business school trained executives will run business and industry.

The ahead in any trade or profession you will have to know more than you have to know today.

Industries that use the discoveries of science will be booming. Life will include chemicals, electronics, labor-saving devices.

Big government, big business, big unions and the machines will tend to level people into a common denominator. It will be harder for a man to be independent, individualistic, be his own boss.

Chances are you will be more comfortable, better amused, more secure. Whether you will be happier and lead a more fulfilling life will depend on how well you can fit yourself into the complex economy that lies ahead - Changing times.

"I hope I'm not intruding," she told him. "I saw your light, and came to bring the gift." She handed it to him.

"Oh, the gift!" He laid it on the desk and made her sit down. Then he hurried to his swivel chair, across the desk from her.

"I hope you like the gift," she said. There were tears in her voice, and tears were spilling over her eyelids.

"Poor girl," Mark thought. "Someone has hurt her. He wanted to help. Here, Nell, this gift is for you."

"For me?" She smiled through tears.

"Yes, didn't you notice I described you when I told you what my girl was like? I have no girl, unless it's you."

"Oh, Mark, do you mean that? It almost killed me when I thought you had another girl. But I'm too timid to let a man know how I feel especially you."

"You are, too?" He ran around his desk to her.

"Yes, dear," she answered and wiped away a tear.

And suddenly, Mark Dolan realized that his timidity had vanished.

Comparative caloric analysis shows that the energy value of one pound of peanuts is equal to 4 pounds of beefsteak, 21 pounds of cheese, or 33 eggs.

World production of coal and lignite exceeds 10 billion tons per year, with the U. S. producing one-third of the world total.

Fairyland Zoo Delights Kiddies

Opened for the season May 30, the Children's Zoo, atop Hill Mountain in the southern part of Roanoke, is something out of a fairy story.

Highlights are the three little pigs that squeal and root about in their houses of straw and sticks and bricks. Goat Gruff's Castle is a twisted building with the windows off-center and set at peculiar angles. Billy and Nanny Goat (and a new kid this year) scramble over rock outcroppings.

scampering about in a cage inside. Guinea pigs, hamsters, rabbits, white rabbits and others occupy a small animal house to the delight of youngsters.

Other delightful themes carried out at the zoo, according to the Virginia Travel Council, are Ding Dong Dell, Pussy in the Well, authentic wild Mammoth cat and kittens; a rabbit hutch, paddocks for a deer and a calf, and three live bears.

In the center of the zoo is Noah's Ark, a true-to-life ship rising from its own small lake. Visitors board the Ark by crossing the water on a gangplank. Goldfish swim about in the lake.

Entrance and exit to the zoo are made through a tunnel in a replica of the home of the Old Woman who lived in a Shoe. Even cans for waste on the grounds are painted with eye-catching pictures of Walt Disney characters.

A Star of the Week is chosen throughout the summer season. The animals picked for the honored spot are placed on exhibit in a house set apart from the others with a sign "This Is the

Wage Increase Ups Steel Prices

United States Steel Corporation has announced an upward adjustment in steel prices equal to 2 1/2 per cent or approximately $3 per ton.

Clifford F. Hood, President of the Corporation, said these new prices were made necessary because of increased production costs resulting from the settlement made with the United Steel workers of America last Tuesday.

Star of the Week

Not the least of the zoo attractions is a miniature train, the Zoo-Choo, which takes both children and adults for rides. The train has a locomotive and three cars and can accommodate 36 passengers.

The train ride consists of two runs around the 1000-foot track girdling the zoo. There's even a tunnel. The fare is nine cents for children, 15 for adults.

If you're passing through Southwestern Virginia, especially if you have children with you, you're invited to stop off and visit the Children's Zoo.

"The amount of the increase is less than would be justified if cost considerations, continuing plant replacement needs of the Corporation and stockholders' interests alone were considered."

"Competitive conditions, which is another way of referring to the sales problems of our customers and our own lower rates of operations, require, however, a lower price adjustment than would otherwise be justified by all considerations, including the public interest, in having a strong steel industry in this county."

A reputation for "knowing" is easily obtained; just keep talking.

COLONY RESTAURANT "BEST AT BEACH"

"The person who told us your food was the best on the Beach knew exactly what they were talking about," so said Esther Jolly, of Salem, Virginia, after a recent meal at the Colony Restaurant on Atlantic Ave. in the Jefferson Hotel building.

This patron's remark is typical of many who have discovered the enjoyment and fine food to be had at the Colony. (ADV.)

Here's how one community swimming pool got a $30,000 swimming pool for $125 a family. There are 240 families in the club. They now have a concrete pool 75 by 30 feet and a wading pool 30 by 40 feet. They also have a bath house, a 15-foot concrete apron around the pool for sunning, and approved filtration equipment. Capital costs financed by selling stock to members, included $18,000 for the pool; $4,000 for bath house; $3,500 for two acres of land; and $4,500 for utilities and miscellaneous expenses. Each family pays annual dues of $10 to cover operating costs.

Production of nickel by the free world is believed to have approximated 340,000,000 pounds in 1953, an increase of about 20,000,000 pounds over 1952.

Harris Named Assistant Sales Head by Chrysler

The appointment of Maurice J. Harris as assistant sales manager of Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation has been announced by E. M. Braden, general sales manager.

Harris' appointment is part of a program under which the Chrysler Division sales force is being strengthened by men who have had broad retail as well as wholesale automobile experience so that the Division can offer Chrysler sales Division in May, 1954, as a 3,300 dealers maximum assistance at the retail level, Braden said. Harris, who has had six executive promotions in his 10 years at Chrysler, has been used as car merchandising manager since October, 1952. His first connection with the automobile business was as retail dealer in Salt Lake City where he also operated a used car business.

During World War II he was a supervisor for Remington Arms Incorporated in charge of ammunition production. He joined Chrysler Corporation in January, 1944 and was assigned as a production foreman on the highly secret atom bomb project.

He was transferred to the Chrysler Division in May, 1954, as a

Farm Bureau Members Near Discussion of Price Supports

R. Flake Shaw, executive vice-president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation told about 100 Virginia Farm Bureau leaders in Blacksburg last week end that "We must get away from the political bally-hoo of flexible price supports will ruin us and rigid will save us—either of these systems of support can do both depending on the commodity involved."

He warned the group that the "package bill" passed out by the House Agriculture committee recently "has too many unknown factors" and food agricultural legislation never comes through a "package bill."

Discussing the topic of establishing a sound farm program, Shaw commented, "We're in a serious situation today with our farm program. It isn't the fault of the democrats or the republicans and farmers won't be saved by democrats or republicans, only by their own cooperative effort."

"The success of a farm program is not tied up in the rigid vs. flexible price support philosophy which politicians have made a political football," he said.

A sound farm program is one that "is acceptable to the public generally," Shaw continued. "In order to develop this type of program," he went on, "we as farmers must be prepared to bring supply in line with demand, remove the surpluses, and be in a position to compete in the world market."

He concluded that farmers should do four things if they would build a sound farm program: familiarize themselves with the history of the commodity in question; look at the storability of the commodity and the cost of storage; determine who the competitors are.

W. Raymond Osg, international affairs director with the American Farm Bureau, was another of the highlight speakers in the two-day leaders conference. Osg, on the subject of expanding agricultural markets, pointed out that a high level of agricultural exports is necessary if we are to maintain a prosperous economy.

He said our agricultural exports have fallen about 21 per cent since 1951. He accredited this to the fact that during and after the war the U. S. was at one time financing through loans about 50 per cent of our export trade.

He explained that the loss of our export markets is due to (1) the lack of U. S. dollars in foreign countries, (2) high prices on U. S. agricultural products brought on by unrealistic price support programs.

Osg concluded that "if we wish to regain these lost markets and expand we must be willing to import more; reduce trade barriers; adopt our customs regulations; and help our allies build their economic stability."

Picture History of Virginia Will Use Cook Collection

Virginia and her people are the themes of a remarkable picture history, SHADOWS IN SILVER: A Record of Virginia, 1850-1900, in Contemporary Photographs taken by George and Huestis Cook, with additions from the Cook Collection, which Charles Scribner's Sons will publish in October, 1954.

The authors, A. Lawrence Kocher and Howard Dearstyne, architects at the Williamsburg Restoration and professors at the College of William and Mary, have projected in SHADOWS IN SILVER a view of Virginia life between 1850 and 1900 which will long be standard history. They have used the celebrated Cook collection of photographs, specimens of which were lately on exhibition at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts—the work of more than seventy years of pioneer photography. With this book George Cook and his son, Huestis Cook, take their places in the great company of artist-photographers along with Mathew Brady.

The coverage of this book will be complete—society, personalities, everyday life, architecture, industry, agriculture, education, front-page news, the mountain resorts and the Springs. Every facet of Virginia life is shown in the 300 carefully selected photographs, bound together with a brisk running text.

Cmdr. Johnson, CO at Dam Neck, Ends 30 Years

Lieutenant Commander Henry Tilden Johnson, U. S. Navy last week bid farewell to the U. S. Fleet Air Defense Training Center at Dam Neck and the U. S. Navy after completing thirty years of active Naval service. Lieutenant Commander Johnson entered the Navy in June 1924 and was advanced from Apprentice Seaman to the rank of Lieutenant Commander. During the thirty years of active duty he served over eighteen years of foreign and sea service, on board such fighting ships as the USS CONCORD, USS Arkansas, and USS ST. LOUIS.

In 1931, Lieutenant Commander Johnson was commended by The Secretary of the Navy and awarded the Navy-Marine Corps Medal for rescuing a Seaman in the Harbor of Cristobal, Canal Zone while serving aboard the USS CONCORD. Other awards held by Lieutenant Commander Johnson include The World War II Victory Medal, American Area Service Medal and The National Defense Service Medal.

During his tour of duty at Dam Neck, Lieutenant Commander Johnson served as Fire Control Officer in which billet he has witnessed and managed The Fire Control Department aboard the center during its now nearly completed expansion program. Captain Harold F. Crist, Commanding Officer of The Fleet Air Defense Training Center, in announcing Johnson's retirement said, "Johnson is completing a long successful career. His services will be missed. We hope he misses us." Mrs. Johnson is well known in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County as an active volunteer Red Cross Worker and member of

Five Million Checks a Month Mailed Vets and Dependents

Nearly 5,000,000 checks representing monetary benefits to veterans and their dependents are mailed out by the Veterans Administration every month, VA said. The principal benefits covered in these large mailings are compensation and pension; payments for GI training in schools and colleges, on-the-job and on-the-farm, and to dependents of deceased veterans who qualify for death benefits.

In announcing these large totals, VA pointed out that under the law, a VA benefit check may not be forwarded from one address to another. Therefore persons who are receiving benefit checks regularly were cautioned to be sure to inform VA promptly if they change their address.

If a beneficiary moves without having advised VA of the change, the check must be returned to the U. S. Treasury and cannot be re-mailed until VA finds out the new address of the recipient. This usually causes an unpleasant delay for the person entitled to the check. VA beneficiaries who are planning to change their addresses were advised to get a change-of-address form from their nearest VA office and fill it in promptly to notify the agency. Due to the law against forwarding checks, it is not sufficient to notify the post office alone of the address change.

State Boasts Few Forest Fires

Virginia came up with the lowest forest fire loss record for the entire South in 1953. It was announced by American Forest Products Industries, Inc., national sponsor of the Keep Green fire prevention program and the American Tree Planting System. AFPI's report, based on government figures just released, showed 2,517 fires burned over 35,197 Virginia acres. This compares with 2,568 fires and 118,690 acres burned over in 1952. Virginia's Keep Green educational campaign to prevent woods fires was formally activated in 1945. All of the timberlands are under organized protection.

Texas had the second best fire loss record in the South last year with 40, 148 acres burned over South Carolina was third with losses totaling 72,867 acres.

"The fine record made by Virginia last year proves the effectiveness of co-operation by all groups in a campaign to reduce forest fires," said James C. McCellan, chief forester for AFPI.

Early planning for good pastures is being suggested for Virginia farmers.

John F. Shoulders, associate agronomist at VPI, says plans for fall pasture seedings should include selecting the field, having the soil tests, making arrangements to have lime and fertilizer on hand when needed, preparing land early, and selecting a pasture mixture which will provide abundant grazing.

After selecting the field, take a representative soil sample and send it to a soil testing laboratory for analysis. Take samples from several places in the same field, mix them together thoroughly, and send a pint sample of the mixed soil to the laboratory. If part of the field has received different lime, fertilizer, or cropping treatments, or is a different soil type, make separate samplings and send them in for testing. Soil record sheets and cartons for sending samples to the VPI soil testing laboratory are available from county agents and other professional agriculture workers.

Lime is important. Apply enough to bring the pH to between 6.0 and 6.5, preferably 6.5. The nearer the pH is to 6.5 the longer it will be before liming is necessary again. Apply at least half the lime 30 days before seeding. If the soil is extremely acid, apply half the lime, before plowing then plow it down.

Most fields can profitably use 800 to 1,000 pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 2-12-12 or 5-10-10 for seedings of tall grass-ladino clover pastures. Seeding time is the only time fertilizer and lime can be worked deeply into the soil. Deep placement of lime and fertilizer will encourage deeper root development and the pastures will be better able to withstand drought.

Early land preparation also is an important factor for good seedling growth. Plow or disc well before seeding, then disc again to destroy any plants or weeds that might cause seedling failure by competition. Early preparation also allows the soil to settle and form a moist, firm seed bed.

Details on land preparation, fertilizing, and other phases of pasture management are included in the newly revised bulletin "Good Pasture Is Your Cheapest Feed." Ask your county agent or write the VPI Agricultural Extension Service, Blacksburg, for a free copy.

Rapid-Gain Will Pay In Swine

If rapid gains ever paid in hogs they should during the summer months of 1954.

Animal husbandmen at VPI say prices are good now, but they will likely drop steadily during the fall. Early marketing will pay - but that means using a ration to put on the pounds rapidly.

Rations must be balanced properly. Remember the amount of protein needed for the different classes of hogs. Weanling pigs in dry lot should have 19 per cent protein in their rations; on pasture - 18 per cent. Growing pigs to 125 pounds in dry lot need 16 per cent protein; on pasture - 14 per cent. Fattening pigs, 125 to 250 pounds, 14 per cent protein in dry lot, 12 per cent on pasture.

Proper amounts of vitamins and minerals are important, and antibiotics should be fed throughout the fattening period if once started.

Hogs must have shade during hot weather. Provide shade by giving the hogs access to woods, or set posts that support mesh wire covered with straw. Wallows are fine, but a dirty contaminated wallow is worse than none at all.

A comfortable hog fed a balanced, well-fortified ration will make rapid gains in any weather - except a hog that is infested with parasites. Treat pigs with ivermectin after they are 9 or 10 weeks old to control parasites.

Dairy Dates Announced

Two dates of interest to the dairy industry have been announced by VPI's dairy department:

Virginia Artificial Breeding Association's annual conference held by Dr. G. C. Graf, head of technicians, VPI, August 2 and 3.

Southern regional collegiate dairy products judging contest, VPI, October 22.

New Bulletins Now Available

Several new bulletins and leaflets of interest to Virginia farmers and homemakers have been published and are now available - free for the asking - from county agents or the VPI Agricultural Extension Service.

They include: Sweet Sudan Grass for Summer Pasture. Tells how farmers can provide additional grazing for livestock during the critical summer pasture months.

Agricultural Research Report. VPI Agricultural Experiment Station. Covers research done in livestock, crops, land and water, nutrition and other fields during the period July 1, 1950, through June 30, 1953.

Farm Storage of Grains. With a bumper crop expected this year, farmers will have to store much of their grain on farms. This bulletin contains recommendations on harvesting, storage, insect and rodent control, and marketing.

Grow, Can, Serve Tomatoes. Points on tomatoes from the garden to the table are contained in this revised circular.

Control Southern Corn Rootworm. Seed Corn Maggot, Wireworms. Attacking Corn. Four different ways to control soil-inhabiting insects of corn are outlined.

Suggestions for Controlling Tobacco Field Insects. Control of tobacco budworms and hornworms by dusting, baiting, or spraying is discussed.

Flue-Cured Tobacco Fertilizer Recommendations. Recommended grades of field fertilizers and side-dressing fertilizer for flue-cured tobacco are included.

Have Good Light for Sorting Tobacco. Discusses the use of a correctly installed fluorescent light in sorting tobacco.

In addition to these publications three bulletins have recently been revised to include the latest information on the various topics. They are: Diseases of Small Grain, Grape growing in Va., and Good Pastures - Your Cheapest Feed.

Advertising in summer time is a good way to build business prestige for the future.

Watch Tomatoes Around 2, 4-D

Be wary about using 2, 4-D for weed control in any crop near a tomato field.

S. B. Fenne, plant pathologist at VPI, warns that tomatoes are very susceptible to injury by 2, 4-D, and even if the chemical is used for weed control on corn or some other crop several hundred feet away, there is danger of the fumes blowing to the tomatoes. Just the fumes will do the damage, to say nothing of what would happen if the 2, 4-D actually got on the tomatoes. It's fairly fool to spray tomatoes with a sprayer that has previously contained 2, 4-D.

Damage from fumes has been reported several times in recent years where 2, 4-D was used to kill weeds and brush along fence rows and vacant lots and in corn fields. 2, 4-D injury looks like some of the virus troubles and many farmers confuse the two.

BHC and Peanuts Just Don't Mix

Some farmers in Virginia's peanut-cotton belt are reportedly using BHC (benzene hexachloride) to control the cotton boll weevil - and it's definitely not the thing to do, particularly if peanuts are to be grown on the land, or nearby.

At least it's not the thing to do unless you have an uncommon liking for musty-tasting peanuts, or unless you grow them for fun, not money.

M. P. Lacy, assistant agronomist at VPI, reminds that BHC causes a distinct and objectionable off-taste and odor in peanut grown on land where it has been applied. BHC is also residual in the soil and could cause trouble for several years. Therefore, don't use BHC on peanut land, in a peanut rotation, or on fields adjacent to peanut fields where the material may drift.

This is a threat that should be nipped in the bud before it develops into a serious situation in Virginia's peanut marketing, Lacy says.

The only materials recommended to control the boll weevil are toxaphene, aldrin-DDT, and heptachlor. Heptachlor has just recently been recommended and the 2-1-2 dust should be applied at the rate of 5 to 10 pounds on small cotton and 10 to 15 pounds on large cotton. It is also made in liquid form and in combination with DDT and sulphur.

Pesticides Safe - But be Careful

Pesticides are safe if used properly.

John M. Amos, associate entomologist-plant pathologist at VPI, says all you need to do is follow the precautions on the label.

Contrary to common belief, there were more deaths in 1949 (latest figures available) from petroleum products (112), aspirin and salicylates (99), than from insecticides (15).

Another interesting fact, Amos says, is that 12 deaths were attributed to furniture polish, 6 to household bleach, and 4 to "home permanent" solutions.

Considering the amount of insecticides used, the varieties of crops involved, and the number of people using insect controls, they are relatively safe. Amos warns, however, not to fail to read the label and observe the precautions given.

Studying the Bible may not end warfare, but it will improve human beings.

ASTHMA COUGHS

Don't let difficult breathing, coughing and wheezing, due to recurring spasms of bronchial asthma or simple bronchitis ruin your sleep and money without trying MENDOC. Works through your blood to help loosen and remove thick, standing mucus. Thus quickly allows coughing which permits freer breathing and sounder sleep. Get MENDOC under money back guarantee at drugstore.

Purchasing Agent Began With N&W in 1909

Clyde Cocke, Norfolk and Western purchasing agent for the last thirty years, has been named the railway's general purchasing agent.

The title of purchasing agent was abolished.

Cocke started with the railroad as a messenger in the summer of 1908. After a year of business college he went to work as a clerk in the purchasing department on June 1, 1910. After two years with the Rainbow Division in World War I he returned to the N. & W. in April 1919 & was named chief of the purchasing agent in August, 1922. He was made assistant purchasing agent in April 1909 and purchasing agent four months later. Cocke had just reached his 31st birthday and was the youngest purchasing agent on any major U. S. railroad.

During the last three decades he has served as chairman and member of many committees of the Purchasing and Stores Division, Association of American Railroads. For the last six years he has served on the Division's general committee.

Cocke also has been extremely active in Roanoke civic life. He is chairman of the stadium advisory committee, a director of the Roanoke Recreation Association and as chairman of the Chamber of Commerce recreation committee directed the development of the city's sandlot football program. He has been acting president of the Roanoke Citizens Association.

There is no substitute for brains, no matter what you're being using.

Remember when you first heard of contour plowing?

Many farming techniques used today were unheard of just a little while ago. All of us benefit in better soil conservation, increased farm production, and many other ways. Another improvement farm families are noticing these days is in telephone service: In 1951, only 47% of all rural customers were on lines with seven or less other parties. Today, 95% are - and your telephone company is working hard to make service still better in the years ahead.

It's spruce-up-for-summer time!

There's probably not a farm in the county that couldn't stand a little "dressing up" for the months ahead. Maybe it's a new coat of paint for the barn. Perhaps the house roof needs new shingles. Whatever it is, the job'll be done faster and better if you have help. Co-operation is the key to success with your party-line telephone, too. If you consider the other fellow's needs as well as your own, everyone will get better service!

Location of Wells and Springs Most Important in Bible Lands Even Today

By those living in a temperate climate, where the well or the aqueduct furnishes to every house a supply of water practically inexhaustible, no idea can be formed of the extreme distress caused by thirst. "The fountain of living water," the fountain of living water, and many others. The digging of a permanent well or the discovery of a spring was a public benefaction, and its possession was a matter of great importance. Its existence at a given spot decided the nightly resting place of caravans, the encampment of armies, and the location of towns. I Sam. 29:1; 2 Sam. 2:13. Hence Beer, the Hebrew name for a well or spring, forms a part of many names of places, as Beeroth, Beer-sheba. So valuable was a supply of water, that a field containing a spring was a princely dowry. Judg. 1:13-15, and a well was a matter of strife and negotiation between different tribes. Thus we read that Abraham, in making a treaty with King Abimelech, "reproved him because of a well of water which Abimelech's servants had violently taken away," and the ownership of the well was sealed to Abraham by a special oath and covenant. Gen. 21:25-31. A similar transaction occurred during the life of Isaac. Gen. 26:14-33. In negotiating with the King of Edom for a passage through his territory, the Israelites said, "We will go by the highway; and if I and my cattle drink of the water, then I will pay for it." Num. 20:17-18. Still stronger is the expression in Lam. 5:4 "We have drunk our own water for money;" that is, we bought it of our foreign rulers, though we are the natural proprietors of the wells that furnished it. The custom of demanding pay for water of the traveler is still found in some parts of the East; while in many other towns a place is provided where cold water sometimes bread are offered gratuitously to the stranger, at the expense of the village, or as an act of charity by the benevolent. Mark 9:41. In the case of a hostile invasion, nothing could more effectively harass an advancing army or the besiegers of a city, than to fill with stones the wells on which they relied. 2 Kin 3:25; 2 Chr 32:3.

Even though reliable information is received that a tug or other private assistance is proceeding to the scene there is no assurance that it will complete the mission until such assistance is known to be on the scene and to have the situation in hand. Until then it is incumbent upon the Coast Guard to have its units proceed toward the scene.

When information received after the initial report is of such nature that it is evident that distress did not exist or no longer exists those units ordered to the scene can be recalled.

If upon arrival at the scene, the Coast Guard finds private enterprise is already there and is rendering assistance or is willing to render assistance it shall not interfere with the private activity unless upon appeal from the person in charge of the craft requiring assistance it is determined that the demands made upon him are unreasonable. If it becomes apparent that private enterprise cannot cope with the situation and that action by the Coast Guard is necessary to prevent loss of life or property, action shall be taken.

If a Coast Guard unit is rendering assistance on the scene, the Coast Guard will turn the case over to the private operator if he desires to accept it, his demands on the vessel requiring assistance are reasonable, and the character of assistance he can render is adequate.

If there is a doubt of the capability of the private operator to render adequate service, the Coast Guard unit will stand by until it is apparent that no further assistance is required. Actual refusal to release the distressed vessel to a private operator whose facilities are deemed inadequate will only be done after careful consideration.

A very small honor can pay up a very small individual.

Coast Guard Wishes Boat Owners Acquaint Selves with Tow Policy

The Commander, Fifth Coast Guard District, recently made public a statement of the Commandant of the Coast Guard clarifying the Coast Guard's general policy concerning towage of disabled vessels.

In making the statement, the Commandant urged that all available public information media be used to acquaint owners and operators of all types of watercraft with the Coast Guard's policy and responsibility.

The belief was expressed that such action would assist the Coast Guard to distinguish genuine distress cases requiring Coast Guard assistance from the non-genuine and to combat unwarranted requests for assistance.

The policy, generally stated, is as follows: "In the promotion of maritime safety on and over the high seas and waters subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, the Commandant has voiced the policy of rendering all practicable assistance to those who follow the sea and to give aid whenever the Coast Guard can reasonably do so. The Coast Guard does not desire to compete with private enterprise which stands in a position to render prompt and efficient service and where such action would not unduly jeopardize life or property.

"It is desired that the Coast Guard, upon receipt of information that a vessel or person is in distress or potential distress, send a vessel or aircraft as appropriate to the scene when such facilities are available. Upon arrival at the scene assistance appropriate to the situation should be rendered. Types of assistance that are considered appropriate include but are not limited to the following:

A. Technical assistance furnished on the spot.

B. Miscellaneous supplies furnished for the purpose of effecting a temporary repair on the spot.

C. Towage to the nearest port in which emergency repairs can be made.

"Towing to the nearest port where emergency repairs can be effected does not imply that the port must have complete facilities to perform permanent repair work. Nor does it imply that the Coast Guard should tow the vessel to the repair yard itself. Normally, in a port where commercial towage is available, the Coast Guard will have discharged its responsibility when the distressed vessel is brought to a safe anchorage.

"Although the Coast Guard will not compete or interfere with private towing activities or other commercial enterprise, the Coast Guard cannot rely upon private enterprise to render assistance in low-order cases and itself act only when extreme jeopardy exists.

Your Allie hopes the film folks won't forget the inspirational fight and comeback Babe made just a year ago with that old "debil" Cancer. That's a story that could carry great help and inspiration, as well as education, to the young and old matrons everywhere.

Nothing does so much for the sagging lines of the face as a new bonnet, if it's becoming. And a woman is silly to wear one that isn't. Naturally, my lids catch the eye, and any little attention a woman of my age gets is gratefully received." Wise words, Hedda!

Machines automatically weigh and package the chips. Research has become increasingly important. Experimental work is done continually by a research chemist with the National Potato Chip Institute, by the chemists on the staffs of oil and fat companies and chemists of individual potato chip makers. They are all seeking blends of oil that will give the most agreeable possible flavor. A graduate home economist is on the Institutes staff. She develops new uses and recipes for chips. She works with the Institute, the chippers and consumers.

Meanwhile chippers have not forgotten the memory of Aunt Kate and Chief George Gum, for early in 1953 they selected Joan Gehan, a freshman of Columbia University New York City, a beautiful Indian Maid as Miss Potato Chip of 1953. At a chipper meeting in Louisville, Ky., in October, they declared it only fitting and proper that for the balance of the centennial celebration UN-KEA PU-CHI (her Indian name) be known as "Miss Chip of the Century."

Current insect features in Virginia: Many adult clover root curculio are emerging in alfalfa fields in some areas.

Thrips are doing severe damage to some stands of small corn that have not gotten off to a good start because of climatic conditions.

From medium to heavy infestations of overwintered adult boll weevils are present in cotton fields of southeastern Virginia; the need for adequate control measures is likely to become urgent.

State quarantine officials are swinging into action against the Japanese beetle outbreak in northern and southwest Virginia. And minnow weevorn infestations have been reported for the first time this season in Warren county. Thrips are damaging roses all over the state.

That's the run-down on the insect situation as compiled by Arthur P. Morris, associate entomologist at VPI. County agents throughout Virginia are being kept briefed on infestations in their localities and can furnish more specific information.

POISONED BAITS GET FLIES MISSED BY DDT SPRAYS

Poisoned baits will control house flies in some situations where more familiar sprays fail.

This heartening news comes from P. J. O. Rowell, entomologist at VPI, who has been conducting demonstrations throughout Virginia using poison baits with what he calls "almost spectacular" results.

The baits have been particularly effective in uncreased dairies, poultry houses, and garbage dumps. Flies that have become resistant to insecticides such as DDT have been controlled with baits containing organic-phosphorus compounds.

Malathion is one of the insecticides that is very effective in baits. It is available commercially as a 50 per cent emulsifiable concentrate and as a 25 per cent wettable powder. It is much less toxic to the higher animals than are some of the phosphorus insecticides now used for controlling farm pests, and no more toxic than DDT and similar insecticides.

There are two types of baits - (1) liquids, which may be applied to the floors, walls, or other surfaces; and (2) dry baits, which may be sifted over floors or wherever flies gather. Either type is distributed thinly to reduce the hazard to domestic animals that is present when large amounts are exposed in a single container. Blackstrap molasses, cane or corn sirup, and sugar may be used in liquid baits to attract the flies. Use the one most readily available and cheapest in your locality. Granulated sugar is used in dry baits. Details on preparing and using the bait are included in a new circular, "Fly Control with Poisoned Baits." Ask your county agent or write the VPI Agricultural Extension Service, Blacksburg, for a free copy.

"Will wonders never cease?"

THAT MIGHT well have been the question of this bride of 75 years ago... as her husband proudly pulled the cord of the "new electric light" in their "modern" home!

It is evident now that "wonders" will never cease... as long as America's electric industry remains free to advance, free to develop new uses of the strange "force" called electricity. Since Edison's invention of the first practical incandescent lamp, in 1879, electricity has been put to so many uses that it is difficult to imagine what life would be without it.

In just the past twenty-five years, new applications of electric power have come in great number. Such household appliances as television sets, mixers, steam irons, freezers and dishwashers have reached a high degree of efficiency and, during the last decade alone, have been introduced into American homes in great quantities. Light's Diamond Jubilee is not just a time for looking back... but a time for looking forward... to new wonders!

Smith Optical Company Boasts Most Up-to-date Equipment; Superior Service

Founded in 1943

FOUNDER

HARRY E. SMITH

Smith Optical Company has shown a good, steady growth and enlarged their services and patronage many times since their opening for business in 1943. Their location at 517 Boush St., Norfolk, is adjacent to the Medical Arts and the Wainwright buildings, close by to where most of the eye physicians have their offices. This is of considerable importance to the patient.

A complete grinding laboratory was installed in order to properly fill prescriptions without the customary long delay. Smith Optical Company was the first Guild Prescription Optician in Norfolk to set up such a laboratory. Additions have been made to keep in stride with the new and improved methods in all phases as they have developed. Many improvements have been added to meet the needs of an expanding business and organization. The policy of the firm has been to render precision optical service, using only the finest quality materials. The firm again led the way in 1945 when it became the first to completely air-condition their premises. They also have private fitting booths, giving the opportunity for leisurely fitting and selection of frames as well as the privacy so many persons desire.

The business was founded by Harry E. Smith, a native of Fayetteville, N. C. He came to Norfolk from Roanoke, Virginia where he had been associated for many years with one of the major optical manufacturing and research laboratories. Mr. Smith is certified by the American Board of Opticianry and was the fourth Optician in the state of Virginia to be certified by the Guild of Prescription Opticians of America. The British Guild bestowed on him an honorary membership. Over the years of his residence in Norfolk Mr. Smith has taken an active part many civic, community and religious activities. Being the proud father of a 3 1/2 year old boy Harry, Jr., he looks to the time when he hopes to have business continued under their joint operation and have the son also filling prescriptions and grinding lenses.

Tarpon are found as far north as Nova Scotia.

Coast Guard Has Busy Season

Coast Guard files at the Rescue Coordination center in Norfolk this week revealed a record 134 cases of assistance during the month of June — the highest monthly total thus far in 1954 — in which the Coast Guard was sent to the rescue in the Fifth Coast Guard District.

The vast number of incidents, ranging from damaged rudders to fire at sea, kept the Coast Guard constantly on the alert. A breakdown of the cases disclosed that Coast Guard assistance was needed as follows: 50 disabled boats, 18 vessels aground, 15 drownings, 10 first aid cases, and a number of miscellaneous occurrences bringing the total to 134.

Secretary Benson Outlines 1955 Wheat Program; 55 Million Acre Limit Set

Secretary of Agriculture Earl W. Benson today announced preliminary steps in the administration of the 1955 wheat program and also cross-compliance provisions to influence the use of land diverted by wheat and other crops. The Secretary:

1. Proclaimed a national marketing quota for the 1955 wheat crop, in accordance with legislative provisions.

2. Announced a national wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres for 1955 — the level specified in the controlling legislation under conditions of excessive supply.

3. Set July 23 as the date for a national referendum among wheat growers on acceptance of the proposed marketing quota.

4. Announced that in 1955 wheat growers and others would have to comply with all acreage allotments established for a farm, and that bigger producers — with larger totals of diverted acres — would also have to comply with a "total acreage allotment," in order to be eligible for price support on any crop produced on the farm.

"This action obviously means further controls on farm production and marketing," Secretary Benson said in commenting on today's announcement. "I greatly regret this fact. The long-range interests of agriculture and the national economy will best be served when we can have less — and not more — government regulation and control."

"Under present conditions, however, we have no immediate choice. With approximately a two-years' supply of wheat expected to be on hand when this year's crop is harvested, there is no question at all about the requirement for marketing quotas and the establishment of a national wheat acreage allotment at the level prescribed by law. Neither is there any question about the need to require cross-compliance with established acreage allotments. It doesn't make sense to encourage the building of new problems through the unwise shifting of acres from one surplus crop to another."

"Farmers under these regulations have a choice of action. They can approve or disapprove marketing quotas. As for acreage allotments, they can either:

(1) Comply and get the protection of price supports, or

(2) Not comply and forego the benefits of price support and sell their products on the free market.

"The wheat supply situation, which forces us into these control measures, is the result of a decline in exports, failure to invoke acreage controls in 1952, relatively high yields, an outmoded method of computing parity, and long-continued use of rigid price supports. Such supports have unbalanced production, restricted sales and use, result in waste, and inevitably lead to regimentation and restrictive measures. Variable price support levels, adjusted with the supply, can strike at the roots of this surplus problem."

"In the meantime, our job is to make the most effective possible use of the controls and measures which are available. We must halt the build-up of surplus and start the trend toward a better balance between supply and demand, using the tools at hand."

Marketing Quotas
This is the second consecutive year in which wheat marketing quotas, as well as acreage allotments, have been required by executive supplies.

Current estimates are that about 1 billion 900 million bushels of wheat will be available for the 1954-1955 marketing year which begins July 1. This is an all-time record supply. The "normal supply" determination for the 1955 crop, used under legislative provisions in making the marketing crop, was found to be 1 billion 63 million bushels — calculated on the basis of a year's domestic and export disappearance plus a 15 per cent allowance for reserves. When the available supply is 20 per cent above this "normal supply" level, the Secretary of Agriculture is required to proclaim marketing quotas. Actually, the available supply for 1954-55 is about 79 per cent above the "normal supply."

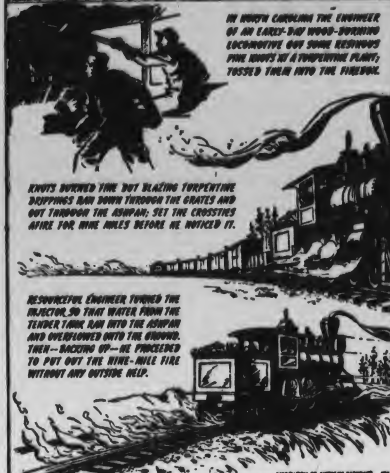

Two-thirds of the eligible wheat producers who vote in the July 23 referendum must approve marketing quotas before they can be put into effect. If they are approved, producers who stay within the wheat acreage allotted for their farms, and also comply with any other established allotments — will be eligible for the full price support which is in effect. Farmers who are not within their allotments are not eligible for price support and are subject to the marketing quota penalties on excess wheat.

If quotas are not approved by wheat growers in the July 23 referendum, the law provides for a wheat price support level at 50 per cent of parity for farmers who stay within their allotments. In the referendum last summer for the 1954 crop, producers approved marketing quotas by a vote of 390,221 to 57,536.

Acreage Allotments
The controlling legislation includes a formula for determining the size of the national acreage allotment each year. As supplies go up beyond certain levels the size of the acreage allotment comes down. However, the legislation includes a 55 million acre "floor" below which the national acreage allotment cannot fall. Present supplies are so excessive that the national allotment would be only about 19 million acres if it were not for the minimum provision.

In addition to the cross-compliance among allotment crops, there will be a further requirement for farms where acreage allotments will call for diversion of more than 10 acres from the production of allotment crops in 1955. In these cases, a "total acreage allotment" will be established for the farm. The total acreage allotment will include all crop acreage allotments established for the farm and the 1955 acreage (or adjusted acreage) of all other crops on the farm except hay, cover crops, green manure crops, pasture, idle cropland, and summer fallow.

Producers must keep within the total acreage allotment, when one is established for their farms, in order to be eligible for price support on any crop. This requirement, of course, does not apply on the smaller farms where not more than 10 acres are to be diverted from allotment crops.

The cross-compliance and total-acreage compliance requirements are aimed directly at the problem of controlling or influencing the use of acres taken out of allotment crops under production adjustment programs. Past experience has shown conclusively that, without some provisions to guide the use of acres which are diverted under acreage allotment programs, these acres are likely to be planted to other crops which need — or would see need — adjustments themselves.

The program announced today should aid materially in meeting this problem, attaining a more balanced production and bringing supplies more nearly in line with demand. Officials of the Department of Agriculture point out that the compliance program will not insure complete control of diverted acres. Producers will have the choice of complying with the allotments and being eligible for price supports, or exceeding their allotments and foregoing price support privileges. It is felt, however, that the program will have a direct and important effect on the use of diverted acres, without going to the extremes of absolute controls.

The compliance program will lessen the impact of acreage shifts on non-basis crops, many of which do not have price support. It will encourage an increase in soil-conserving types of crops, especially on those larger farms for which total acreage allotments are established. It will mean a minimum

Bertha Fanning Taylor Exhibits Paintings At Theatre - Go - Round

A group of landscapes and portraits by Bertha Fanning Taylor forms the second in the series of exhibitions planned by the management of the Theatre-Go-Round at Virginia Beach, for this summer's season, which opened Monday, July 12, in the lobby used by the Theatre (on terrace above tent) at 67th St. and Atlantic Ave.

Bertha Fanning Taylor claims that landscape has always fascinated her and her first efforts were made in that type. Among the landscapes shown, the "Stockley Gardens," the "Beach near Fort Story" and the Rocky Mountain View all show this desire to interpret nature's harmonies, and Mrs. Taylor claims that her art is one of "analysis & synthesis" where tries to find fundamental design and chords of color, and leaves out unessential details. She says she is perhaps a "modern classicist" because her work is balanced and calm and not "baroque" with tensions and distortions. It is a form of conservative modern which continues to paint from the object, but with a sense of internal structure based upon abstract design or pattern.

Mrs. Bertha Fanning Taylor is at present Instructor for the Norfolk Museum Workshop in Drawing and Oil Painting, winter season and is also giving next winter two courses at the YWCA.

Mrs. Taylor got her training in New York and in Paris, where she spent fifteen years prior to World War II, and was official Lecturer on the Lecture Staff of the Louvre Museum for ten years, after taking the courses at the Louvre School of Art History.

Mrs. Taylor studied and exhibited in the large Paris Salons, and met many of the noted modern artists while in Paris. She is a native New Yorker, and belongs to the Pen and Brush Club there as well as the American Artists Professional League, the Artists Equity Association, the French Institute, the College Art Association, and other organizations. She is acting as Art Critic at present, for the Norfolk, Virginian-Pilot.

Laundried Pillows For Germ Free Headrest

Clean pillow cases will successfully camouflage pillows which have not been laundered for years but clean pillows are essential to germ-free sanitation.

According to technicians at the American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center of the laundry industry, feather pillows become lumpy, stained, and perspiration and germs-laden with use. Doctors recommend pillow cleaning and all hospitals require it.

An average of a pint of dirt is removed from most pillows received in professional laundries throughout the country. Various foreign material is also discovered in the once-fluffy headrests.

Some things which laundries have found are: coal, corn, coins, currency, nuts and bolts, nails, comic books, bones, wood, glass, and even a razor-sharp surgical knife! Many pillows are received with two and three dirty ticks covering the feathers and each other.

After tagging each pillow twice so that the customer gets back both the same feathers and tick, the feathers are removed and are sterilized with live steam at 300 degrees. The steam kills any germs in the feathers and removes the dirt, but does not harm the wax on the feather surface during the sterilization process.

In a tumbler specially built for pillow cleaning, laundries dry the feathers with warm air, making them soft, fluffy and dry. The ticks are properly washed and pressed separately and the original feathers are put into them and sewed up.

Meat from the abalone, the West Coast's most famous shellfish, is rather tough and must be softened by pounding or grinding.

and writes up the exhibitions of Norfolk for the Sunday supplement Feature section.

Mrs. Taylor considers herself primarily a painter, however, and likes to feel she understands and enjoys modern art, though her own painting is largely based upon what she sees and enjoys.

Raisin Bran Bread Stars in Menu of Month

IT'S QUITE AN ACCOMPLISHMENT these days to produce menus that are delightful and low-cost too! Ideas along this score sometimes run out, but that's where the "Menu of the Month" takes over. This appealing supper or tea menu includes assorted sandwich fillings spread on thin slices of luscious and nutritious Raisin Bran Bread pictured above. A low-calorie cranberry sherbet, Lemon Angel Food Cake, and iced tea with aromatic biters and pretzels round out this cooling and appetizing menu.

RAISIN BRAN BREAD

2 cups sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons molasses
3 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening
1 cup raisin bran

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg, milk, and molasses. Add to flour mixture, add shortening and cereal, then mix only enough to dampen all flour. Bake in greased 8x4x3-inch loaf pan, in moderate oven (350° F.) 1 hour, or until done. Cool. Wrap in damp cloth or waxed paper and store several hours or overnight before slicing. (ANS)

Veterans Director To Be At Beach Twice Monthly

The Virginia General Assembly in session in 1954, slashed the budget for the operational expenditures of the Division of War Veterans' Claims (under the Commonwealth's Department of Law), more than $112,000 in their bill covering appropriations for the next biennium.

Due to this reduction, an important meeting was called by the State Veterans Affairs Commission in June 1954, at which time arguments were heard from all interested parties, veterans' service organizations, the Division's Director and others, on the best possible method of operating during the next biennium. It was decided to discontinue the operation of five offices of the Division in the Commonwealth, which was accomplished effective June 30, 1954. It, thereby, became necessary for the counties and cities served by the discontinued offices to be apportioned to the 17 remaining field offices.

This plan of reorganization added the county of Princess Anne and the cities of South Norfolk and Virginia Beach to the territory served by the Norfolk office. This office is under Thomas A. Moore, Area Director, and is located at 406 East Plume Street, Norfolk, Virginia (the Old Telephone Building). Previously Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach were under the jurisdiction of the office located at Suffolk, under T. O. Palmer, Jr., Area Director.

Moore's Norfolk office is now serving the Cities of Norfolk, South Norfolk, and Virginia Beach, and the counties of Princess Anne, Northampton and Accomack. This is to announce that Moore has rearranged his itinerary so that he will visit Princess Anne Court House and the City of Virginia Beach regularly the second and fourth Thursday of each month. The itinerary schedule for these two points is as follows:

Princess Anne Court House (2d & 4th Thursday) 11:00 A. M. to 11:45 A. M.
Virginia Beach Town Hall (2d & 4th Thursday) 1:00 P. M. to 3:15 P. M.

Moore's previous schedule remains unchanged, other than the above additions to his itinerary. The Division of War Veterans' Claims is set up under State Law to provide full service for veterans their dependents and survivors, on any claims, applications, problems and forms which are to be presented to any federal, state or local agency for any benefits to which they may be entitled under law. The office is equipped to handle any type of such claim. Moore invites persons needing such assistance, who live in Princess Anne County or Virginia Beach, to visit him on any second or fourth Thursday during the above-specified hours.

Newest kitchen appliance is a refrigerator which hangs on the wall like a cabinet. Manufacturers say it takes up only two-thirds as much space as floor model of same capacity.

Game Wardens Active in State

Full cooperation of the courts throughout the state is being shown in the Commission's efforts to break up game and fish law violations. Accounts of proceedings of the courts in the local papers indicate that not only are the game wardens active, but violators are being consistently punished.

In trial justice court in one instance, there were 15 cases on the docket on a single day, and all of these but one were for violations of the hunting and fishing laws and regulations. Accounts in the press indicate that throughout the State game and fish laws are becoming more generally respected.

There are abundant evidences that the Commission's enforcement staff is becoming increasingly effective in protecting wildlife, and the honest hunters, from the inroads of the small minority of unscrupulous runners and anglers.

How To Save On Coffee
You can save on coffee if you follow these five rules:

Use it right after it has been ground; it is more flavorful then, and you can use less.

Grind it fine, and you'll get more coffee out of each pound. Cut down on waste by measuring accurately. Find the lowest strength that satisfies and use the same measure each time.

Remember that coffee evaporates and gets bitter when too often reheated. Try to make no more than you are going to drink each time.

If you use the drip method, use a little less coffee and pour the liquid through twice. . . . CHANGING TIMES.

Cover Girl Sought For Festival Program

If you are between the ages of 17 and 25 and either live or were raised on a tobacco growing farm, in a tobacco market or tobacco manufacturing center, you may be selected as the 1954 Cover Girl for the Tobacco Festival Souvenir Program. It was announced today by Alfred Dickinson, Chairman of the Sixth Annual Tobacco Festival scheduled in Richmond Sept. 22-26.

In the past, covers of the program have carried a combination motif of the various events of the Festivals: Parade, Queen Contest, Football games and dances. Beginning this year, it was decided to perpetuate Tobacco's beauties by photographing the winners in full color for the annual Souvenir Program Cover.

Mr. Dickinson explained that this contest was open to all candidates except those chosen as Princesses, since they will be competing for the "Queen of Tobacco" title. Entries will be received at Tobacco Festival Headquarters, 206 E. Cary St., Richmond 19, Va., until Thursday midnight, July 22. These must include a full length picture in bathing suit or shorts, a portrait shot of head and shoulders, measurements of height-weight-hips-bust-waist, and coloring of hair and eyes. From the photographs received, the committee will select ten contestants to appear in person for final judging in Richmond late in July. Details to be announced before-hand. Pictures of the 1954 Cover Girl will then be made for the Souvenir Program.

More than 16 per cent of the cost of a $15,000 house goes for taxes, say construction experts. In a typical 1,100 square foot frame dwelling priced at $15,300, they estimate, composite taxes now amount to about $2,388.

TO THE PEOPLE OF VIRGINIA BEACH

I wish to take this opportunity to thank my many friends and loyal supporters for their work in my behalf during the city sergeant's campaign just completed. It was a great deal of pleasure meeting with so many of my good friends during the campaign. I will continue to conduct the affairs of my office in such a manner to justify the confidence the voters have placed in me. Let's all work to build a finer Virginia Beach.

What's New with Cows?

Catching up on my reading, I noticed three news items you might like to know about.

First, a farmer whose milk had a trace of garlic flavor is feeding his cows chlorophyll to sweeten their breaths.

Next, a college agricultural station has trained a herd to get milked when they are called by number. Seems 75 out of 80 cows learned their numbers in a few days. Guess the "dumb" five couldn't count that high. Final item—cows are getting "fingerprinted" for identification.

From where I sit, I hope there is as much progress being made with humans... especially in regard to tolerance. Whether it's a choice of a political party, a basketball team, or a favorite beverage, let's learn to live and let live more. You may ask for a soft drink after a hard day's work—I'll choose a refreshing glass of beer. But let's not try to "cow" the other fellow into our way of thinking!

TUESDAY'S VICTORY

The results of Tuesday's primary voting in Virginia Beach gives a clear indication of the feeling of the people of this community and their desire to continue the fine government it has enjoyed through the years. The victory was a smashing one for the organization but much more than that, it was a tribute to the thinking people of Virginia Beach and they are to be congratulated on their sound judgement.

The winner, H. E. Halstead, is to be congratulated and commended for the fine public service he has rendered this city. The voters expressed their appreciation of his efforts in Tuesday's balloting.

But, now that still another election is behind us this newspaper would like to repeat its feeling that was expressed after the councilmanic election in June. Let's vote for the candidate of our choice on election day and after the results are in let's all get behind the elected officials and let's all pull together for the progress and prosperity of the City of Virginia Beach, our home town.

PUBLIC RESENTMENT

The voters of Virginia Beach witnessed a low, underhanded trick in the recent city sergeant political campaign when, at the last minute, on the eve of election, the Barnes campaign committee published charges against the incumbent, H. E. Halstead. The charges were published by this group in an advertisement in the Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch on Monday afternoon, the day before the election.

Immediately, public resentment against such tactics rose to a point that it is felt brought out a larger vote than was anticipated. This newspaper is not boastful in pointing out that last week we alerted the voters to beware of last minute charges by the anti organization. We regret that we were correct in predicting this development but it was only natural to assume that such tactics would be employed after observing the methods of this disgruntled group of citizens over the past years. It is regrettable that the anti had to stoop so low in trying to defeat a proven public official.

The public was quick to react to these "dirty" tactics and they spoke at the polls on Tuesday by giving H. E. Halstead the largest vote total ever received by a candidate in a city election. We are proud of the fine victory and vote of confidence given Halstead and the organization, but we will always regret that there are some of our citizens who must resort to low, filthy political tactics such as we have just witnessed.

WE TIP OUR HAT

During the past several months this newspaper has published a weekly feature on its front page under the caption, "Tipping the Chapeau." This feature has each week singled out a location in Virginia Beach and the immediate area that has been particularly impressive in its beautification improvement and at the same time has complimented the owners who have been responsible for the improvement to the beautification of our city.

This feature is sponsored by the Council of Garden Clubs here and it has been this newspaper's happy privilege to cooperate with this civic group in publishing the article. The Council of Garden Clubs is as the name implies, an organization whose membership is made up of the many fine garden clubs that this area is blessed with and whose individual members have worked diligently and effectively in the general improved program to make this area the most beautiful in the State.

It was this same Council of Garden Clubs that worked so hard and so persistently to beautify Atlantic avenue in North Virginia Beach and that portion of the avenue in the vicinity of the Cavalier Hotel.

While each week the Council of Garden Clubs "Tips It's Chapeau" we want to take this opportunity to "tip our hat" to this fine group of garden club members who have contributed so much to our community.

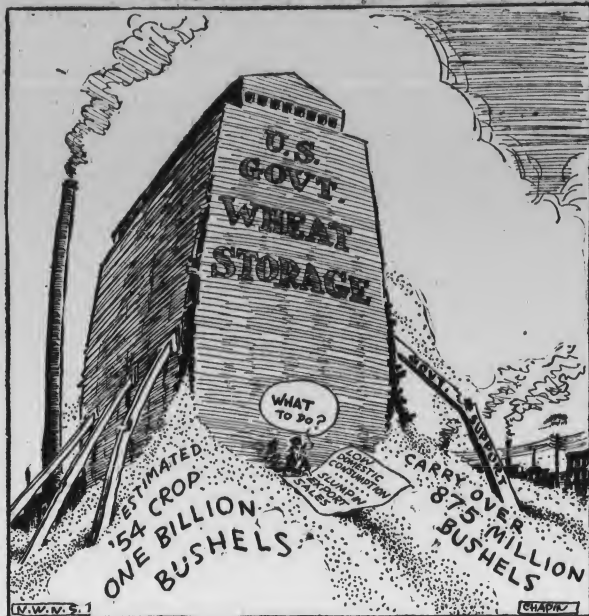

TRACTOR VS. HORSE

As everyone knows, the horse and the mule are no longer the staple sources of work on typical American farms. Agriculture has turned to machines—the remarkably effective products of the farm equipment industry.

A study made by economists at Cornell University shows the reason for the change. According to this, it costs $282 a year to maintain a team of horses on a farm, including feed, bedding, the labor required to care for the animals, and so on. So, as the Fowler, Kansas, News, observes, "When one considers the low cost of tractors and figures out the hourly cost of using a tractor, he can see that it compares favorably with the cost of using a team of horses, or even mules. That, in short, is the answer to the question of why farmers have been turning from horses and mules to tractors and mechanized equipment."

On top of that, there is simply no comparison between the amount of work modern farm equipment can do in a given period of time as compared with that of even the best and strongest animal teams. The tractors and all the other machines and attachments are in no sense a luxury. They are a necessity to profitable and business-like farming.

BURSTING AT THE SEAMS

SECOND CHANCE

A SHORT STORY

Biff tossed his baseball shoes into his locker and slammed the door angrily. Quickly, he jerked his sweater over his head and stomped out of the locker room. "Wow, is he sore!" Freddy Johnson broke the silence as he turned away from the door and reached into his locker for his T-shirt. "Well, let him be, him and his big deal. He had to see the pros. Yeah, had to skip school the day before our big game. The best pitcher Franklin High's ever had and he let us down. If he'd've pitched we'd've won. Well, I don't blame coach for benching him."

Biff's steps slowed as he rounded the corner of the stadium and headed home. "It isn't fair," he said aloud. "It just isn't fair." He lowered his head and viciously kicked a clod of dirt.

"Biff," Coach had said that morning when he'd been called into the principal's office. "No one player is as big as the whole team. You've broken the rules and that's all there is to it. I hope we can win the game this afternoon without you, but win or lose you're spending the afternoon on the bench."

Okay, so they hadn't won, they'd lost. That should show them all how good he was. Funny though, the fellows had been awful quiet, they seemed to blame him, not Coach, for the loss, acted as if he'd let them down. Huh, a lot he cared, a fat lot of difference it made to him. Suddenly Biff remembered last fall when his Dad had taken him to see a big league game in St. Louis. Dad had been a big leaguer, himself until he'd tried to stop a fast center drive and smashed all the bones in his left hand. What was it?

Dad had said then about the players having to pay fines for breaking rules? "The team's the most important thing, every great ball player knows that."

Biff remembered a lot of other things his Dad had told him about baseball. He remembered his first ball and glove on his fifth birthday. The help, the practice sessions and always the talks, "Play for the team. Play with the team. Nine men on the team."

It was dark when Biff walked up on the wide front porch of his home. Lights were burning in the dining room and he knew his family were at dinner. He wondered how he could face them all. He knew what Timmy, his little brother would be thinking. Lately he'd been in on the practice sessions and the talks with Dad. Gaudy he opened the front door and slipped into the entrance hall. He went straight upstairs to his own room and threw himself across the bed. "What a dope I've been. Big, strong Biff Elliott, rules aren't for me, on no, I'm the star pitcher. Franklin High couldn't play ball without me. Nuts, what a dope." Biff had lost track of the time so he didn't know how long he'd been in his darkened room when he heard a light knock at the door and his Dad's voice softly calling his name. "Biff, Biff, are you asleep? May I come in a minute, son?"

Here it was, here came what he'd known all along would have to come and what he'd been dreading. "Yes sir, come in."

His Dad looked a little tired, Biff thought, and a little sad as he switched on the desk lamp and sat on the edge of the bed. "Well, son, Franklin lost a tough one today."

"Dad, Dad, I'm sorry. I've been such a darn fool." All the remorse that had built up in Biff since leaving the locker room earlier seemed to burst out and somehow he knew his Dad understood how he felt.

"Maybe benching you was a little rough just for breaking one rule. You know I wanted to give this one just as much as anybody, Biff, but you've got to remember that no one player is as big as his team. We're still in the running, son. If we can win next week's game we can still win the pennant. What do you say?"

"I say we'll whip the pants off 'em, Coach. Just wait and see."

Huge Exhibit Of Farm Equipment At State Fair

The Farm Implement and Equipment Show of the 1954 STATE FAIR OF VIRGINIA to be held here September 24 - October 2, will occupy over a million square feet of outdoor space on the huge fairgrounds, J. A. Mitchell, General Manager, said today.

The largest single display will be a factory exhibit by the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., that will cover 60,000 square feet and be located on the main entrance mall. Many new and different types of implements will be included in this exhibit.

Mitchell said that the total value of the farm machinery to be on display will be well over a million and a half dollars. All major companies will be represented. Included will be all kinds of tractors from the midsize garden variety to the biggest thing on rubber tires. There will be the newest in dairy equipment, terracing and drainage, hay baling and the like. Silos and irrigation systems will be included.

The Farm Implement and Machinery Show at the STATE FAIR OF VIRGINIA has been acclaimed by exhibitors as the biggest and most complete exhibited at any state fair in the East.

In addition to farm machinery, there will be wood cutting and sawing machines, logging equipment and refrigerating systems, Mitchell added.

The tremendous increase in farm mechanization during the past nine years, brought about by the scarcity of farm labor and the necessity of greater production, has spurred the manufacturers of farm equipment to develop and produce better models and new types of farm tractors and implements designed to reduce labor and increase farm production at lowest operating cost. With all this new equipment manufacturers and dealers are eager to display and demonstrate their wares so that thousands of Virginia farmers can visualize the equipment available to them.

Along with the farm equipment display and of special interest will be the 4th Annual Atlantic States, 4-H Club Tractor operators contest to be held in the Special Events area. This annual event has reached a National level, with fifteen contestants from Maine to Florida competing.

"That Makes It Quite Clear. Many of us are slow on posting up on Einstein's new theory because we haven't yet got a clear idea of his first one. A western professor can help us in this respect."

ALTERNATIVE IS OFFERED TO AVOID APPREHENSION

Recent developments have given new significance to the statement of Secretary Dulles several months ago that we may have to reappraise our foreign policy.

News dispatches have indicated that the French have intentions and purposes given up the fight in Indo-China. Whether or not they can salvage anything at the conference table remains to be seen but Communists seldom make concessions except to superior force. The Communists have spent helping the French in that war has gone down the drain. Recent conferences among our Asian allies concerning a new line of defense against Communism extending from Japan through the Philippines to Australia have produced no tangible results, as is indicated by the statement of the Premier of New Zealand advocating admission of Red China statements issued after the conference between Sir Winston Churchill and President Eisenhower threw little light on the tenor of their private conversations and did little to offset the speech of Foreign Minister Eden in the House of Commons before coming to Washington in which the conclusion that they have no adequate defense against destruction if there is another world war and they are unwilling to take a stand which they feel risks touching off such a conflict.

France and Italy continue to hold back on the question of the CMC which was designed to provide a unified military force in Western Europe. This inaction has prevented the forming of ten German divisions and the EDC program in Germany was the key to any effort to place to strengthen the barrier against Communism in Europe.

The net result of all of this is that although since World War II we have appropriated sixty billion dollars with the hope that we could develop allies in all of the free parts of the world we find the United States in the position of a leader without followers. The London Times said in a recent editorial that the admission of Red China to the United Nations was a legal and not a moral question. But the hands of the Chinese Communists are dripping with the blood of American boys in Korea and that, to me, involves a moral and not a legal question. Communities already in the United Nations have made a farce of that organization from the standpoint of presenting unprovoked aggression and the admission of another Communist nation will merely prove the statement of my grandfather that "the tendency of everything is to be more so."

It is my deliberate opinion that if our nation joins an international program of appeasing Communism the free world is doomed. I had hoped that the other free nations would recognize this danger and stand beside us, but if they do not I believe we still have an alternative better than appeasement to prevent a third world war. That is to build as rapidly as possible during the next three years a fleet of not less than six hundred B-52 bombers capable of flying to Russia from bases we own with any type of bomb we desire, returning to our own bombers would cost possibly four billion dollars but that is a small fraction of the amount we already have spent in an effort to obtain dependable allies. We still have in our foreign aid program more than ten billion dollars of unexpended funds, not counting the three and a half billion the President is requesting this year. Perhaps we should include in our reappraisal of foreign policy the question of whether or not some of that money might better be spent on a strategic air force which will make plain to the Communist world that if the Communists start world war III they can't win it.

The only bright spot on a dark horizon is the commencement of a religious revival in Europe. It would signify a turn of the tide. In the meantime I can't trust co-existence with out-laws except under the protecting arm of a strong police force.

SCANNING the NEWS

Congressional study of atomic policy triggered off a chain reaction of lobbying which many legislators regard as one of the most interesting pressure "explosions" in years.

The blow-up involves the peacetime use of atomic energy. More specifically, it concerns provisions regarding patenting of peacetime atomic projects, as contained in the legislation whittled into final shape by the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

The bill, as it was sent before the Committee for final mark-up, would restore to ordinary patent operation all peacetime atomic development, allowing inventors to receive exclusive rights of 17 years' duration. Military weapons would be excluded.

A growing coalition of electric companies and their allies threaten to kill a sizeable piece of "free atomic energy" and "strengthen free enterprise." The opposing bloc, apparently smaller, says that it would lead to an atomic energy monopoly dominated by big corporations now working on industrial atomic projects.

One of the channels used by the electric utilities in their drive for business development of the atom is the Public Information Program, designed to "tell the story of inventor-owned utilities in simple terms so the people can decide the issues in the fight against socialization."

More than 75 electric utilities are members, and PIP is directed by top private power officials. Its work is carried on through the facilities of Rosell and Jacobs, public relations firm with headquarters in Omaha, Nebraska.

Utilizing "every medium of public information," PIP is now in forming companies, their employees and the public of the importance of private atomic development. Under PIP's direction, Central Survey, Inc., of Shenandoah, Iowa, conducted a public opinion survey on the proposals to amend the Atomic Energy Act. Results of the survey, declared PIP, showed the public to be "largely unaware of proposals to amend the Atomic Energy Act to permit greater business participation."

The industry's effort to inform the public and, indirectly, Congress, stresses such points as: "Greater atomic development through business participation will strengthen national security."

The government's present monopoly gives it too much power over economic development of different areas of the country.

It takes private industry to do a big job like atomic development.

Public power, labor and scientific groups are opposed to the industrial drive for peacetime control of the atom. They say atomic power might be monopolized in such a way as to abolish the practice of giving preference to public bodies in power distribution. They feel atomic development should be on a public basis for the benefit of taxpayers who have already $12 billion dollars invested in atomic development.

They are coordinating their campaign against "an atomic giveaway" through an information-lobby program, the Electric Consumers Information Committee, a committee of Washington representatives of labor farm power organizations, whose major purpose is to stimulate "strong organized grass-roots" lobbying.

Thousands Benefit From The

'Build America Better' Drive

Many thousands of American families enjoy better housing today from results attained in the initial phase of the Relators' Build America Better drive. Fritz B. Burns, Los Angeles, chairman of the Build America Better Council of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said today in reporting to the Council he heads:

"Reports on programs that were started in 1952 or later." Mr. Burns said, "show that in 93 cities they have attained the rehabilitation of 34,486 dwellings and the demolition of 2,858. This takes no account of houses under way in programs started prior to 1952. Examples of the latter include 9,625 dwellings rehabilitated and 1,030 demolished in the Realtor-initiated program of Charlotte, N. C.; 17,723 rehabilitated and 1,941 demolished in Atlanta; 3,346 rehabilitated and 300 demolished in Durham; some 18,000 units rehabilitated in Baltimore.

"Other cities which are piling up impressive records in Realtor-supported rehabilitation programs include Asheville, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Chicago, Cincinnati, Corpus Christi, Denver, Kansas City, Mo., Los Angeles, Miami, Newark, New Orleans, Norristown, Pa., Omaha, Pasadena and Roanoke.

"A total of 191 communities in 44 states are now engaged in enforcement of city ordinances that require housing to meet adequate reasonable, present-day standards of health, safety, and sanitation. This kind of local law enforcement requires property owners, at their own expense, to make repairs or improvements needed to comply with ordinance provisions, or to demolish structures that are unfit for rehabilitation. This is an all-time high for this kind of law enforcement in America.

"The new drive for neighborhood conservation," Mr. Burns said, "is to support the concentration of housing code enforcement neighborhood by neighborhood, and in each neighborhood to have its own coordinating committee to schools, parks, streets, and other municipal facilities; replanning, rezoning, and replating of vacant sites with removal of land uses that prevent the improvement of neighborhood environment; and attracting new construction on available vacant sites in the neighborhood."

"Realtors seek these objectives by leading or cooperating in local drives to support municipal officials in launching aggressive programs."

"Some communities are beginning to coordinate one or more elements of complete neighborhood conservation with the enforcement of minimum housing standards. For example, in El Paso 245 housing code enforcement actions were accompanied by 43 blocks of street paving, 32 blocks of alley paving, installation of street lights, plus sewer improvements, and expenditure of about $100,000 in park and playground improvements in the areas being improved."

The pending housing Act of 1954, Mr. Burns said, was written in awareness of the new trend on the part of the cities to use their local powers in direct attack on slum, blight, and unfit housing conditions. Some of its most important provisions are designed to encourage this urban renewal movement, and they can be expected to move the work into a much broader area when the new legislation goes into effect.

4-H CLUB NEWS

"13 4-H Club Members Attend VPI 4-H Short Course"

During the week of June 21st through the 26th approximately 1,000 4-H club members attended the State 4-H Club Short Course held on the campus of VPI. Of these 1,000 club members 13 were from Princess Anne plus two All Stars attending with the Assistant County Agent from the County. These 1,000 4-Hers represented over 60,000 club members throughout the State of Virginia.

The club members attending a very busy and interesting schedule awaiting them at VPI. On Monday the 21st the club members met with those from Norfolk County to journey to Blacksburg, the land of their Landgrant College. After arriving at VPI the club members registered, had supper in the college dining hall, and then were launched on the first of a full week of activities. Mentioning a little of the first nights program were Vesper Services with Paul Derringer, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of VPI as the speaker. Jack Good, President of the States 4-H Club Short Course greeted the club members to the "4-H Short Course and introduced Doctor Walter S. Newman, President of the college who gave the welcome address. Mr. W. H. Daugherty, Associate Director of the Agricultural Extension Service gave the purpose of the 4-H Short Course and roll call of all the counties present.

It would be impossible to write down the many activities that club members engaged in during that week. Let's look at a few of the many activities that did go on. Usually speaking, the mornings were filled with Assembly Programs and Instruction classes. Classes were taught by County Agents and College Professors on subjects ranging from 4-H Activities, World News, Folk Game

Leadership, Field Crop Production, Dairy Production, Livestock Production to Social Courtesy. There were classes to fit and suit every individual's desire.

The afternoons were filled with many activities so that club members could choose the activity that they desired. Also in the afternoon were the various contests that were held. On Tuesday afternoon four groups toured the VPI campus. The Public Speaking Contest for boys was held. The Share the Fun Qualification Contest in which Jenny Pat Hudgins and Doris Humphries competed was held. Other happenings were Canning Demonstrations, Laundry Demonstrations, Egg Grading Contest, Sheep Shearing Contest, Dairy Judging, Livestock Judging, and Poultry Judging. On Wednesday afternoon some of the major activities that were not conducted the previous day were Public Speaking Contest for girls, Home Improvement Demonstration, Bread Demonstration, Dairy Foods Demonstration, and Tractor Operators Contest. Thursday afternoon were continuations of contest started on the other days. Friday afternoon the Annual 4-H Tea was held with all 4-H Club Members, Leaders, 4-H All Stars, and Extension Personnel were cordially invited. Then Friday evening at the All Star Ceremony Miss Jacqueline Carson of Lynnhaven was taken into the 4-H AM Stars. Following the ceremony a Progressive Party was held for everyone attending the Short Course.

Saturday morning after breakfast, we boarded the bus for a fine and enjoyable trip back home.

To mention some of the individual honors of our folks, Bob Ed Charles, won the State Award for his Home Grounds Beautification Project. Bob Ed has done and is doing a wonderful job in landscaping the grounds of his home. Pat Lupton received the Odeum Award for her outstanding accomplishment with the Goemsey breed of cattle in her dairy project. Jenny Pat Hudgins and Doris Humphries competed in the Share the Fun Program. Walter Humphries attended with a State scholarship in garden. Sylvia Miller and Pat Lupton were to judge in the State Poultry Contest but could not judge because our other two members of the team failed to go to the Short Course.

Other 4-H club members from Princess Anne to attend were Marjane Wright, Judy Dorer, Helen Smith, Richard Nesbitt, and Billy Oliver.

All the club members attended must have had a wonderful time because they are all looking forward to going back again next year. Some of you club member that have not been to the Short Course may want to go within the next few years. For you folks that want to attend, my one suggestion for you is to do a good job with your present 4-H activities now and work towards going to the Short Course next year.

"4-Hers Attend 4-H Camp at Camp Vassar"

Following the week of the Short Course, at VPI some of our club folks want on to their 4-H Camp at Virginia Beach. This is a Camp that is enjoyed by all, especially the Leaders and Agents. At our Camp last week we had approximately 120 4-H club members with about 20 leaders and sponsors 4-H club members attending from Princess Anne were Fred Cox, Johnny Williams, Johnny Mayotte, Jimmy Laughlin, Aubrey Watts, Barbara Watts, Joy Joyner Patricia Ann Miner, Pat Ann Daugherty, Deanna Cox, Jeanette Cox, Marjane Wright, Pat Kilmon, Dotty Nelson, Barbara Halstead, Carolyn Clark, Martha Brubaker, and Connie McClannan. Helen Smith and Pat Lupton served as Leaders at Camp and did a very fine job of working with and leading their fellow club members. Upon arriving at Camp Monday afternoon all club members were assigned to cabins and to colonies. These colonies competed against each other throughout the week in various activities that they were engaged in. To start off with a day activity the club members arose at 6:45 in the morning, cleaned their cabins and then attended flag raising ceremonies. After flag raising, breakfast was served. After that all members who were engaged in some type of cleaning up around the Camp such as in the dining hall, bath houses, grounds, and recreational hall. Then all colonies engaged in either volleyball, or soft ball and from there on to the bench for swimming periods. After swimming each colony had their colony meetings where they planned their night programs. After lunch the colonies rotated in handicraft work and bird study. Handicraft consisted of making bird houses, billboards, and other picture tooling. After handicraft back to the beach again for swimming until about 5 in the afternoon. After supper, Vesper Services were held followed by citizenship program and then the Evening Program put on by the club members themselves. After the Evening Program lights were out at 10 and sleep until 6:45.

This is a busy day for all, but me that is certainly enjoyed by all and is a part of the 4-H club program that club members attending are to add to the club members having a good time. The fellowship with club members from other clubs gave them a lot of ideas on how to better conduct the individual program work and also their club activities. There is another purpose in this Camp to add to the club members having a good time. These folks are taught in such a manner so that they can go back to their clubs and teach to their fellow club members the recreation that they have engaged in the camp.

The two weeks of trips for 4-H club members are over now but we have two weeks for the farmers to look forward to. Our Beltsville Tour and our annual visit to VPI for the Institute of Rural Affairs. We hope that we will have as enjoyable a time with our farmers as we did with our 4-H club members.

of restrictive controls on the smaller, family-size farms. Department officials recognize that increases in pasture and hay crops, encouraged under the program, might have some effect eventually on livestock, including dairy cows. They point out, however, that any net increase would probably come slowly.

A similar but somewhat more limited allotment-compliance program was announced initially by the Department last October 8, but it was later withdrawn because of the fact that fall-seeded crops were already planted. At that time, it was announced that cross-compliance with all allotments on a farm was felt to be in the interests of sound program administration under the existing laws, and that consideration would be given the establishment of such requirements for future production.

GAME COMMISSION MEETING IN ARLINGTON

The Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries held a recent meeting at Arlington, for the purpose of giving the interested public in southwest Virginia an opportunity to meet with the Commission and discuss wildlife problems in that area of the state. Approximately 50 representative citizens of southwest Virginia met with the Commission and discussed seasons and bag limits on game and the construction of public fishing ponds in that area. The Commission finds it valuable to hold regional meetings and expects to hold another meeting at Harrisonburg sometime in the early fall.

Members of the Commission which met in southwest Virginia took advantage of the opportunity to visit the smallmouth and largemouth bass hatcheries in Smyth County.

SUSPECT ARRESTED NEAR STILL SITE

Daniel Elbert White, Negro, 31, of 1077 East Princess Anne Road, was arrested early Tuesday by Federal and State revenue agents on whiskey charges.

White was captured near the site of a large still in a wooded area near Oceana. The still and 4,000 gallons of mash were destroyed. White was given a hearing before United States Commissioner Harry A. Brinkley and his bond was set at $1,000.

Marine Air Reserves To Train At NAS

One hundred and ten Marine Air Reserve recruits from four bases in the nation-wide Marine Air Reserve Training Command, Norfolk Naval Air Station today.

Recruits will come to the Norfolk command from Anacostia, Washington, D. C.; Willow Grove, Pennsylvania; and Niagara Falls, New York.

The thirty days training will cover arms and equipment, combat conditioning, marksmanship, combat principles and map reading, chemical warfare, military customs and disciplinary matters, close order drill, the mission and history of the Marine Corps and other basic military subjects.

The primary objective of the training is to streamline the indoctrination training of the large number of recruits who join Marine Air Reserve squadrons at the end of each school year. Ordinarily, a recruit would have to attend a one week training period, monthly, for a period of seven and one-half months to complete the equivalent course of instruction,

Upon completion of the training, the recruits will have qualified for promotion to private-first class and will begin "on-the-job" training in a Marine aviation specialty with their reserve squadrons during 15 days annual maneuvers, August 15 to 29 at the Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, California together with 16 other squadrons from east of the Mississippi river.

At the conclusion of the maneuvers at El Toro the men will return to their home bases with their squadrons and attend regular training sessions at their home stations one weekend each month.

The time spent as Marine Air Reservists until these men are called to serve their two years of active duty under Public Law 51 will be deducted from the six years reserve time required under that law.

Drama Play Set For Local Group

Theatre-Go-Round switches over from farce comedy to stark, shocking drama for its fourth production of the season, presenting "The Striker" Tuesday through Sunday, July 20-25.

"The Striker" is Joseph Kramm's Pulitzer Prize-winning Broadway hit play of 1932. One of the most gripping dramas of recent years, it tells the story of a man caught in the coils of a wife so hypocritical and unscrupulous that she holds over his head the threat of continued confinement to a mental institution as the only alternative to giving up his happiness and spending his life in a loveless bond.

Romeo Muller, a favorite actor with Theatre-Go-Round audiences for the last four seasons, and this year's director, will make his first appearance of the 1934 season in an acting part, appearing in the leading male role. Playing opposite him is Paulette San Marchi, who won critical favor in "Affairs of State" and "Angel with the Big Big Eyes" earlier this season.

"A Girl Can Tell," a new comedy by F. Hugh Herbert, author of the famous "The Moon Is Blue," continues through Sunday of this week. Show time is 8:45 p. m. and reservations may be made by telephoning 2790.

PVT. Jack C. Reavis, 20, whose wife, Aloria, lives on Route 1, Virginia Beach, Va., is serving with the 2d Armored Division in Germany.

The "Hell on Wheels" division, which spearheaded the World War II drive into Germany, is now training vigorously as part of the U. S. Seventh Army.

Private Reavis, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Reavis, Route 1, Hamptonville, N. C., is assigned to the division's 124th Ordnance Battalion.

"HE GIVETH HIS BELOVED SLEEP"

"I dread going to bed! I know that I shall not sleep," said a nervous, worried-looking woman. "I have taken so much sleeping medicine that it has no effect on me any more, so I may as well content myself to lie awake."

It is a pity that people learn the use of such drugs, or that they are often obtained without the prescription of a physician. While most of the hypnotics are not habit-forming in the sense that the narcotics are, still they can do irreparable injury to nerves and those who are particularly susceptible to their influence.

There are various causes for sleeplessness. Any emotional upset, fear, anger, grief or disappointment, tends to drive away sleep. Also, the habit of taking problems to bed to be thought over, or business to be straightened out, causes wakefulness. He who would learn to sleep like a child must ponder the reasons why. The child does not worry, neither does he carry his griefs to bed with him. He plays hard in the open air and is healthily tired when night comes.

If he has wise caretakers, he is given an early supper which is simple and nourishing. He sleeps in a cool, well-ventilated room. His bed clothes are light and adapted to the season. He is happy for he is surrounded by love. If he is troubled, he can take his little worries and problems to wise and sympathetic parents, who will smooth them all out. He does not fear insecurity, for he knows that he will be provided for.

Here is a lesson that grown-ups may well take to heart. Just as the child trusts his parents and finds security and happiness, so must those who have reached maturity trust their Heavenly Father. If, they, too, would experience the sense of security and peace that is characteristic of childhood.

Though the little ones cling to father and mother in simple faith to make their requests known and they do not always get what they ask for, they are content because father and mother know best. So love and trust in our Heavenly Father enables us to confront the terrors, sorrows, and disappointments of life without bitterness.

Only those who are at peace can conquer disturbing emotions and triumph over them. Only those who are at peace with themselves and with the world enjoy peaceful, undisturbed sleep. The anxiety and fear which lead to wakefulness are often due to physical causes. Sometimes it is induced by nervousness, caused from indigestion. The physician should be consulted. Sometimes an uncomfortable bed, a poorly ventilated room, or discomfort hinders sound and restful sleep.

Learn to relax. It is said that "two hours of sound sleep and six or eight hours of relaxation" enables poor sleepers to carry on their usual work.

"Of all the thoughts of God that are

Born upward unto souls afar
Among the Psalmist's music deep,
Now tell me if that any is,
For gift or grace, surpassing this,
He giveth His Beloved Sleep?"

ATOMIC AGE STUDENT SHORT-CHANGED

Few Qualified to Teach Physics And Chemistry

Boys and girls enrolled in the schools of the United States may be shortchanged in their study of physics and chemistry in this atomic era.

This was the prospect outlined here in a report published in the Journal of Teacher Education which reveals that only 864 teachers qualified to teach physics or chemistry will be graduated from all the colleges and universities of the country this June. Furthermore, the potential supply of teachers of any science, has dropped 56.3 per cent since 1950.

So says the National Education Association in an annual survey of teacher supply and demand for 1954. The survey was made by the NEA Research Division for the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards.

The report, based on a survey of the 1200 colleges and universities throughout the nation which prepare teachers, is one in a series sponsored each year since 1948 by the Commission in an effort to help get enough qualified teachers for U. S. schools.

Other teaching fields hard hit so far as the number of eligible trained teachers are concerned include industrial arts, men's physical and health education, social science, mathematics, agriculture. The supply of potential teachers of these subjects has dropped more than 50 per cent in four years in each case.

Pointing out that 50,000 new high school teachers will be needed to man school posts in the coming school year, the report notes that only about 50,000 will be graduated this June and that many of them will never seek or accept a teaching position.

This comes in the face of a coming sensational groundswell in high school enrollments. The extra five million boys and girls who have been bursting elementary school seams in the past seven years are now beginning to push into the junior high school grades.

Concluding that when there are three students in the high schools now, there will be four students in 1960 and five students in 1965, the report goes on: "For several years the high schools have been riding along on an even keel, with little change in total number of students to be educated, and with the supply of qualified potential candidates emerging from the colleges each year far outnumbering those prepared for elementary school service. . . . Now the scene is changing rapidly: the supply of prospective high school teachers coming from the colleges has been cut almost in half in a brief four-year period, and the high school enrollment is at the point of beginning an increase which, within the next five years, will be sensational."

The survey reports that in a followup of 1953 teacher graduates of colleges in 13 states and

Travel Council Publications Aid Virginia Visitors

Growers Join Local Wheat Referendum

On Friday, July 23, Princess Anne County wheat growers will join other growers throughout the State and nation to decide whether or not the wheat marketing quota program will continue in operation for the 1955 crop.

In accordance with law, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson recently proclaimed marketing quotas for the 1955 wheat crop subject to approval by growers in a nation-wide referendum. At least two-thirds of the wheat growers voting in the referendum on July 23 must approve wheat marketing quotas if they are to go into effect. W. W. White, chairman of the ASC committee explained, if the quota program is approved growers who plant within their 1955 acreage allotments will be eligible to market the wheat free of a marketing penalty.

Lower Death Toll Hailed as Encouraging

A reduction of 10 Virginia traffic deaths during June, when compared with June, 1953, saw the Commonwealth reach the year's halfway mark with the lowest toll for six months since 1948, Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Superintendent of State Police and Executive Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee announced today.

Subject to some slight upward revision due to late reports or deaths of persons now carried in an injured status, July began with 342 deaths which represent 82 less than for the same period of last year. Six-month totals for past years were 424 for 1953, 422 for 1952, 440 for 1951, 400 for 1950, 359 for 1949 and 306 for 1948. In 1948, 730 people were killed and today traffic volumes are some 47 percent higher than in that year.

In making his allotment proclamation, Secretary Benson stated that: "The long range interest of agriculture and the national economy will best be served when we can have less - and not more - government regulation and control." He added, however, that under present conditions "we have no immediate choice. With approximately a two-years' supply of wheat expected to be on hand when this year's crop is harvested, there is no question at all about the requirement for marketing quotas and the establishment of a national wheat acreage allotment at the level prescribed by law."

GROWERS JOIN LOCAL WHEAT REFERENDUM

On Friday, July 23, Princess Anne County wheat growers will join other growers throughout the State and nation to decide whether or not the wheat marketing quota program will continue in operation for the 1955 crop.

In accordance with law, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson recently proclaimed marketing quotas for the 1955 wheat crop subject to approval by growers in a nation-wide referendum. At least two-thirds of the wheat growers voting in the referendum on July 23 must approve wheat marketing quotas if they are to go into effect. W. W. White, chairman of the ASC committee explained, if the quota program is approved growers who plant within their 1955 acreage allotments will be eligible to market the wheat free of a marketing penalty.

Mr. White also explained that his favorable vote in the referendum would mean that growers who exceed their 1955 wheat allotments will be subject to penalty equal to 45 percent of parity on May 15, 1955 on excess wheat production. The penalty on the 1954 wheat crop is $1.12 per bushel. If growers reject wheat quotas in the referendum, there will be no marketing penalty in effect. For purposes of price support the 1955 wheat program is somewhat stricter than that of the 1954 program.

To be eligible for price support on any crop produced on the farm in 1955, the producer must comply with all acreage allotments established for his farm for that year. On farms where the crop allotments call for a diverted acreage of more than 10 acres, there will be established a total acreage allotment for the farm for all allotment crops within which the producer must plant to be eligible for price support.

In making his allotment proclamation, Secretary Benson stated that: "The long range interest of agriculture and the national economy will best be served when we can have less - and not more - government regulation and control." He added, however, that under present conditions "we have no immediate choice. With approximately a two-years' supply of wheat expected to be on hand when this year's crop is harvested, there is no question at all about the requirement for marketing quotas and the establishment of a national wheat acreage allotment at the level prescribed by law."

Referring to the "cross-compliance" requirement, making it necessary for the farmer to stay within all acreage allotments established for his farm to be eligible for price support.

'Perpetual Freshness' Secret of Success For "Common Glory"

By Robert A. Wilson

Perhaps one of the more important reasons why Virginia's great outdoor drama of the American Revolution, "The Common Glory," continues to be a successful attraction year after year is the ability of its producers to make it fresh and different each season. With the opening of its eighth Summer presentation in Williamsburg last week, the play sets new high in this respect.

The first night audience of some 1,200 persons came to the beautiful waterfront Lake Matoka amphitheatre to witness Paul Green's version of Thomas Jefferson and other Virginia patriots' roles in the fight for American independence. They saw that story powerfully told, and set along with it, highly polished performances by a new "little symphony" orchestra, the new nationally known a capella choir and a splendid and talented company of dancers.

The eighth season's presentation is more radically different than ever before because of the new orchestra, musical score, a re-written second act, new staging and new costumes. The "little symphony" lived up to its pre-season descriptions of possessing some of the finest student musicians in the east. The use of the orchestra, instead of an organ, is particularly effective because the group is actually a part of many scenes. The orchestra wears costumes of the period and uses only those instruments that would have been found in a similar group playing in the 18th century.

There will be differences of opinion about the new second act. Critics already have hailed it, however, as "vastly improved" and "powerful and with enormous significance." The famous Jamestown scene has been completely revised.

There is much new staging. One scene which has been considerably improved on this standpoint is the dramatic Yorktown battle where the Continentals storm the British positions while a ship of the French fleet sails across the lake's waters in the background.

Costumes seem to be more brilliant than ever as the entire company, larger than ever before, fills the gigantic stage in several scenes.

For continuing to make "The Glory" a source of inspiration to all who see it, an artistic triumph and an object of pride for Virginia, as well as outstanding entertainment, we salute Director Howard Scammon and all of his staff. This season which runs from June 30 through September 5 promises greatness in the best tradition of "the Glory."

Begin the Day With God

I met God in the morning.
When my day was at its best,
And His presence came like sunrise.
Like glory, filled my breast.
All day long this presence lingered,
All day long He stayed with me;
And I sailed in perfect calmness
O'er a very troubled sea.
Other ships were torn and battered,
Other ships were sore distressed;
But the winds that seemed to drive them,
Brought to me, a peace and rest.
Then I thought of other mornings,
With a keen remorse of mind,
When I, too, had loosed the mornings
With his presence left behind.
So I think I've found the secret
Learned through many a troubled way:
You must meet God in the morning
If you want Him through the day.

Joan Fontaine gives the performance of her career in "Tea

With Sympathy." She plays a tender, understanding college professor's wife and because of its delicate situations et cetera the part could have been otherwise except for Joan's wonderful interpretation. She wears her hair simply parted in the middle with a low chignon at the nape of her neck. She is a plainly beautiful woman and gives so much of herself across the footlights, so effectively, that it is sheer delight to watch her.

Mrs. Anna Rosenstock, head of Rosanna Knitted Sportswear, is the only woman who established, developed and still manages her multi-million dollar business without benefit of men, except as employees. In 1947, the first post-war collection of knitted dresses, with five styles, were introduced by Mrs. Rosenstock. Thirty-five years ago, Rosanna—as all in the fashion world fondly call her—was left a widow with no assets. She had a great ability for hard work and a flair for knowing what would be good. She began with a small sweater business and in 1953, knitted dresses accounted for about fifty percent of the more than $7,000,000 volume of the Rosanna business! She's wonderfully happy and jolly woman but with it all a hard-thinking business executive.

Ann Williams-Heller, a small, dainty little woman, is the author of many food books and cookbooks as well as a food consultant to big corporations. Her book "A Reader's Cook Book" with charts, maps, suggestions et cetera for the calorie intake, is a "must" for men and women dieters. She conducts her business from her own home through the aid of the Manhattan phone-call-taking service and swears by the operators who take such pains to not only take her calls, when she's out, but to transact some of her business for her! She carries her "office" about with her in the brightest of red huge leather carryalls. It's so gay looking and yet full of everything Ann could possibly need from her office at home for a day-in-town of activities.

When Gypsy Rose Lee and her dramatic-star sister, June Haver, turned their beautiful New York town house open for a rummage sale a couple of weeks ago, shoppers were surprised to find that Gypsy and June had thrown in their faxes tops including everything from chic evening formal to fancy nylons that were "a bit

Lower Death

Pedestrian deaths continued down with 49 comparing well with the 117 for the first six months of last year.

Colonel Woodson warned against complacency and noted that the second half of the year invariably shows far more deaths than the first. "It is truly a condemnation of our civilization when we can point to 342 tragic, unnecessary deaths in only six months and call it a 'good' record," he said.

The safety official again praised the stern license-suspension laws achieved and the authorization of radar as a speed detection device. He felt that the psychological effect of the device, which did not go into use until July 1, was felt in past months and noted some 70,000 drivers with first convictions of speeding or reckless driving were very apprehensive as to receiving their second and final one.

"Best of all," he said, "I believe that a healthier public attitude is becoming more and more apparent. This has been shown by their elected representatives and a general trend towards voluntary obedience of traffic laws and more courteous driving."

der little bride wore a pale blue silk broadcloth short wedding gown, with a pale blue short veil. She carried a pale blue nosegay. Her attendants—eight of them—all wore identical short, full-skirted frocks of blue organdy and wore blue delphinium tiaras and carried blue flowers, mostly baby iris, in their bouquets. This blue wedding was rather startling to behold at first but the longer you viewed it the more pleasant-looking it became. At least, the young bride showed her individuality.

WHITE STOLDS—If any of you readers have been wondering what happened to the stole craze, you might like to know the white stole is back! In the "By The Beautiful Sea" audience, we counted eighteen stoles of white in the first fifteen rows downstairs in the theatre!

Unless a marketing card is presented at the time of sale, buyers are instructed to collect $1.12 per bushel penalty. All farmers who have harvested wheat within their farm's wheat allotment will be eligible for marketing card certifying that they have complied with their allotments. Those without cards will be charged the penalty fee on the assumption that they have harvested wheat in excess of their allotments.

Marketing cards must called for in person at the county ASC office or requested by letter to the county office by eligible farmers. In some cases where farmers overplanted and then cut the overplanted wheat for hay, plowed it under for green manure, or used it for some purpose other than wheat for grain to bring them wheat under compliance, a second check of the farm is necessary to confirm the use of the overplanted acres. Under such circumstances there may be some delay before a compliance card can be issued.

Egg Producers Caught In Squeeze

There's an egg price - feed cost" squeeze on, and Virginia's poultrymen are caught right in the middle.

Since January the price of eggs to Virginia producers has declined sharply, while the cost of poultry feed has just about maintained a status quo. This situation has cut deep into the profits of producers.

One suggestion for poultrymen who are looking for some relief from the squeeze: "Produce clean eggs."

From 10 to 25 per cent of the eggs produced are soiled or dirty when they are gathered. This percentage varies with conditions of poultry houses and nests. Eggs which have the internal characteristics of Grade A, but have soiled shells usually are sold as Grade C. This may mean a decrease of as much as one-third. Regardless of whether your egg buyer pays on a graded or ungraded basis, you will get a higher price for clean eggs.

Producing clean eggs means providing conditions that keep eggs clean. In most cases it involved very little extra time and expense. It merely means a change in customary practices. For instance:

Provide deep nests - 15 inches high with a 7- to 8-inch board along the front to keep the nesting material inside. Provide clean nests - fill them with 4 to 5 inches of fine, clean, absorbent material. Be sure there is enough nest space - allow one square foot of space to 5 or 6 hens. Gather eggs frequently - three times a day. Keep floors dry - prevent wet floor litter by proper ventilation, keep storms from blowing in open windows, and use guards over drinking fountains so the birds can't throw water on the litter while drinking.

Referendum

gible for price support, the Secretary said: "Neither is there any question about the need to require cross-compliance with established acreage allotments. It does not make sense to encourage the building of new problems through the unwise shifting of acres from one surplus crop to another."

In the referendum conducted a year ago, farmers approved marketing quotas by a 67 percent majority. By a special Act of Congress the national 1954 acreage allotment was 62 million acres. The 1955 national wheat allotment is 55 million acres which is the minimum allowed by law. Actually the nation's present wheat stocks are about sufficient for our domestic and export requirements for two years. If it were not for the minimum provision of the law, a national allotment of 19 million acres would be required.

Mr. Wallace states that voting places will be conveniently located and polls will be open from 8:00 A. M. until 5:00 P. M. on July 23. Also he states that producers will receive their 1955 wheat allotments prior to voting in the referendum. To be eligible to vote in the referendum, a producer must have a 1955 wheat allotment larger than 15 acres of must have interest in a wheat allotment larger than 15 acres. Also any producer who states to the referendum committee that he intends to produce more than 15 acres may be given an opportunity to vote.

Good Photography Featured by Aufenger Studios for Almost Half a Century

Aufenger Studio - has specialized in portraits for almost half a century and have established an enviable reputation for good photography. They take pride in their fine craftsmanship and this is proven in the fact that so many portraits, brides, wedding parties and such are featured in the newspapers carrying the by-line "AUFENGER."

Particular emphasis is placed on portraits of brides and wedding parties. Over the years they have developed a most complete bridal service to preserve through good photography the individuals and events encompassed in those very important and happy scenes. They begin with the engagement photograph and stress the kind of photography that since of years which comes only through years of experience - which will produce the best results. This means the satisfaction of having portraits of the best type and of additional importance the kind of photographs that can be reproduced in the newspaper with natural and attractive eye appeal. The portrait and pictures of groups in the newspapers if of great value in that they are seen by more people than those in the home. Relatives and friends who may not have been in attendance have the pleasure of in print what they might not have been able to witness in person.

The usual procedure for wedding sequences is that the bride, after selecting her gown goes, to the AUFENGER STUDIO for the first part of the important events to come. There she is assisted in dressing by an experienced and understanding consultant. Particular care is taken in the repacking of the wedding gown so that it will be just right for the wedding day. She has a choice from a wide variety of artificial bouquets for her use as well as the benefit of competent and experienced counsel in how to gain the most natural and becoming effect for the photograph. Every bride has a selection of twelve proofs to choose from.

Then on the day of the wedding two of the AUFENGER Studio staff attend the wedding. One will take all photographs, while the other will attend to the necessary arrangements of seeing to proper placing of groups and having clear access to them and most important the bride and others in party. By this method no important poses or scenes are missed. The photographer and assistant are both a cool and competent team who maintain their balance and are not given to becoming excited, although that is the expected and natural circumstance of those peoples participating and in attendance. A complete check of all equipment has been made prior to the photographer's arrival and every effort is made to insure that each operation will be smooth, natural and unaffected. This caution helps in giving a sense of ease to those present and allows the photographer to work efficiently and unhurriedly in photographing the individuals and groups. This avoids bothersome delays in the receiving line.

AUFENGER'S take pride in their established custom of not using flash bulbs in the Church, but use a time exposure. This means that there is no distraction from the sacredness of the ceremony and the results are far superior. Every attempt is made to stay in the background and at the same time be in such positions as to get the best possible candid of the wedding and other scenes in connection with the nuptials. There are always several dozen shots taken beginning at the time the bride is first dressed and continuing until she goes away. Of course consideration has not been wasted entirely of the very important groom. The results invariably give a complete pictorialization that will be preserved with pride. Wedding candid is very important to be made right at the time because those scenes once having taken place cannot easily be reposed and must be right the first time. A genuine leather album is included in all candid weddings. In order to be sure that all details are taken care of in their proper order it is advantageous to make appointments about four weeks in advance and avoid unnecessary delays in every manner possible. The AUFENGER Studio is located at 310 Boush St., Norfolk. An appointment may be arranged by telephoning 2-1144 if

Veterans Taking Full Advantage Of GI Bill

For the first time since the enactment of the Korean GI Bill two years ago, Veterans Administration said, more Korean veterans are in training than those enrolled under the original GI Bill.

While the great majority of World War II veterans in training have completed their programs and the numbers in training are dwindling fast, the number of Korean veterans in training has shown a steady increase, as more young veterans are released from active military service each month.

The number of post-Korean veterans who have taken education or training under the Korean GI Bill - Public Law 550 - in the past two years has passed the half-million mark, according to VA.

At the same time, the number of post-Korean veterans actually in training at the present time has mounted to approximately 300,000. By comparison, the number of World War II veterans in training under the original GI Bill has dropped to 235,000 and their enrollment figures are showing a steady decrease.

Census Quiz Seeks Data on Work Week

Special questions designed to provide information on the effect of the Independence Day holiday on the number of hours worked during the week of July 5 will be asked in the July Current Population Survey, according to Supervisor Robert L. Gaines of the U. S. Census Bureau's district office at Norfolk, Virginia.

The special questions will be asked for all persons who did any work at all during the week of July 5. The inquiries will cover whether or not these persons were off from work on the holiday. July 5, the number of hours they would have worked had it not been for the holiday, whether they were paid for time off on July 5, and whether they had to work longer hours than usual the rest of the week to make up for being off on the holiday.

The special questions are in addition to the regular inquiries on employment and unemployment which are asked each month in the Current Population Survey. Local interviews for the Current Population Survey are headed by Mrs. Geneva Thomas of Norfolk District Office. The survey will be conducted locally and in 229 other sections of the country during the week of July 12. Mrs. Thomas will enumerate in Virginia Beach and in Princess Anne County.

Tune in to Radio Station WAVY — 1350 on your dial — for the latest fashion news, interesting items about people, places, stuff and things, by Alice Brewer, White, each day, Monday through Saturday, 10-10:30 A. M. — NBC in Tidewater.

Are you planning lots of outdoor meals, porch or patio suppers? Maybe the great outdoors is calling you. Garlic, onion and celery are three flavors that are inseparably linked with outdoor cookery. Their savory aromas bring mouth-watering goodness to even the simplest of picnic fare. The next time you plan one of these meals, remember to use garlic salt, onion salt and celery salt and see what a difference it makes in the taste of the food.

Celery salt is made from ground celery seed, carefully blended with ordinary table salt. The garlic and onion are made from the vegetables themselves. They are finely chopped, dehydrated, and then mixed with the salt. The flavor is locked in during the dehydration process and stands ready to burst forth when even the smallest amount of liquid is added. The juice from the hamburger is sufficient to release the flavor.

Sprinkle on a succulent sirloin or pat into fillets of fresh-caught fish, one or more of the salts add this delectable savor with no waste of precious summer hours. A mere whisk of the handy shaker topped jar and the meats are seasoned and salted in one simple operation, no fuss, no bother, yet the job is done to perfection.

Meats are not the only place where these flavorful salts are useful. They add zest to tomato juice cocktails. They perk up the flavor of soups, whether homemade or canned. A dash of celery salt does wonders for olives and oysters. For salads you'll surely want to use them and savor salt, try that and see what a difference it makes in your salad. In meat, cheese or fish sandwiches, too, their fragrant tang is always a welcome addition. In the back yard on a camping trip or on the handy spice shelf in the kitchen these seasoning salts are as time-saving and as flavor giving as their cost is small. For a summer salad, marinate left-over cooked fresh vegetables for an hour or so in a spicy French Dressing liberally spiced with garlic salt. Drain them and add to crisp greens for a treat on a hot day.

The next time you plan to serve fish, try this. If you are rolling the fish in crumbs for either baking, broiling or frying blend a spoonful of garlic salt in with the crumbs. Onion or celery salt may be used in this same manner. It adds a delicious flavor and takes not a minute.

Charcoal Grilled Hamburgers

1 lb. ground lean lamb
Onion salt
Garlic salt
5 hamburger

Shape unseasoned ground lamb into 3-inch patties. Sprinkle both sides with seasoning salts. Place in a folding wire broiler. Place on hot charcoal grill. Cook until brown (15 to 20 minutes), turning to brown on both sides. Serve between hamburger buns. Yield: 5 servings.

Fish Kabobs

Cut fish steaks (salmon, halibut, or sword fish) in 1 1/2-inch cubes. Marinate 2 to 3 hours in the Marinade Fish Sauce given in recipe below. Then, string on metal skewers. Cook over hot charcoal until brown and the fish is flaky, when tested with a fork, (15 to 20 minutes), turning frequently to brown all sides. Purchase 1-1/2 pounds fish steaks to serve 6 people.

Marinade Fish Sauce

2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
2 tablespoons dried vinegar
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 teaspoon garlic salt
1-2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1-2 teaspoon ground thyme leaves

Combine all ingredients. Pour over fish. Marinate 2 to 3 hours in a covered bowl in the refrigerator. Yield: 1-3 cup.

MERRY MATRONS

NEW YORK — If it is left to pretty Pat Fender, of the British Travel Agency, all the merry matrons in America will be playing cricket! She has organized the first woman's cricket team in the U. S. and hopes, through her television appearances and movie-related spots, that women will take up cricket as a really good healthful, reducing fad. Pat's father is the "Babe Ruth" of cricket in England. You wear sleeveless shirts and shorts for playing.

Hannah Troy, famous American designer, has just celebrated her mother's eightieth birthday with a huge family party. At this party, there were ten daughter, daughters-in-law and a grand-daughter all wearing dresses, each in a different color combination - which had been knit by Hannah's Mom! Hannah paid around fifty hundred dollars for a knit fifty in Italy and her Mom saw it and made copies for the rest of "my tribe." She couldn't find Italian yarn to suit, so she bought up the Italian wool imported scarves and stoles she could find and unraveled them for knitting. She must be a wonderfully sweet and interesting Mom. Hannah was so busy telling her Albee about her talented mother that she hasn't mentioned the big medal Hannah was presented with from the Italian government because of fostering better relations in trade and (Continued on Page Three)

Looking for a delicious topping for puddings, cakes or pies? Sprinkle 1-4 teaspoon ground nutmeg over 1 cup shredded moist coconut and toss for a minute or so until the coconut is well distributed.

Omelet is always nice to have, but especially so if you've planned to have it with creamed cornmeal.

For dessert that's just a matter of minutes, melt some chocolate mint wafers in the top part of the double boiler and serve over pieces of pound cake, sprinkled with nuts.

Why not have a bowl of assorted fruit on a summer evening for dessert? You can have pineapple spears, strawberries and cherries. Serve with sweetened whipped cream or sour cream.

Now is the season for tomatoes, so why not hollow out some small creamed spinach? Cover with crumbled bacon and top with buttered crumbs. Bake for 10 to 15 minutes and you have a wonderful vegetable dish.

Place sweetened condensed milk, chocolate and water in top part of double boiler. Cook over rapidly boiling water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and no longer runs from spoon, about 5 to 8 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla. Fold on graham baking sheet. Blend in oats and raisins. Let stand 15 minutes. Drop by spoon. Bake in a moderately hot (350 degrees F.) oven until firm and bottoms lightly browned, about 10 minutes. Remove quickly from baking sheet.

NEW YORK — SALLY'S BEST HATS — Being a most romantic soul, Sally Victor has put plenty of romance into her new Fall hat Collection and taken her inspiration from Italy and Egypt. She has used elegant fabrics such as richly colored plushes, satin, skirt felts, wool jerseys and furs. She has fashioned elegant little helmets and notched pillboxes in the most fascinating embroidered, printed jerseys that are eye-catching at first sight. From the strolling players of Italy, in the olden days, Sally has borrowed romantic colors and lines and, if you can imagine the hats worn by Scaramouche, Pantaloon and Harlequin then you can have a pretty fair idea of the new Sally Victor Romantic Group. Her very soft Pantaloon berets, backswep and long are draped from a sort of top "knobhole," or are long on one side, of soft bright velvets or striped wool jersey. Noticeable was the scarcity of veils, fancy hatpins and simracks or quills in the Victor millinery. Line and fabric is the secret of the new Sally Victor elegance. Her happy use of two-tone fabrics is refreshingly done. Her sizes range from side-peaked caps to simply huge cocktail hats that resemble a Norman nun's coif. Her big hats are casual and elegant. Berets, which Sally Victor favors, are flat or undulating and some of them were as big as a brimmed hat!

EGYPTIAN INFLUENCE — The recent Egyptian discoveries have been inspiration for many designers in America. In jewelry, fabrics, accessories, coats and so on, Sally Victor has taken her new shapes and headings from the Egyptian era and the best are her Nubian caps which are worn straight across the brow with long sides and will look simply wonderful with the new long, slim Fall clothes. These exciting caps have been fashioned in fur, plush, feathers, satin or beads. One hair-hiding design, in deep red, had deep red feathers curving over the cheeks and was very exotic-looking. Another "conversation piece" was fashioned in white satin — a sort of Egyptian princess cap and on it, spunk in the middle of the forehead, was a mobile pearl danger ornament!

WONDERFUL FALL FABRICS — One's head swims with the beauty, and the manipulation, of the wonderful new Fall fabrics. Tweed, jersey and satin are the three outstanding fabrics that seem to have been used by every designer. For example, Sophie has designed a stunning cocktail dress of flecked tweed jersey with an interesting slashed-across neckline and long sleeves. Both the neckline and turn back cuffs of the sleeves are of champagne colored chiffon. Satin is also used plentifully as smart trimming or banding on tweeds. You'll be seeing tweed evening gowns as well as tweed daytime dresses and suits and coats. Satin in party separates will be most popular especially with the skirt one color, or shade and the blouse another. One short, formal by Richard Cole was of lush berry-red satin and cut just like a trench coat even to the rounded collar that turned up and the simply huge deep — patch pockets. Three-quarter sleeves and no trimming on this frock. But such an elegant fashion in all. The new jerseys are mighty deceiving. They look like one thing and feel entirely different! For example: tweed jersey feels like a pliable tweed and is realistically fleeced like tweed, too. Jerseys that are over-embroidered to look like wool plaids or elegant brocades are fabulous. You'll be correct in wearing jerseys for evening wear as well as for sports wear and casual wear, too. You'll simply love these three fabrics: tweed, jersey and satin — in their new Fall 1954 treatments and designs.

THE TREND IS ELEGANCE — As elegance is a major fashion trend, it was to be expected that elegance in luxurious fabrics would turn up at the press preview of Macy's Bride's Shop last week. A new de-lustered satin, and parchment satin that has the look but not the price of silk and almost "Stands alone," are two quite different bride's fabrics. Lace seemed to be just as popular and used in entire gowns or with satin or taffeta. New York shops still believe that the romantic bride wants a long dress and the elegant is floor length, even for an informal wedding. Trains extend to full cathedral length, to the shorter chapel type length, or some skirts sweep slightly for the grace of it. Several of the gowns had the covered-up look, while others were bare at the throat with short sleeves. A typically French bridal gown, delicately French lace, was lined with the magic Peltan for stiffness and had long sleeves and covered neckline. The headress with this gown was a Queen's four-pointed coif with kerchiefs of illusion forming a graceful short veil.

"Price Outlook For July Vegetables"

Ups and downs in the price field for various vegetables are forecast for July.

Lima bean prices should be steady at $2.25 to $2.50 per bushel for U. S. No. 1 Snap bean supplies from the late spring states, including Virginia, are likely to be up 14 per cent from 1953 and may cause price drops. Dry weather seems to be affecting the quality of the crop in the east.

Cabbage supplies for July are estimated at 5 per cent below average. There may be some price strengthening.

The mid-summer crop of cantaloupes is below last year by at least 2 per cent. But prices are down from 1953 but should stabilize near present levels this month.

Average of sweet corn is up about 20 per cent from 1953, but dry weather has cut yields and quality. Prices have dropped, but should stabilize near present levels for high quality corn.

There has been about a 4,000-acre increase in cucumbers in states marketing in July. This should increase production by 10 per cent, and prices are expected to drop.

Onion prices have been $1.50 to $2.00 per bushel. Well-stored onions may be sold for more. The crop is about 8 per cent below average and down 23 per cent from 1953.

Heavy supplies of peppers from North Carolina are expected to weaken present prices of $2.50 per bushel.

Prices of potatoes should stabilize and show some strength in July as demand is expected to exceed supply at present price levels for good quality.

Early sweet potatoes sold immature and uncured in July are expected to cause drops in price. Further declines are likely to occur in August and September. Growers are advised to cure and store Porto Rican type sweets for sale out of storage in the spring of 1955.

Excessive supplies of tomatoes may cause further price drops and heavier sales to canneries than in 1953.

A 10 per cent increase in watermelon production is noted. Prices may go down this month.

To sell this year's wheat without paying a marketing-quota penalty, farmers must have a marketing card from their county ASC (Continued on Page Four)

TWO-STATE HIGHWAY AUTHORITIES, COMMISSIONERS

Signing of Preliminary Contracts Assures Ocean Road Construction

Preliminary contracts have been signed that practically assures construction of the long talked of Virginia Beach-Carolina toll ocean highway that will extend some 50 miles south from Virginia Beach to Nags Head, North Carolina.

Assurances were given at a joint meeting of the Virginia and North Carolina toll road authorities held last week at the Cavalier Hotel. Sidney Banks, chairman of the Virginia Turnpike Authority, and Fred A. Haycox, vice-chairman, and Sidney S. Kellam, all of Virginia Beach.

Last week's meeting resulted in the following action: Execution of a contract with the engineers and architects, William F. Freeman, Inc., of High Point, N. C.

Execution of a contract with the firm of De Leuw, Cather and Company, of Chicago, traffic consultants, and execution of a contract with Strader-Taylor and Company, of Lynchburg, and Alexander Brown and Sons, of Baltimore, the bond underwriters.

Both Banks and J. G. Clark, of Greenville, chairman of the North Carolina group, were optimistic in predicting the ocean toll thoroughfare will be under construction this fall, particularly after A. B. Graham, chairman of the North Carolina Highway Department said the Croatan Bridge, which will allow users of the toll highway easier access to the United States 17 at Washington, N. C., admitted that the bond market was cool to the undertaking several years ago before

MAJORETTES TO BE CHOSEN

The majorettes for the Princess Anne High School Band will be chosen this week. Misses Shirley Leary and Toni Gill champion twirlers from the state of North Carolina will be the judges. Mr. James A. Cantwell announces that rehearsals for the band will begin in August, the date will be announced later.

TIPPING THE CHAPEAU

After a visit to the garden of Capt. and Mrs. Phillip Walker on 81st St., we are convinced that nothing is impossible for real horticulturists. We know for a fact that when the Walkers moved here less than two years ago their back yard was a mere bed of mud with poison ivy growing rampant, hence it was a very special thrill for us to now find there a carpet of grass, flanked on either side by flowers, shrubs, potted plants, and a lovely miniature fish pond. Aside from the usual plants we found basil, rosemary, parsley and dill. Potted house plants were used to fill in spaces as needed, and will be all ready to move back into the house in the fall. At the very back of the yard, in a space 18 feet square, a vegetable garden was flourishing. We saw egg plant, ice-box watermelons, tomatoes, green peppers, and many other vegetables. We were most intrigued with the cucumbers which were completely covered in trellis. On closer inspection we found that all the plants were growing out of hard mud which had been filled with dirt and sunk into the sand, with the exception of two "buds" which were actually four pieces of wood, from bed crates, nailed together and filled with dirt. The Walkers brought all of the dirt in buckets to their car as friends would give it to them, and nothing was a more welcome gift. They told us this project hadn't been too expensive, but has given a great deal of fun and some work.

NOTE: The Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County, through this column, selects a beauty spot each week.

Those members serving included Mrs. Lewis Trummer, Mrs. Helen Potter, Mrs. James Perdue, Mrs. Clara Snider, Mrs. V. Alfred Eberidge, Mrs. Maurice Simmons, Mrs. Connie Loving and Mrs. Frances Parley.

The Artmobile has attracted many visitors and is sponsored by the member clubs of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Magazine Article Gives Deeper Understanding of Williamsburg

"This is the first time I've understood what it feels like to be an American."

Such was the comment, made in an awed voice, by a recently naturalized citizen, as he gazed about him on a visit to Williamsburg. He had discovered that here in this restored Colonial city was to be found the essence of the American heritage that was now his own.

The incident is recorded in an article by Clifford Dowdley in the August issue of "Holiday," which could almost be termed "required reading" for all Americans of this or succeeding generations who would appreciate a deeper understanding of this nation of ours. For all Virginians it is a must for all except the most historically indoctrinated in their state's history.

The article is profusely illustrated with views of the famous buildings, drawn by Paulson. Williamsburg, the article points out, is not a museum — nor is it a ghost town. It is a restored Colonial city, a living, breathing, dynamic and vital segment of the past in the 20th century.

Bruton Parish Church, what memories reside therein! Its bell proclaimed liberty for Virginians weeks before the more well known bell in Philadelphia rang out the news for the infant United States. In the restored Capitol, the House of Burgesses met and heard the oration "Caesar-Brutus" speech of Patrick Henry. Through its corridors stalked the first great Lee, Thomas. Here men risked, literally, their lives and fortunes — for also in the chambers to hear their fiery revolutionary speeches were also members who were yet loyal

Local Police Get Commendation

The Virginia Beach Police Department, through Chief Reeves E. Johnson, this week received letters of commendation from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Union, New Jersey, officials for work accomplished recently in apprehending a dangerous fugitive wanted by the New Jersey locality.

The fugitive was James Richard and Perry, who was wanted for armed robbery. On June 11, Chief Johnson along with Lieutenant C. O. Barco, Officers J. W. Waters, Russell McClanahan and M. P. Garrison took the fugitive into custody in a vacant lot just off Atlantic Avenue near 17th street. Ray L. Pankst, special agent in charge of the Norfolk office of the F. B. I., wrote that "I was very glad to note the excellent manner in which you organized

Wheat Growers Referendum Set For Tomorrow

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has set July 23 as the date for a national referendum among growers on wheat quotas for the 1955 wheat crop. W. W. White, of the Princess Anne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded farmers today. At least two-thirds of the growers voting must approve quotas before they may be put into effect.

If quotas are approved, Mr. White explained, producers who comply with their farm wheat acreage allotments may market all the wheat produced in any way they choose. They will also be eligible for the full level of price support which is authorized for the 1955 crop. Producers who are subject to the marketing quotas are those with more than 15 acres of wheat. To obtain price support such growers must comply with their acreage allotments. They will also be subject to a marketing quota penalty on any wheat produced in excess of the limit of the farm allotment or 15 acres.

If quotas are disapproved, there will be no marketing quotas and no marketing penalties. Price supports would be at 50 per cent of parity for producers who comply with their acreage allotments. Acreage allotments will continue in effect even if quotas should be voted out.

Eligibility for price support, with or without marketing quotas, will also require compliance with all crop allotments established for farms in 1954. In addition, a "total acreage allotment" will be established for all farms where more than 10 acres are diverted from production of an allotment crop. A producer will have to comply with the total acreage allotment if he is established on a farm, as well as with all individual crop allotments, in order to be eligible for price support on any crop.

For example, a farm with a 10-acre tobacco allotment must comply with the wheat allotment for that farm to be eligible for price support on either tobacco or wheat.

These cross-compliance provisions are designed to assure more balanced production without shifting surplus problems from one crop to another. The county ASC office will be glad to answer any questions on the 1955 wheat program.

Farm allotment notices, as well as explanatory leaflets giving the essential facts on the 1955 program, were sent out on July 19 to county wheat growers of record. The following voting places in the county will be open from 8 A. M. to 5 P. M. on Friday, July 23.

Delegates Return From Youth State

Virginia Beach's four representatives of Virginia's girls and boys state at Blacksburg have returned home.

The four youths, Jane Kellam, Julia Grey Wallace, Linda Hearne and George Banderlin, were selected originally by the Virginia Beach High School. While there the youths participated in programs dealing in the government's operations of both cities and states.

They participated in elections for state officials and they heard an address by Dr. Walter S. Newman, president of V. P. I.

Junior Baseball Thrills Spectators

Two good baseball games were played in the Bayne Field Junior League last Friday night in a doubleheader witnessed by a good crowd.

In the first game, the Cardinals defeated the Dodgers, 5 to 4. The second game was a real slugfest with the Giants emerging 14 to 13 victors over the Yellow Jackets. Umpires serving for the doubleheader were: Cowart, S. S. Frederick and Lt. John Udesvener.

Nixon Quits Race For House Seat

William M. Nixon, 26, of Princess Anne County, who several weeks ago was nominated as the First District Republican Candidate for the United States House of Representatives, has now declined the nomination.

Nixon would have opposed Democrat Edward J. Robeson for the office.

A. D. Smith, of Newport News, First District GOP Chairman, said that the party would definitely have a candidate and would be named around September 1. No mention of who might be the candidate was indicated.

Check Forger Is Apprehended

A check forger who was wanted by police in New Orleans, Louisiana, and other places was arrested last week by Virginia Beach police.

David John Metzger, of Des Plaines, Illinois, was the professional check forger. New Orleans authorities had been trying to apprehend Metzger for months.

After his arrest he was held for the Louisiana City and two detectives from New Orleans came to Virginia Beach and returned Metzger to the Southern city for trial.

Quota Penalties To Be Assessed

The marketing quota penalty rate on excess cotton on the 1954 upland cotton crop will be 17.5 cents per pound, the United States Department of Agriculture has just announced.

"Controlling legislation" establishes the marketing quota penalty rate for upland cotton at 50 per cent of the parity price per pound for cotton as of June 15 of the calendar year in which the cotton is produced. The parity price for upland cotton on June 15, 1954 was 34.97 cents per pound.

Two Drownings Mar Weekend

Two drownings, one in Virginia Beach and another in Seashore State Park, served to mar an otherwise busy weekend for Virginia Beach and its visitors last weekend.

The Virginia Beach drowning took the life of young wife, Mrs. Connie Rushmore Winslow, of Petersburg. The fatal drowning occurred at fourth street in South Virginia Beach.

Victim in the State Park drowning was young six-year old William B. Hoadley, of Norfolk, who had been on a picnic with his parents and friends. The Hoadley youngster lost his life near the West Gate at Fort Story.

In both cases the Virginia Beach Rescue Squad administered artificial respiration for approximately one hour before the victims were pronounced dead.

A multiple tragedy was narrowly averted in connection with the drowning of Mrs. Winslow. According to Police Sergeant R. K. Halstead the two young couples were swimming when one of the men found himself in trouble. Mrs. Winslow went to his rescue, and other two in the party, Mr. and Mrs. George Field, followed.

Three of the swimmers were pulled from the water by Dickey Mumford and Buddy Barco, lifeguards attached to the South Umbrella Beach Patrol Service.

Tax Department 'Cracking Down'

The State Department of Taxation has begun an intensive drive to enforce the law requiring every individual who earns as much as $400 in any one year to file a State income tax return, according to a spokesman for the city's commissioner of Revenue office.

The drive has started and those who have not filed will be served with a warrant in the near future, it was pointed out.

"Fol Fowry Suggestions"

Each two or three of your birds and part the feathers just under the vent and look closely to see if they have lice. Also check the roost poles, the roost supports, and the cracks and crevices around the roost poles and supports to see if there are any mites present. If you find lice on any of the birds, or mites in your poultry house, you should take steps to get rid of them.

One of the best and easiest ways to treat birds for lice is to paint the roosts with nicotine sulfate (Black Leaf 40) 20 to 30 minutes before the birds go to roost using about 1 oz. of Black Leaf 40 for every 12 to 15 feet of roost (follow the directions on the bottle). The nicotine fumes kill the lice while the birds sit on the roosts. Another good and probably less expensive way of controlling lice is to dust around the bird's vent, under the wings, and on the head, with sodium fluoride. Either of these treatments should be repeated in 8 to 10 days in order to kill the lice that might be hatched from eggs present and not destroyed at the time of the first treatment. Chlordane or Lindane applied as a dust to the litter of the poultry house floor and DOT sprayed on the litter, nests, dropping boards, roosts, roost supports, and walls may also be used to control lice on chickens.

If you find that mites are in your poultry house, clean the house and equipment thoroughly (remove old nesting materials, etc.), and paint the roost poles, roost supports, and the bottoms of the nests with carbolineum or red mite roost paint. Crank case drainings from an automobile thinned a little with kerosene may also be used to help destroy mites in your poultry house; however, this is somewhat less effective and must be used more frequently. One application of carbolineum or red mite roost paint will generally do the job. When carbolineum or red mite roost paint is used, be sure to keep your birds out of the nests and off the poles until they have thoroughly dried.

Freedom From Worms

Keep your birds free of worms. Don't let worms invade your bird's intestinal tract, and take away their energy and your profit. Worms will cause your birds to become unthrifty and thin, as well as make it easier for other parasites and diseases germs to attack your birds. You can quite often tell whether or not they have worms by examining the intestines of the birds that have died, or those killed for table use. Remove the intestines from the dead bird and slit them open with a small, sharp knife or a pair of scissors. Smaller worms will be easier to see if the open intestines are placed in a pan of warm water.

Large roundworms vary from 3-8 inch to 3 inches in length and are white in color. They are unattached in the intestines and generally are easily seen. The worms' eggs pass out with the droppings in large numbers and remain in the litter of soil where they ripen. When a ripened or developed egg is swallowed by a chicken, it hatches into another worm. If you find that your birds are badly infested with roundworms, give each bird in your flock a nicotine roundworm capsule, or give them a flock treatment by thoroughly mixing 1 ounce of Black Leaf 40 and 1-2 pounds epsom salts with enough water to wet the mash for 100 hens. When this medicated mash is given, it should be fed in long troughs, so that all of the birds can get to the trough at the same time. Also, clean your buildings frequently, and, if possible, run your birds in a different lot or move your range shelter.

Tapeworms are flat, chain-like worms that attach themselves to the lining of the bird's intestines. Tapeworms by eating earthworms, Chickens become infested with beetles, and other insects which contain tapeworm eggs. At present, there is no drug in combination of drugs known that will effectively control all tapeworms. The best method of control is to dispose of the droppings so that your birds will not pick up the insects that get to the manure to pick up the tapeworm eggs. Newcastle, Fowl Pox and Bronchitis Vaccination - Safeguard Against Air Sac Disease

To control Newcastle Disease, vaccinate your birds with the live virus nose drop vaccine at one day of age, again at 4 or 5 weeks of age and again shortly before the pullets come into production. To control Fowl Pox, vaccinate your birds through the web of the wing at 8 to 10 weeks of age with a regular chicken pox vaccine. To control Bronchitis, vaccinate your birds intranasally sometime between 1 day and 2 weeks of age and again about a month they come into production with a mild Bronchitis vaccine. This can be done at the same time you vaccinate for Newcastle Disease. If you vaccinate at 1 day of age, run your brooder a little warmer than usual. Birds will show less reaction, however, if you wait until they are about 2 weeks old before vaccinating the first time.

A good way to safeguard against Air Sac trouble is to take good care of your birds and keep them free from other diseases. Air Sac seems to hit harder in birds that are "subject" to other diseases and antibiotics will not always provide a uniformly successful treatment.

"Fall Garden Suggestions"

The following suggestions may be of help to you in caring for your vegetable garden.

Fertilizing the Fall Garden: It is a good idea to work the land shallow to prevent the loss of moisture for the fall plantings. Deep cultivation allows dry air to get into the soil and absorb the moisture that is present. A small area may be worked up with hand tools, but a garden tractor is helpful for large gardens. The amount of fertilizer to apply on the fall garden should be based on spring fertilization. If you applied as much as 25 lbs. of 5-10-5 or 5-10-10 per 1,000 square feet in the spring, you probably have some of this fertilizer left in the soil, so it would be advisable to reduce the amount used for the fall garden. If none has been applied this year, then I would use 25 to 30 lbs. of 5-10-5 or 5-10-10 per 1,000 square feet. The fertilizer should be applied broadcast and worked into the soil before planting.

Tomato Diseases: Late blight is one of the most serious diseases of tomatoes, and this is the time of year to expect it if it is a period of cool, damp, cloudy weather. The first symptoms of the disease are irregular greenish-black, water-soaked patches on the older leaves. These spots grow rapidly and sometimes show a white, downy growth of the fungus on their lower surfaces.

One of the important things to remember in the control of late blight is that it must be prevented rather than cured. It is important therefore to start your spray or dusting program as soon as (Continued on Page Seven)

Girl Scout Camp Comes to End

The Girl Scout Day Camp came to a close Thursday, July 15th. There were between seventy and eighty girls nearly every day. Most of the girls wore their adventure badge and also their craft badge. Mrs. Dorothy Wadson was instructor in crafts and for girls so young they made some lovely things in Ceramics. Wednesday the 14th was visitors' day and there were about thirty five Mothers present. The mothers toured the Camp and then were entertained by the Scouts unit with songs. Joe Fowlkes visited the Camp on Monday and the girls were very interested in his talk on the winds, clouds and etc. They watched television eagerly that night to see if he was wearing the same tie. The camp closed with a watermelon feast and the girls all seemed to have thoroughly enjoyed their time there.

The Brownies began their two weeks of Day Camp Monday the nineteenth. They will be divided into three units, the Seccas, Weasels, and Thunderbirds. They have a fine staff of young women to lead them as follows: Director Mrs. Lewis E. Smith, Asst. Director and nurse Mrs. Wm. Ray, Unit Leaders, Mrs. E. M. Goetschius, Mrs. Margaret Coleman and Miss Eva Lee Savage, Asst. Unit Leaders, Mrs. Brilliant, Miss Sandra Hood and Miss Karen Caussey. AIR RESERVE SQUADRON TO HAVE FIRST PEACE TIME OVERSEAS EXERCISES

Leave U.S. Next Saturday, 24th

The U. S. Navy's first Air Reserve Squadron to be deployed overseas in peace time will depart en masse from Jacksonville, Fla. Saturday July 24th on an accelerated 16,000-mile training flight to North Africa, Europe and the Near East area.

The squadron of six P2V-4 Long Range Patrol Bombers will complete its deployment - including operations from 13 overseas bases and exercises with U. S. Sixth Fleet units in the Mediterranean - in a total of 14 days. It is scheduled to return to Jacksonville on August 8th.

A total of 100 Naval Reserve "Weekend Warriors" all from the Jacksonville area, will make the flight. As members of Naval Reserve Patrol Squadron 741, they have been maintaining flight proficiency on weekends at the Naval Air Station, Jacksonville while pursuing normal civilian occupations.

The tight 14-day schedule will include stops at Bermuda, Azores, French Morocco, Lisbon, Malta, Athens, Istanbul, Naples, Rome, Marseilles, London, Iceland, Newfoundland and Washington, D. C. The squadron's six Lockheed-built Neptune will be accompanied by a Douglas R4D Navy Transport carrying Captain John L. Counihan, Commanding Officer of the Naval Air Reserve Training Unit, Jacksonville, members of his staff, and logistic support for the training mission.

The deployment schedule is confined to 14 days, the annual active duty training period for Naval Air Reserve Airmen. This training period normally is conducted in the United States. Overseas deployment will involve expenditures of no more than normal funds allocated for personnel pay and aviation gasoline for annual 14-day training periods in the United States.

VP-741 was selected as the yard-finder unit to test the feasibility of adding overseas operations to the regular Reserve Fleet Training program as a result of its active duty record during the Korean War build-up. The squadron was deployed as a unit to Malta in March 1951 and returned to inactive duty in February 1953. Ninety per cent of the officers and men have remained in the squadron.

Commander Charles W. Rogers, of Jacksonville, is Commanding Officer of VP-741. He is a civilian Real Estate Broker in Jacksonville.

Factory Delivery Re-inaugurated By Chevrolet

For the first time since pre-war, Chevrolet customers are taking deliveries on new cars at the Flint, Mich., factory.

Resumption of this popular customer service offers freight savings and a chance to combine car purchase with a vacation trip. E. L. Harrig, national service and mechanical manager, said monthly volume of 1,000 to 1,500 cars is anticipated.

Formerly an assembly plant for the Chevrolet Corvette sports car, the customer delivery building is located adjacent to the assembly plant. A comfortable lounge room in ultra-modern appointments has been outfitted for the customer and plant tours may be arranged.

Steps in using the customer delivery service, Harrig said, are:

1. Place an order with a local authorized Chevrolet dealer, specifying model, color, equipment, accessories and delivery date. Arrange also for title and license.
2. Chevrolet confirms delivery date by letter to dealer and customer.
3. Customer receives instruction booklet and arranges transportation to Flint.
4. Customer picks up new Chevrolet at Flint, serviced, complete with accessories and ready for the trip home.

A special booklet containing detailed instruction on taking car deliveries will be distributed to customers coming to Flint. It describes Chevrolet's Flint operations and offers tourist information on the city.

Newest Jet Fighters Equipped With "Super-Fast" M39 Cannon

AMERICA'S JET fighters are now being equipped with super-fast cannons, perfected and put into production by the close teamwork of Army Ordnance and two automotive companies.

The weapon, designed to meet the exacting performance requirements of high-speed jet combat, spews explosive shells at a rate considerably higher than the 1,200 rounds a minute of the standard Air Force .50 caliber machine gun.

It is a weapon with a "super-sonic" fire rate to match the supersonic speeds of jet aircraft. In aerial combat today, pilots can keep enemy jets in their sights only long enough for split-second bursts of fire. The new gun provides the maximum of destructive power during these brief instants "on target." Its light weight also makes the weapon ideal for aerial use.

In Korean combat tests, U. S. planes armed with the deadly new cannon shot down at least seven Russian MIG-15 fighters.

Officially named "Gun, Automatic, 20mm, M39," the cannon is electrically fired and gas-operated. Its design is reminiscent of the old western six-shooter. A revolver-type cylinder also simplifies cooling problems.

During seven years of development, the gun remained a closely guarded secret, one which the Defense Department has only partially revealed even now. Mechanical details and exact performance data remained undisclosed.

The M39's design was originally conceived by German munitions experts during World War II. For several years afterward, U. S. Army experts experimented with the design, and additional development work was carried out by Armour Research Foundation in Chicago.

When war broke out in Korea, Ordnance officials called upon an automotive company to rush detailed plans for perfecting and producing the weapon. Under a confidential development contract, the company prepared a working model from the original design within three months. This first model occasionally jammed, but in another month the company came up with a successful weapon.

Several of the improved guns were produced and delivered by December of 1951.

The Ordnance Department decided the weapon was the long-sought answer to jet plane fire power requirements. Several hundred cannons were ordered for combat tests.

Later in 1952, the Air Force equipped several F-86 jet fighters with M39 guns for Korean trials.

In these battle tests, the weapon met every Air Force and Ordnance requirement. The order was given for mass production.

This assignment went to another automotive company. Thousands of engineering man-hours were lavished on the weapon to further refine and modify its intricate mechanisms to adapt the gun to production-line processes. As production got under way, still more changes were made—many for the purpose of lengthening the life of certain parts.

Machine tools were scarce when the production contract was awarded. The manufacturer scoured the country, finding some needed machines in government warehouses, improvising other tools and equipment.

Nevertheless, production got under way on schedule, and has proceeded on schedule ever since.

MARINE CORPS SUMMER TRAINING UNDERWAY AT NEW DAM NECK CENTER

The U. S. Fleet Air Defense Training Center Dam Neck is bristling with green this day — Marine green, as the Marine Corps summer training program invades the Training Center.

Six Reserve Units with an approximate strength of six-hundred men will receive two weeks of intensive training here. They are all anti-aircraft artillery outfits and will fire 90 millimeter AAA guns, 40 millimeter AA guns and quad 50 caliber machine guns.

The U. S. Fleet Air Defense Training Center, under the command of Capt. Harold F. Crist, U. S. N., and the Marine are working "hand and glove," with the Navy putting all the facilities of the base at the complete disposal of the Leathernecks. They are furnished separate barracks space and eat at the general mess. Dam Neck enjoys the reputation of operating the best mess in the entire Tidewater area.

The Officer in Charge of the Marine Reserve Training Group is Major Bernard W. Bonine who participated in a similar training program last year at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina.

Besides the AAA weapons the units will spend four days on the small arms rifle range qualifying with the M-1 rifle. Each man will fire 250 rounds.

The summer program at Dam Neck is part of a nation-wide two week training for Organized Reserve Marines. In this area other Reserve units are training at the Naval Amphibious Base at Little Creek, Virginia.

The Marine Corps summer training program is designed to cover topics which will keep the Organized Reservists at the peak of effectiveness should they be called to active duty in a national emergency.

For the past week there have been three anti-aircraft units training at Dam Neck: The First Automatic Weapons Battery from Akron, Ohio; the Second Automatic Weapons Battery from Canton, Ohio; and the Seventh Automatic Weapons Battery from Atlantic City, New Jersey. These units arrived here on June 19-20 and will depart July 3.

The three other units, the First 90mm AAA Gun Battalion of Freemansburg, Pa., the First 90mm AAA Gun Battery from Augusta, Maine, and the Sixth 90mm AAA Gun Battery from New Castle, Pa., will arrive the week following the departure of the first groups.

The units will follow a tight schedule covering as many aspects of Marine Corps life as possible in the short two week period. The units will remain together under one command, in addition to firing the weapons, the reservist will observe an amphibious landing at Little Creek, spend a day in the field on reconnaissance maneuvers, and wind up their training with a parade and a formal guard mount.

ALLAN BROCK NOW IN PUSAN

Army Cpl. Allan W. Brock, 23, whose wife, Jennell, and father, John A. Brock, live in Back Bay, Va., recently was assigned to the 8043d Army Unit, part of the 32d Quartermaster Group in Pusan.

The Back Bay soldier is a supply clerk in his unit, which helps supply and service UN forces on the Korean peninsula. Corporal Brock entered the Army in December 1952 and arrived overseas during May 1953.

Although the domesticated cow is the foremost source of milk in Western lands, she has strong competition in other regions from the camel, the yak, the water buffalo, the ewe, the goat and the reindeer.

It's good to stand On Your Own Two Feet...

That's exactly what the railroads do. They buy their own rights of way, build and maintain their own tracks and stations, their own signaling systems and safety devices, and pay big taxes on these facilities. They do this from their own pocket, without receiving one cent from public funds. Naturally, they would like to see their competitors do the same. But it doesn't work that way. The three other forms of commercial transportation use highways, airports, waterways, signaling systems and safety devices which are built and maintained by federal, state and municipal funds — with your taxpayer dollars. Strangely enough, even the railroads find a considerable part of their tax dollars going into funds to help build and support facilities their competitors use! And for a profit. If the other carriers stood on their own two feet, all four could compete on an equal basis, which is all the railroads ask. And the public would be served much better, as it always is in open competition. It's time the highway, air and waterway carriers paid their own way, all the way. It's time for them to take the same stand the railroads take — on their own two feet!

To build and maintain highways used by big trucks cost $5 billion per year. The private motorist, farmer and light truck operator pay the biggest part of the bill.

Through 1953, the Federal government alone had spent more than $2 billion in tax dollars on construction of civil airports and airways.

At the end of last year, 4.3 billion taxpayer dollars had been spent by Uncle Sam for river and harbor transportation facilities.

But the railroads operate year in and year out and never receive one cent of subsidy.

Freight Agent Gets Plaque

Arthur Spence, local freight agent of the Norfolk Southern at Virginia Beach, today was awarded an engraved bronze plaque in recognition of his agency's achievement in leading all other agencies in the Middleweight Division of the road's agency contest designated "OPERATION WOLF-PACK," covering business handled in the second quarter 1954. Virginia Beach led eight other of the road's agencies including New Bern, Lillington, Washington, Colon, Robbins, Pinehurst, Greenville and Edenton, in improved business during the year's second quarter. The quarterly contest, designed to stimulate renewal of interest in shipper-railroad relations, with resulting improvement in service to the public, found Virginia Beach leading New Bern by a narrow margin. The Lillington, N. C. agency finished in third place. The plaque was presented by:

J. C. Poe, General Superintendent, Raleigh, N. C., A. N. Edmonds, Supervisor of Agencies & Freight Claims, Raleigh, N. C., and J. E. Andrews, Freight Traffic Manager, Norfolk, Va.

READY for SCHOOL

READY for school! It's a big event in your child's life — and your, too! It takes more than a new dress or a new suit to get a child ready for school. Your child will do better in school if he is physically and emotionally ready. As his parent, you can help him. Your child will not be expected to know the ABC's or what 2 x 2 equals when he starts to school in September, but he will be expected to embark upon his school adventure in the very best possible physical and emotional health. You owe it to him to see that he has a good examination by his own physician before starting to school, to have any defect corrected, and to have him immunized against smallpox, diphtheria and whooping cough. If your child has been immunized before, he may need "booster" shots to maintain a high level of immunity. CHECK POINTS BEFORE your child is ready for school, it is important that his vision, hearing, posture, weight, and teeth be checked. This is necessary in order that he begin school in the best possible condition. These examinations should be made by your family physician and dentist. In cases where the examination by a private physician is not possible, clinics are provided at local health centers for this purpose. By all means, go with your child for these examinations. You are the best person to tell the doctor and dentist what they need to know about your child's medical and dental history. When a parent is present, plans can be made then and there to correct conditions that need attention. Your family physician will tell you if any physical limits need to be set for your child. In addition to a good pre-school that the child have periodic examinations during the school year. — Va. Health Bulletin.

Beach Will Make Bid For 1955 Legion Convention

The newly installed commander of Princess Anne 113, who is Les Lam of Virginia Beach, today announced plans to invite the 1955 Legion Convention to Virginia Beach.

In a joint statement issued by the Post and the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, Virginia Beach Legionnaires announced plans to appear before the executive committee of the American Legion Department of Virginia to extend the invitation.

Bill Kellam, convention chairman, earlier announced that the Executive Committee would meet August 1st in Richmond to choose the convention site.

The Beach post, working with the resort's City officials, Chamber of Commerce and hotel association, announced plans to present the executive committee a program offering an elaborate golf match to be staged at the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club and boating and fishing excursions for all visiting Legionnaires. Commenting on the availability of rooms, John McComb, president of the Virginia Beach Hotel and Cottage Association said, "We have just finished a survey of available accommodations for the Mid-Atlantic Shrine Association and have agreed to furnish facilities for 6,000 Shriners visiting here this September 10-11. In as much as the Legion Convention will be held at approximately the same time next year, there is no reason to be anything but optimistic regarding ample room facilities for the Legion." Letters of invitation backing up the Princess Anne Post's in-itation will be presented to the committee by Leo Hoarty, manager of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce. Hoarty reported that he had been assured official letters from the hotel association, local civic interests and from the Chamber president, Claiborne R. Bryant, representing the board of directors.

Mayor F. P. Murray also waxed enthusiasm and he plans to present an official welcome to the 1955 Legion Convention.

James Kitchin, co-chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Convention Hall Committee, explained that Virginia Beach had been working on a National Guard Armory for several years and that the project is nearing fruition and that in all likelihood, the convention hall would be completed by the date of next year's Legion meeting and, perhaps the Legion would be the first convention to use the new facility.

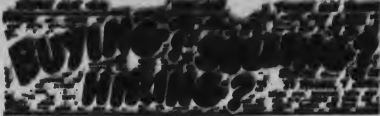

The Cavalier Yacht and Country Club championship 18-hole golf course, which was the scene of the 1953 and 1954 Virginia Beach Open Golf Tournament, will turn its entire facilities over to the proposed Legion golf tournament. The Cavalier, scene of Pete Cooper's amazing finish victory in the Virginia Beach Open just ended usually enjoys its peak condition in the fall and spring of the year according to manager, Frank East and golf pro, Les Larson. Facilities at the Yacht Club will also be made available to Legionnaires desiring such facilities, providing proper advance reservations are made East said.

this disease is suspected. The copper sprays or dusts give good control when used at 7 to 10 day intervals and after each rain if applied thoroughly. There are several trade names for these materials, and they contain different amounts of copper, so the directions of the manufacturer should be followed. There are other materials which give satisfactory control when used as directed by the manufacturers.

Manzate. To control late blight the spray or dust program must start when the first symptoms of the disease appear and should be continued at regular intervals. Thorough coverage is also important.

Cover Crops: A good cover crop will aid in holding down erosion and also add valuable organic matter when plowed under. Crimson Clover seeded in August at a rate of one pound per 1,000 square feet makes an excellent cover crop. Some people like to plant Crimson Clover between the rows at the last cultivation sometime in August and this works very well. It helps to hold down weeds after a good growth is under way and it doesn't get large enough to harm the vegetables until they have been killed by frost. Wheat, oats and barley may be used in combination or planted separately later in the fall. Wheat and rye may be planted up to frost and for sometime after this period.

Fair Exhibits: Make your plans now to enter some vegetables at the State fair this year. You can certainly obtain valuable information from doing so, and you may bring home some prize money. One of the things judges look for in an exhibit is uniformity. As an example, four potatoes of one size and then an extra large one on top is not what the judge looks for. All the potatoes should be of one variety, as near the same size as possible and be free of mechanical injury and disease. This is a good rule to follow on your other vegetable exhibits, also. Be sure to exhibit the correct number of tomatoes, potatoes, etc. Consult the fair catalog and enter the correct number. The uniformity condition of the vegetables, and freshness is more important than having large sizes in most cases. A good commercial product is what you want to enter. Naturally, when the catalog gives a prize for the largest watermelon, then you really want to walk the patch over several times to see that you have the largest.

Judge Floyd Kellam Presides at Kempsville Meadows Opening

Princess Anne County Circuit Judge Floyd E. Kellam officially opened Tidewater Virginia's newest golf course, Kempsville Meadows, in colorful ceremonies held last Saturday morning.

Judge Kellam cut the ribbon on the first tee and golfers immediately began play on the new 18 hole course that bids fair in time to rivaling the older, established courses in the area.

Kempsville Meadows is a dream come true for its trio of developers, Johnny Kelly, Jesse Bloodworth and Albert Bonney, all of Princess Anne County. They conceived the idea about a year ago and Saturday saw that idea become a reality.

Some 400 players tested the par 72 layout on opening day in perfect weather. Sunday found an even larger crowd testing the difficult course.

Normal length of the course is a long 6,635 yards and a tough par of 72. The very first hole is a challenging par 5. The course is located on the Kempsville Road, a scant nine miles from Norfolk and about ten miles from Virginia Beach.

Sam Bates, former Cavalier Club professional, is the teaching professional at Kempsville Meadows Golf and Country Club while Johnny Kelly, who served several years at Norfolk's Ocean View course, will also be on hand for instructions from time to time.

Ground Being Broken for Newest County Housing Development

Ground was scheduled to be broken this week for the construction of 150 houses by Janaf, Incorporated, the corporation that several weeks ago purchased the 153-acre Hudgins tract on the Military Highway and Virginia Beach Boulevard.

James K. Beasley, president of the corporation, also announced that a 200-room motor hotel is now being planned for construction, beginning in the Fall, and that his organization plans to invest between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000 in Princess Anne County in the next five years.

The residential units are designed for spacious living, with each structure sitting on an 8,000 square foot lot with 75 to 125-foot frontage. The ranch type, four bedroom homes will sell for $15,500.

Beasley said the motor hotel will not be a motel with separate units, but a building in the shape of an "M" with all rooms giving onto covered corridors which will connect the various shops, meeting rooms, swimming pool, bath, house, restaurant snack bar, and other facilities.

More than 40,000,000 young Americans have come of age in the last 18 years, at the present rate of growth, our country will have more than 1,000,000,000 people in it by 1959.

Newly Unearthed Artifacts on Display at Williamsburg

Samples of the more than 40 tons of artifacts unearthed in excavating 18th century foundations at Williamsburg are displayed at the Courthouse of 1770, only exhibition in Williamsburg called a museum.

Special evening exhibition hours for the building have been added for the summer season and will continue through Labor Day. The evening hours from 7:30 to 10 p. m. daily are in addition to the regular daylight hours of 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. No admission charge is made.

Among the 18th century fragments of china, glass and metal shown are pieces of dinner plate made in England, hand-painted in the interior of China, and re-shipped by sailing vessel to this busy colonial capital city. Displays indicate how the artifacts provided clues for the reconstruction of historic buildings here and to life in pre-Revolutionary times.

In addition to the artifacts, the Courthouse Museum also displays the invaluable "Bodellian Plate" found in Oxford, England, showing elevations of the principal Williamsburg buildings as they appeared in the early 1700's and the handsome Mace of the City of Williamsburg.

Located on Market Square Green in the center of the restored area, the Courthouse is one of the surviving 18th century structures in Williamsburg. From its steps, the official proclamation of the Declaration of Independence was made on July 25, 1776.

County Bond Sale Lags—Bryant

Savings Bond Chairman for Princess Anne County reports total sales of $66,707, during the first half year toward a 1954 quota of $300,000. Thus, with half the time elapsed 22 per cent of the quota has been met.

In point of safety, good interest rate (3 per cent), and sustained high price of marketable government bonds, "the Series E and H Bonds are among the most attractive to all classes of investors, whether in the high, medium or low income group."

At mid year Virginia has reported sales of $28,000,000 (issue price) against a state quota of $55,000,000, or only 45.3 per cent attained.

Chairman Bryant expressed his interest in having his area meet its entire assigned quota well in advance of the year's end.

Croasdale Joins Fisheries Staff

Rudolf R. Croasdale, a native of Reedville, Virginia, has joined the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory staff at Gloucester Point to assist in the study of migratory finfish. Funds to study the declining fisheries for croaker and grey sea trout were appropriated by the Legislature during its 1954 session.

Croasdale served in the Army from 1932 to March 1934. He was in the Navy during 1945 and 1946. A graduate of the University of Virginia in 1951, Croasdale had previously attended V. P. I. He attended White Stone High School and graduated from Pork Union Military Academy in 1945. Since his release from the Army he has been engaged in commercial fishing. Croasdale, his wife and son are now making their home at Gloucester Point.

4-H Clubbers Enroll for Baby Beef Project

Again this year club members are beginning to think seriously about starting their Baby Beef Project for 1955. At the present time, fourteen club members have enrolled in the project to take steers of which seven are Angus and seven are Herefords. Four boys have signed up for pure bred beef heifer projects which will consist of four hereford heifers and two Angus heifers.

Early last week a trip was made into Northern Virginia to select the steers that will be used in the '55 project. In August the club members getting heifers for the first time this year will accompany the Assistant County Agent to the same area to buy their heifers.

Last year the price of fat cattle at the Baby Beef Sale was rather low and we hope that this year's prices will hold up above average. A few of the club members did not make a great deal of money on their animals and we would like to see a net profit and, of course, the Baby Beef Show with a total weight of 34,601 pounds. This is an average weight of 887 pounds per steer. The total price paid for all steers was $10,119.84, with an average price per c. w. t. of $29.25. The average price head (Continued on Page Four)

"Burlesque," a famous drama of backstage life in the theatre, is Theatre-Go-Round's fifth attraction of the season. It starts Tuesday, July 27, and runs six nights in the tented arena operated by Lesley Savage and her professional Equity company on Sixty-seventh Street.

This play ran for more than a year on Broadway. Written by George Mankel Waters and Arthur Hopkins, it traces the love story of a burlesque comedian and a leading lady, married to each other, and how they let success come between them—for a while.

There are three scenes and a big cast of 15 principals with a number of extras, bringing all the (Continued on Page Four)

American Families Add $28 Billion To Life Insurance Protection

During 1953, American families added $28 billion to their aggregate life insurance protection. The year's purchases of new life insurance were $39.5 billion; this was $5.5 billion more than the previous year.

At the end of the year, there were 90 million policyholders, an increase of 22 million in the past 10 years, and these policyholders owned an average of $3,400 of life insurance each, more than ever before.

As a result, by the end of 1953, the ownership of life insurance by all families in the United States exceeded $300 billion for the first time — an increase of 122 per cent in 10 years.

A survey made during 1953 showed that more than three out of every four families now own some types of life insurance.

In spite of the tremendous additions made to family life insurance programs in recent years, however, the total life insurance outstanding is today proportionately less in relation to total family income than was the case before the war. The 1953 life insurance total was 123 per cent of disposable personal income; in 1939, the corresponding figure had been 159 per cent. The 1953 ratio was, however, higher than the 1952 figure of 118 per cent, and materially above that of 10 years ago.

With the larger ownership, the annual flow of benefit payments to policyholders and beneficiaries reached a record $4.5 billion in 1953. Of course, more than $2.5 billion went to policyholders themselves as living benefits — 56 per cent of the total. Death benefits did not show as great a percentage rise in the year as the living benefits.

As life insurance ownership has grown, the assets of the life companies have increased. These reached $78.5 billion at the end of 1953. The greater part of the assets represent the funds held by the companies to guarantee future beneficiaries. Policy reserves account for 88 per cent of all assets and a large part of the remaining 15 per cent is earmarked for the use or protection of policyholders of insurance to the policyholders.

Life insurance funds are put to work until needed for benefit payment, to earn what they can towards helping to meet the cost. During 1953, the new investments of U. S. life companies totaled $14 billion, consisting of $5.2 billion of new capital from the increased assets and $8.8 billion of funds requiring reinvestment because of maturities, refinancing and sales of old investments.

Largest block of new investments was the $4.9 billion of securities of business and industry; second largest was the $4.3 billion of mortgages.

American families used life insurance more extensively than ever before during 1953—and the benefits they received from their life years. This great base of family financial protection continued to be an important aid in meeting the needs, both social and economic, of a constantly changing American. — Institute of Life Insurance.

Growing Through Bible Study.
Lesson for July 18: Acts 17:18-31; Timothy 4: 12-14; II Timothy 2: 15; 3: 14-17; Hebrews 4: 12.

Golden Text: Psalms 119: 11.

Our lesson begins with the record of the young of Paul and Silas to Berea, after turmoil had been stirred up in Thessalonica by their presence there. They went into the Jewish synagogue in Berea and preached Christ to the people. And they who heard received the word with all readiness of mind, examining the scriptures daily whether these things were so.

Paul, writing to Timothy, admonished him to give time to reading as well as to exhortation and teaching. It is well for a pastor to give attention to pastoral work, but he must not neglect what might be called his ammunition. He must not fail in his study of the word. For that will be indeed a blessing both to the preacher and to those who hear him.

It was in a great succession of scripture study that Timothy was to be diligent in his study of the word. For from a child he had been taught to know the sacred writings that were able to make him wise unto salvation through faith in Christ.

The study of the scripture is for the purpose to furnish the man of God completely unto every good utterance and work. For the scripture is living and active and may be sharper than a two-edged sword in reaching the heart and thoughts of a man to make him right in the sight of God.

"FORGIVENESS" THEME OF SERMON

The Reverend C. Stanley Lowell, minister of the Virginia Beach Methodist Church will deliver two sermons Sunday July 25. The 11:00 o'clock sermon will be "Making the Most of a Vacation" and the night sermon at 8:00 P. M. will be "The Forgiveness of God." The public is cordially invited to attend.

Seaside Ballroom Attracts Many

One of the principal features of Seaside Park is its newly enlarged ballroom which features Al Deifanis and his orchestra. Deifanis has the reputation of being the best of the small bands at the beach. His arrangements of "Mexican Hat Dance" replete with all the service songs and culminating with Yankee Doodle and Dixie, bring cheers from both sides of the Mason-Dixon line. Vocalist, Tommy Sico, rates rave notices for his singing combined with his diversified take-offs on saxophone and clarinet. There is no cover or minimum charge and patrons can dress as informally as they please.

New Act Extends Time For Vets

The Independent Offices Appropriation Act for Fiscal Year 1955 extends the time in which veterans with service-connected noncompensable dental conditions may apply for out-patient dental treatment. Veterans Administration announced.

The new date is December 31, 1954, or one year after discharge, whichever is later. Under the last fiscal year's appropriation act, the delimiting date was July 27, 1954.

The Act containing the December 31, 1954 date, Public Law 428, was signed by the President June 24, 1954. This law expires June 30, 1955.

VA said the new delimiting date applies only to one group of veterans those having service-connected noncompensable dental disabilities or conditions which are shown to have existed at time of discharge.

The delimiting date does not apply to veterans in the following two classes:

1. Veterans having service-connected compensable dental conditions or disabilities, which means they must be rated 10 percent or more disabled for the dental condition and.

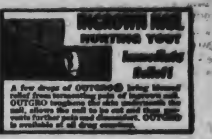

2. Veterans having a dental condition, whether or not service-connected, but medically determined to be aggravating a service-connected physical disability or injury.

Under VA regulations, veterans with service-connected dental conditions or disabilities not severe enough to rate disability compensation - the group affected by the delimiting date - are entitled to one-time dental treatment with three exceptions.

These exceptions are - (1) those dental disabilities which are the result of combat injuries; (2) dental disabilities of prisoners-of-war, and (3) disabilities resulting from service injuries.

Veterans who qualify for out-patient dental treatment may be referred either on a fee basis to "home town" participating dentists or to VA dental clinics.

Next Month Busy Time For County Farmers

There will be no shortage of things to do during this coming month for you farmers both on the farm and off. Next week, July 27th to the 30th, the Institute of Rural Affairs at VPI which annually attracts 1500 farmers, homemakers and others will get under way. We are again looking forward to sending a large delegation from this County to the VPI Campus during this meeting. August will feature such events as the Artificial Breeding Techniques Conference at VPI on August 2nd and 3rd; the Garden Lovers Short Course at VPI, August 2nd through 6th; and for all County Agents and Home Demonstration Agents, there will be the Annual Extension Conference at VPI, August 23rd through the 28th.

Another real highlight during the August schedule will be the Annual Field Day at the Holland Experiment Station which is doing a considerable amount of experimental work for two of the major crops grown here in Princess Anne County, Varietal Tests, Fertilization, Experiments, and work on Cultivation Practices are being conducted at Holland for corn and soybeans, which we should be vitally interested in. This trip should be a "must" in your August schedule.

"Seed Treatment Recommended For Small Grains"

Seed treatment with an appropriate fungicide is cheap assurance of good plant stands for small grain growers. Seed treatment should be a regular practice. Most seedsmen sell treated seed, but the grower should treat any untreated lots, either bought or home grown. The treatment destroys several seedborne fungi that cause plant diseases, checks soil-infecting fungi that rot the seed or kill the seedling and helps control weeds by establishing better was $250.48. Here is how these animals graded: 56 per cent prime, 61 per cent choice, 10 per cent good, and only 1 per cent commercial. Compare this with the 1953 grades, 24 per cent graded prime, 57 per cent choice, 16 per cent good, and 3 per cent commercial in 1953. Now, let's take a look at who bought these steers. Business concerns bought 20 per cent of the steers, Meat Packers 22 per cent, individuals 20 per cent, food chains 15 per cent, independent groceries 14 per cent, and restaurants 1 per cent. These weights and pounds are on a State level. Let's look at the State level to see that there were 53 Counties involved in the Baby Beef Project last year that held Shows and Sales. From these fifty-two counties, 457 Baby Beef steers were in Shows and were later sold. Total weight of these 457 animals was 398,658 pounds. The average weight per animal on the State level was 872 pounds. Now the total price received by 4-H club members from the State of Virginia was $116,000.22. This figures out to $252.66 per c. w. t. With an average price per head of $255.29.

Seed treatment will largely prevent stinking smut of wheat, loose and covered smuts of oats, seed born strip disease, and the covered and black loose smut diseases of barley. It will also help reduce the amount of scab on wheat and barley. It will not control loose smut of wheat and brown loose smut or barley. Fungicides protect the seed until conditions are favorable for germination and do not reduce the germination of the seed.

First clean the seed to remove weed seeds, light grain and debris. The moisture content of the seed should be low at the time of treating. Make the treatment at least 24 hours before sowing so the chemical fumes can penetrate throughout the lot of seed. Treatment may be done one or two months before planting. Store treated seed in a dry place.

Seed treatment can be done quickly but requires some kind of mixing machine. Commercial treaters, home-made treaters, concrete mixers, or churns can be used.

Merry MATRONS

larded "eye" round, pour over it a quart of red wine vinegar, put around it sliced parsnips, leeks, juniper berries, season with freshly ground pepper. Turn roast twice a day... this is a six day production... cool place is preferable to the refrigerator but keep it in the refrigerator if you haven't a cool place, and in a pottery crock. Then sear roast first, loose fat is best for this, roast it; strain the sauce; make the gravy. And, there you have it! Helen Hayes' own Culinary production - and is it good!

Helen Hayes is in the throes of a "sentimental journey" in New England where she is starring in four plays for summer theater audiences' enjoyment in the late Gertrude Lawrence's Cape Cod. Richard Aldrich is presenting Helen in "What Every Woman Knows," Mrs. McThing, "Wisteria Trees" and "Mary Of Scotland."

Despite the lapse of years - twenty five to be exact - since Helen last played in some of these roles the little, beloved, merry matron star is giving Broadway calibre performances. Yes, Helen's "sentimental journey" is proving real box-office on Cape Cod in her Helen Hayes Festival.

Mrs. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's charming garden, built in 1845, is still to be visited when use 1-2 ounce of Ceresan M. per bushel, or use Panagen, Agroz, or Setrete according to the manufacturers' directions.

Add the preferred fungicide at the recommended rate, run the seed through the treater and place it in bags for storage.

Chemical treatments call for special precautions. Like flour, cement, and many other substances, the mercury dusts are injurious to the lungs if inhaled in large quantities. However, most seed disinfectants are also poisonous, so be careful not only to avoid breathing the fumes, but also avoid their prolonged contact with the skin.

Regardless of the type of treating machine used, it should always be located in the building so any flying dust will be carried quickly out-of-doors. Wear a clean, dry cloth or filter mask over the nose and mouth. Change the cloth or filter pad often enough to keep a clean filtering surface. Avoid an accumulation of chemical on the skin.

Keep treated seed out of reach of all kinds of animals. If it is not needed for planting, it should be burned or buried. If it is to be saved for planting the following year, label it plainly and store carefully.

Hold treated seed in sacks or in bulk for at least 24 hours before planting to permit the volatile gases to penetrate into the seed coat. Do not store treated seed in air-tight containers.

NO MATCH FOR COLONY SAY BEACH VISITORS

"Your food was excellent and your help pleasant. We have not found any eating place to match the Colony. We love it." These were the remarks of Rae and Paul D. Weller, of New Castle, Pennsylvania, after a recent meal at Virginia Beach's famous Colony Restaurant.

The words were a little different but the thought is the same as that of all patrons of the Colony Restaurant in the Jefferson Hotel building on Atlantic avenue. If you haven't visited this fine restaurant you should do so without delay. (ADV.)

It's a good idea to drain and fill in low areas. Treat water left standing around with DDT oil mixtures.

For large-scale treatment of a whole community, we suggest spraying with an airplane to reduce the number of adult mosquitoes. One airplane application of 2-10th of a pound of DDT per acre should reduce the mosquito population between 80 and 90 per cent for 10 to 12 days.

If you and your neighbors can organize a general spraying campaign in your neighborhood, you can reduce the mosquito nuisance in your area. Spray all hedges, low trees, shrubs, tall grass, and other mosquito resting places. A 2 1/2 to 5 per cent DDT emulsion will last from 10 days to 2 weeks. Serve milk in frosty glasses. Ever tried serving milk in glasses that have been chilled in the refrigerator?

During the warm summer months, milk tastes even better when it's served icy cold. A glass that's been on a cupboard shelf in a hot kitchen will quickly warm the milk. Why not try keeping a few empty glasses in the refrigerator this summer? Then when you want a truly cold glass of milk for between-meal snacks - or at mealtime - your frosty glass will help make good, refreshing milk taste even better.

Forty-five men and women who work at the Norfolk Navy Supply Center will save their fellow taxpayers an estimated $99,000 annually by their suggested suggestions made during the six month period ending June 30. It was announced at the Center today.

The highest cash award, $776, went to Michael T. Dand for an improved procedure in the machine accounting work of the Center. Mr. Dand's idea saves the Navy $12,000 in man and machine hours annually.

Mrs. Myrtle Smith of the Supply Center's Fuel Department and Russell R. Miller of the Chemham Annex Depot near Williamsburg each received two suggestion awards during the six month period.

There is always some one thing about a fondly remembered meal that is special. Perhaps it was the main dish, the piping hot Sally Lann Bread or a dramatic climax of the desert. It is always especially nice to have a trick to pull out of the hat for company meals.

For instance, golden brown chicken straws make a perfect accompaniment with a luncheon menu of dory, fresh icy cold fruit salads, tall glasses of iced tea or coffee and a luscious lemon chiffon pie. To your favorite pastry recipe, add grated sharp cheese, a bit of paprika and a dash of cayenne pepper. Cut the pastry into strips using a sharp knife. Bake cheese straws in a hot (425 degrees F.) oven, 10 to 15 minutes or until straws are a delicate brown.

Mixed Lamb with parsley whisks are a delightful way to glamorize the yesterday's roast leg of lamb. The family will welcome this colorful and tasty main dish topped with parsley flecked, golden brown biscuits. To your favorite lamb stew recipe. Add a teaspoon of dried mint leaves and a bit of vinegar and let it simmer until the flavors have mingled with the tender chunks of lamb. To make the Parsley Whisk, roll out biscuit dough to a rectangular shape. Brush with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with minced parsley. Roll up like jelly roll and cut in 2-4 inch slices place on top of bubbling stew and bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Serve a giant tossed salad - fresh garden peas and some extra parsley whites, baked as you would for biscuit.

Here's something that seem to appeal to all those who gather for an afternoon party. It takes a little extra time to make individual tart shells, but its well worth it. Any kind of filling piled high in flaky tart shells, topped with whipped cream, will be a real treat for your guests.

Strictly different from the usual entrée is the Alpine Onion Pie. It wins great favor with those who have a gourmet taste for food. The ingredients are few and its simple to make. Line an 8 inch pie pan with 1-2 recipe of pastry, reserve 1-2 for top crust. Combine 1-2 cups chopped onions 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon dry mustard an 1-4 teaspoon paprika. Mix well and spread on bottom crust of pie, sprinkle shredded American cheese over onion mixture. Arrange top crust and bake at 400 degree F. for 35 minutes. You'll find the deliciously different flavor lends a refreshing accent to summer meals. Serve it with a garden fresh green salad iced tea and a fresh strawberry parfait.

I'm sure this old summer sun has been making life pretty unbearable for you at times. So make the family's favorite dishes that take the least time to prepare and do all you can in the cool of the morning. Casserole dishes are such a help, because you can prepare them in advance and refrigerate them until you're ready to use them. Many of them freeze well, so while you're preparing one double the recipe and freeze one for another day. For your main dish choose a macaroni and noodle casserole that the whole family likes. Of course, casseroles are easy to prepare and there aren't near so many pots and pans to clean up. Canned Tuna and cream of mushroom soup and potato chips is always an easiest-to-make casserole and usually liked by all the family. A little chopped onion and pimiento will add flavor and color.

Even though summer heat may dull your interest in both eating and cooking. Remember that it is just as important as ever to see to it that the family eats the "three-squares-a-day." Check your menus regularly to see that all the Basic Seven foods are included. Bye, now.

You'll be serving seconds and thirds, perhaps, of waffles for dessert if you fold some chocolate (melted) into the batter and serve with whipping cream to which has been added crushed peppermint candy.

Gingerbread can be used in several ways. Make an upside down cake with it using apple or pear slices in brown sugar and butter at the bottom of the skillet. It may also be used as a shortcake base with strawberries or bananas. Muffins will make a nice main dish if you add bits of ham to the batter and serve split when baked with creamed pimiento and peas.

Cranberry jelly added to pot roast gravy makes it rich, flavorful and tart. Stir through the hot gravy until the jelly melts.

Potato salad is more colorful and nourishing if you add some diced frankfurters to it, and they're a good meaty touch to add to macaroni salad, too.

Pork chops are very tasty when dipped in milk, cornflake crumbs and paprika, then browned. Complete the cooking by adding water to which catsup has been added. Simple butter cakes can be iced very simply if you mix brown sugar and nuts and sprinkle over the batter before baking. Cole Slaw makes a pretty picture when served in a jellied beet mold made with shredded cooked beets.

Piquant Cheese Loaf
2-1/2 ounces Blue or Roquefort cheese
5 ounces Cheddar cheese
3 ounces cream cheese
1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1-2 cup chopped nuts

Blend all ingredients except nuts until well blended. Form into loaf and roll in chopped nuts. Wrap in waxed paper and let stand in refrigerator until firm. Serve with fresh pears and crisp crackers for dessert.

HAIR AND HATS CLOSELY WED - Just like the hand and glove idea, this Fall and Winter, it will be the wedding of the hair and hats. It looks like the nation's smartest milliners are looking ahead for us spin to be adopting the longer hair fashions and so they have taken that into consideration with their new hat collections. Mr. Fred of John Fredericks has designed a series he calls "naturals" and makes most of them in glossy materials. For after-dusk wear, he seems to prefer the textured surfaces. You'll find when you're hat-shopping for your new bonnet, that fabrics will play an all-important role in your selection. He favors a rich sole in his most exotic colors. His colors are marvelously new! For example, Carter Blue (for the Order of the Garter), Etruscan red, lichen green, and pheasant brown. He has created many new berets with the long sides or backs. The beret is definitely back for the coming seasons. You'll love the John Fredericks rippled brim hats and also Mr. Fred's close-sided cloches which are ultra smart in the new fabrics. One of his neatest hats was a large brimmed hat of beautiful soft Kanha fabric which he has revived this Fall. His after-dusk evening hats are exquisite with some cut in two-tone taffeta strips. Long-sided cloches and Baby Stuart bonnets are among the smarter shapes and in gorgeous turquoise and green shades. NEW ELEGANCE OFFERED - Women's designers have certainly come up with new elegance for this new season. Women designers know, as women, how women wish to look and they have gone to it! Nettie Rosenstein, Mollie Parnis and Adele Simpson are three wise women designers. Nettie Rosenstein likes the clean-sleanness and features it in her collection. As you see her fashions paraded, you feel she is looking to shorter hemlines, too. She likes the youthful bloused effect, and like Dior, has featured it. She, however, calls this silhouette her "flower bud" line.

Mollie Parnis believes that the smart woman of today no more needs separate summer and winter wardrobes than she needs a "separate summer and winter face." "The modern art of dressing is blended to the modern way of living in the Mollie Parnis fashions which appear uncalendared, so to speak. Mollie features many large collars, which she loves. Adele Simpson has the motto of "easy clothes elegance for easy living."

BOSTON - Eleanor Sears, of the famous old Bostonian Sears family, it is said, is the First Lady of American sport. Around the first of this century she was bouncing about in those antiquated crates they called air planes and giving feminine eyebrows a workout at lifting brows with horror. Many a Bostonian used to shout, "It's that Sears girl again!" when "Eleanor" would race her racy roadster through the city streets. She was an expert at bobsledding and riding to the hounds in the smart horse set's famous New England meets. For years she made an annual walking trip from Newport, Rhode Island, to Boston and was the first femme tennis player to wear a short-skirt tennis skirt while playing the game she excelled in. She has displayed her blue ribbons each year for her prime homeownership and has won many National Championships at squash rackets. And, even today, your Albeebe is happy to report that Miss Eleanor Sears is a healthy looking specimen of womanhood, who in her seventies, is still playing competitive squash rackets.

Mrs. John L. Hynes, petite wife of Mayor Hynes of Boston, has a stunning flair for fashions and a wonderful merry disposition and smiley way about her. When her famous husband arrived from a pilgrimage to Rome last week, right in the midst of a municipal controversy that is rocking Boston politics, Mrs. Hynes was at the airport in a nifty costume to cheer His Honor and to give him a quick briefing on the things at hand while they were riding home from the airport. She wore a neat navy and white dotted linen dress, which she topped with a Pauline Triguere blue linen straight-line, "hem-length coat with the short sleeves and neck piped in the navy and white dotted linen. Her very short, curly hair coiff is the most youthfulizing seen in Boston. Rocky Cooper - Mrs. Gary Cooper - has many friends in Boston since she is one of the Socially Prominent of New England. She and Gary and their lovely daughters have been in a "family-together-again" mood. They've been summering in Newport with Gary visiting them off and on. Uta Hagen, Broadway star and very recent bride of Broadway producer and director, Herbert Berghof, has been summer-theaterizing in Boston in "The Lady's Not For Burning." Freeze Fruits For Homemade Jellies

Time was when any housewife who made her own jellies and jams had to spend hot summer days over steaming preserving kettles to make use of fruit when it was ready. When the supply of fruit was too heavy, she sometimes put up juices to convert to jelly later.

But a much easier arrangement is possible with a home freezer. For jelly-making fruits may be frozen without sugar. The freezing and thawing softens the fruit, releases the juice and also causes the fruit color to dissolve in the juice. Then it's not necessary to heat juicy berries to extract juice. They can simply be crushed or pressed. Many other frozen fruits need only the minimum of heating to extract juices. Generally, pectin needs to be added to fruit juice that has not been heated to make sure that it "jells."

Summer Egg Economy

In summer when every homemaker wants extra-to-prepare foods eggs deserve a place of high priority. Served cold or hot, by themselves or combined with other foods in salads, main dishes or desserts, eggs are handy and take little time to cook.

But when purchasing eggs in hot weather, thrifty shoppers should understand that the best buys, price-wise, usually are those of Grades B and C because they are more plentiful than Grades A and AA. The warm weather makes it difficult to hold high quality. Often B and C eggs sell for 10 to 15 cents a dozen less than top-quality eggs of the same size. It's good economy to use these cheaper eggs for scrambling, thickening custards or sauces, pie fillings, salad dressings, in combination dishes, or for cakes and cookies, muffins or other "quick breads." In such dishes it's not so important to have the firm whites, upstanding yolks, and very delicate flavor of the top quality, more expensive eggs.

Grades A and AA eggs are generally preferred, even at higher prices, for poaching, frying, cooking in the shell or stuffing. But when hard-cooked eggs are to be chopped for sandwich fillings or garnishing, or cut up for salads, the less expensive eggs will do quite as well.

Tidewater Boy Scouts To Visit Carrier 'Intrepid' Saturday; Guests of Skipper

Executive Board members of the Tidewater Council, Boy Scouts of America, attended a luncheon Monday on board the USS Intrepid (CVA-11), where they were guests of the skipper, Capt. W. T. Easton, USN.

During the luncheon, the Scout leaders and a number of Intrepid officers will plan the visit to the carrier of Tidewater Boy Scouts on Saturday.

More than 4,000 Boy Scouts, who comprise the Tidewater Council, BSA, have been invited on board the USS Intrepid (CVA-11) on that day.

The occasion will be the representation of a bronze Liberty Bell, turned over to the Tidewater Council two years ago for safekeeping.

A formal ceremony will be held on the flight deck of the large aircraft carrier, which is berthed at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard. The Tidewater Council is made up of scouts from Norfolk, Portsmouth, South Norfolk, Norfolk County, and Princess Anne County.

The bronze model of the famous bell was originally a gift of the San Francisco Boy Scouts. It was turned over to the Tidewater Boy Scout Council in 1952 when the Intrepid was decommissioned at Newport News to undergo a $40,000,000 modernization. The two year repair job was completed on June 18, when the carrier was recommissioned at the Norfolk Shipyard.

On July 24, Capt. W. T. Easton, USN, skipper of the carrier, will reclaim the bell for the Intrepid in ceremonies on the flight deck. A number of Eagle Scouts will make the presentation. A tentative schedule for the scouts' visit has been announced as follows:

1 P. M. - Scouts will board the Intrepid

1:15 - Welcome aboard remarks by the ship's Executive Officer, Comdr. J. C. Kelly, USN.

1:25 - Recitation of Scout oath and Scout laws, led by a National Committeeman.

1:30 - Tour of carrier by scouts, escorted in groups of 10

3:00 - Invocation
3:05 - Presentation of bell to Intrepid's skipper, Capt. W. T. Easton, USN.

3:30 - Refreshments served to scouts and guests

Capt. Easton said he was pleased to hear the bell will soon be resored to the Intrepid, and that the officers and crew are looking forward to the scouts' visit.

Harold V. Face, executive for the Tidewater Council, said that all Boy Scouts, Explorer Scouts, and Sea Scouts in the Council will be invited to participate.

At the time the bell was originally presented, the Intrepid was being temporarily placed in commission, and manned with a nucleus crew to bring her from San Francisco to Newport News. Thirty-five hundred Boy Scouts attended the commissioning, which was broadcast over a nation-wide radio hook-up.

The bell is inscribed, "Let freedom ring across the seas. Presented to the USS Intrepid, February 9, 1952, San Francisco Council, Boy Scouts of America."

The bell is a model of the Liberty Bell, preserved for posterity in Philadelphia's Independence Hall, and noted for having announced to the world the 13 Colonies' Declaration of Independence. It is an authentic replica, complete with bell stand and the bell's famous crack.

Comdr. R. E. Jones, assistant Industrial Manager for the Fifth Naval District, is handling arrangements for the bell's presentation with the Tidewater Council and Lt. J. F. Sower, USN, public information officer for the Intrepid. Comdr. Jones has been active in scout affairs for more than 20 years, is a past Council president, and now serves on the National Explorer Scout committee.

It's good to stand On Your Own Two Feet...

That's exactly what the railroads do.

They buy their own rights of way, build and maintain their own tracks and stations, their own signaling systems and safety devices, and pay big taxes on these facilities. They do this from their own pocket, without receiving one cent from public funds.

Naturally, they would like to see their competitors do the same. But it doesn't work that way.

The three other forms of commercial transportation use highways, airports, waterways, signaling systems and safety devices which are built and maintained by federal, state and municipal funds — with your taxpayer dollars. Strangely enough, even the railroads find a considerable part of their tax dollars going into funds to help build and support facilities their competitors use! And for a profit.

If the other carriers stood on their own two feet, all four could compete on an equal basis, which is all the railroads ask. And the public would be served much better, as it always is in open competition.

It's time the highway, air and waterway carriers paid their own way, all the way.

It's time for them to take the same stand the railroads take — on their own two feet!

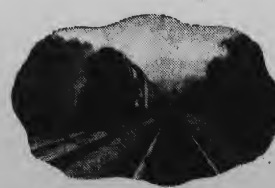

To build and maintain highways used by big trucks cost $5 billion per year. The private motorist, farmer and light truck operator pay the biggest part of the bill.

Through 1953, the Federal government alone had spent more than $2 billion in tax dollars on construction of civil airports and airways.

At the end of last year, 4.3 billion taxpayer dollars had been spent by Uncle Sam for river and harbor transportation facilities.

Rescue Squad To Hold Fund Drive in Aug.

The Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Rescue Squad has selected the month of August to conduct its annual fund raising drive to operate next year, it has been announced.

The volunteer group is aiming at raising the same amount of money as it did last year, a total of $11,000. One of the highlights of the campaign will be a benefit dance at the Cavalier Club on the night of August 10.

New equipment was a major item of expense last year and it is expected that additional equipment will be needed during the coming year.

Garden Lovers Course to be Held

Like gardening? Plan to attend the garden lovers' short course at VPI, August 2-5.

Albert S. Beecher, associate horticulturist at VPI, says anyone who's interested can come for classes in growing flowers, garden photography, and landscaping. Tours to the VPI arboretum and to nearby points of interest have also been arranged.

A. G. Smith, Jr., VPI horticulturist who was instrumental in organizing the first school in 1935, and who has directed it since, will be one of the instructors, as will Beecher and other members of the horticultural department.

Howard E. Hammerley, Jr., photographer, Roanoke Times, will teach the classes in garden photography.

The short courses have been held every year since 1935, with the exception of a wartime lapse of those years.

Registrations, with an attendant fee of $2.00, are preferred in advance. Rooms in the VPI dormitories will be $1.00 per person per night with the exception of meals. Meals in the VPI dining hall will be 60c each. Accommodations are available for married couples.

Those planning to attend are invited to send in any questions on gardening, and the questions will be answered in the session Thursday morning, August 5. Most of the staff members of the horticultural department will be available for individual consultation during the work of the short course for those who have special gardening problems not covered in the regular program.

All inquiries about the short course should be sent to Albert S. Beecher, horticultural department, VPI, Blacksburg.

State Service Officer Schedules Visits to Virginia Beach, PA County

Thomas A. Moore, State Service Officer in the Division of War Veterans' Claims, Commonwealth of Virginia, announces his regularly scheduled itinerary for Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach in the month of August, 1954, on the second and fourth Thursdays, as follows:

11:00 A. M. to 11:45 A. M. at Clerk's Office, Princess Anne County House, Princess Anne, Va.

1:00 P. M. to 3:15 P. M. at Virginia Beach Community House, Arctic Avenue at 18th Street, Virginia Beach.

Moore says that the dates of these Thursdays are, of course, August 12th and August 26th. These Thursday dates will be carried out thereafter each month and will be announced regularly in this newspaper.

Moore advises that this is a slight change in the new itinerary initially announced, inasmuch as his visits to Virginia Beach will be at the location stated above instead of at the Town Hall at Arctic Avenue and 20th Street.

Veterans, and their dependents, having problems concerning their benefits, or who wish to file application for benefits to which they may be entitled, can visit Moore at one of the itinerary points, between the designated hours.

Moore's office is under the jurisdiction of Harry P. Carper, Jr., Director of the Division, with offices in the Veterans Administration building in Roanoke.

Tipping the Chapeau

Mother Nature takes too much time for the rare display of beauty at "Lotus Land." We quote from Miss Ethelbeth Felt who said, in an article in this newspaper, dated July 24, 1954: "A winding river of pale gold, against a background of two green hills, my pads and dark water, high-lit by blue water hyacinths and pink and white mallows." To reach this spot, follow Princess Anne Court from Beach, turn left at Minnow's Church, after about a mile turn left again onto the Sand Bridge road, drive to a rustic bridge where you may stop and enjoy the beauty of the Princess Anne Lotus ("Mallow" lake), which is the ONLY "Lotus" American lotus. This is only a half-hour's drive from Virginia Beach, and name on you if you miss this unique and truly beautiful sight.

NOTE: The Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County, through this column, offers a beauty spot each week.

Jordan Ball Medalist in PA Golf Tourney

Young Jordan Ball copped medalist honors with a one-under par 70 in the annual Princess Anne County Club Golf championship this week. Match play opened Monday and first round matches are to be played by August 1.

Runner-up honors in the qualifying test were shared by Defendant Champion Al Mathies and George R. "Buddy" Guy, each of whom fired even par 71's.

Ball faces Dick Brydges in the first round while Mathies drew the toughest assignment in Lewis Keller, who was off his game in the qualifying round with an 82.

Former Champion Harry McCready, the smooth swinging veteran, plays Julian Delk in the opening round who could prove troublesome.

A darkhorse in this year's meet according to links observers is John B. Smith, who fired a 78 in the medal test. Smith is hitting the ball well and could give any of the favorites trouble.

Mrs. B. L. Smith Will Lecture

Mrs. B. L. Smith, who was one of the first six women in her State to become a National Accredited Nurse and Instructor in Flower Arranging will lecture on "Flowers and Flower Arranging" at the annual Flower Show School being held in Blacksburg, August 2-4, sponsored by the Va. Federation of Garden Clubs.

Former of the past five years, Mrs. Smith has conducted courses in flower arranging for novices in series of five units. She has specialized in color, church arrangements and table settings. Mrs. Smith has been a consistent blue ribbon winner for many years.

Mrs. Smith was one of the organizers of the Greenboro Garden Center and a charter member of the North Carolina Judges Club; a past President of her Garden Club. She has written many articles for newspapers and magazines.

Reading examination will be given on Friday morning for those studying for a National Judges certificate.

The Mayflower Apartments filed a reply this week to charges made by Virginia Beach Hotel owners that the apartment corporation was competing with beach hotels and cottages stating that the corporation was not in competition and if it were it would not be illegal.

The reply was filed by the owner of the corporation and W. Taylor Johnson, principal stockholder. The answer was filed in United States District Court.

The answer was in reply to a suit for an injunction brought by the Virginia Beach Hotel and Cottage Association in an effort to restrain the Mayflower from competing for short stay tourist business.

The plaintiffs have claimed that FHA regulations forbid a FHA-financed apartment building from becoming a hotel.

In the answer, both the corporation and Johnson explained the use of 30 efficiency apartments which seem to be the center of the controversy.

The answers said that prior to April, 1954, there had been many vacancies in the 30 one-room units and the 11 two-room units because there is little demand for this type of accommodation. The corporation estimated that the cost of furnishing these units would be $1,500 each. Johnson and his wife, Mrs. Foye K. Johnson, also a stockholder decided to risk $50,000 in furnishing and air conditioning the smaller apartments.

They formed a partnership under the name Resort Apartments Company and leased 30 of the apartments from the Mayflower Corporation at a rate of $30.24 per year, and furnished and air conditioned them.

They are for rent for periods not less than one week, and the answer said by Attorney P. T. Agostino, Jr.

Federal Housing Authority regulations permit the leasing of blocks of apartments to a single tenant, they said.

At a previous hearing in the matter, Judge Albert V. Bryan refused to issue a preliminary injunction as requested by the plaintiffs. Richard G. Brydges and Robert S. Wahab, Jr., are representing the hotel and cottage owners in the case.

FT. STORY TELLINGS

Fort Story's TC installation this month became the 15th Transportation Port Command B. replacing the former Transportation Amphibious Training Center. The redesignation will not, however, affect Story's mission as the site of DUKW and BARC training activities under the Transportation Training Command.

ROTC SUMMER training brought almost 1400 cadets, representing all of the 48 states, to Story for two weeks of intensive amphibious training. The program, directed by the 54th T Battalion, brought many visitors to watch the students carry out actual ship-to-shore and cargo handling operations. Among them were Second Army's deputy commander, Maj. Gen. George W. Smyth, Brig. Gen. Frank S. Benson, Jr., commanding general of TTC, and a group of 18 cadets out from universities participating in the ROTC program.

Story is emphasis on safety paid off with award of TTC's two top Outstanding Safety Record for Military Personnel in the first six months of 1954, and the 54th T Battalion had the Most Outstanding Safety Record for Army Motor Vehicle Accidents in the same period.

THE GOLD LEAF of majority replaced the belt of Capt. James A. McCaffrey, Story's Signal Officer, this week. The major came to Story a year ago after serving 20 months in Korea with the 304th Signal Operation Battalion at Seoul.

MEN OFFICER arrivals on the post include Lieut. Myran W. Tug and James P. Hoffman, 16th T.

Automobile Visit To Beach Proves Very Popular

After a 12 day visit, the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts' Artmobile closed up and left Virginia Beach Monday (26th) July.

Arriving July 13th, the traveling museum handled a nearly maximum capacity of visitors throughout its entire stay. The exhibition of 16th and 17th century Flemish and Dutch paintings, from the collection of Mr. Walter P. Chrysler, Jr., was thoroughly enjoyed by all those who had the opportunity to see it.

Mrs. David V. Malbon, Fine Arts, chairman, Women's Club of Princess Anne County, was chairman of the Artmobile visit to Virginia Beach.

Members of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs served as hostesses, aiding the Driver-Curator, Mr. William R. Gaines, in guiding visitors through the Artmobile. The Federation is sponsoring the Artmobile as a public service and has undertaken to pay its operating expenses for one year.

Inaugurated in a ceremony held in Fredericksburg on October 13th, 1953, the Artmobile is a new and unusual educational service on the part of the Virginia Museum. A loud speaker recording, heard by visitors inside the "Museum on wheels," gave explanatory information about the paintings on display.

The Artmobile will continue to travel throughout the State with its present exhibition for two years. At the close of this period, another exhibition will be installed by the staff of the Museum, and the Artmobile will begin another tour carrying the finest works of art throughout Virginia.

Bayside Sailor Fined for Cutting Throat of Pet

John M. Driggers, Ocean Park sailor was fined $30 and costs in the Princess Anne Trial Justice Court Monday afternoon upon conviction of cutting his little dog's throat.

Driggers, whose address was listed as Route 1, Box 191, Bayside, did not appear but was in absentia. Trial Justice J. Davis Reed ordered a capias for him.

The defendant's wife testified that Driggers, for no apparent reason, picked up a butcher knife and cut the throat of Skippy, their little brown fox terrier, Friday night.

A. J. Culpepper, operator of an animal hospital, said 20 stitches were required to close the little dog's wound. Skippy is still under his care.

"He's a likeable little fellow; and if nobody else wants him, I'd like to keep him," Culpepper told the court.

Conviction resulted from Section 4554 of the Code of Virginia, dealing with cruelty to animals. Judge Reed also ordered three defendants held, for the grand jury on charges of rape: Frederick Williams, of 414 Middlesex Street, Berkley; Floyd E. Andrews, of 329 West Princess Anne Road, Norfolk; and William H. Gaines, of 363 West Princess Anne Road, Gaines was also ordered held on an additional sex charge.

The nation's weekly press once again has demonstrated its power for numerous inquiries have been received at the National Geographic Monthly (in Springfield, Mass.), official publication of the National Geographic Society, from readers who saw the recent story of the tour in their local weekly newspapers.

Long Study Precedes Division of PA County Into Eleven Districts

APPROVED BY STATE PLANNING DEPARTMENT; LAND USE FOR RESIDENCES, BUSINESS SET FORTH IN DETAIL

The long-awaited master zoning plan for Princess Anne County that divides it into 11 districts was approved on first reading by the county's Board of Supervisors at their meeting Monday.

The plan had been prepared only after six public hearings and 18 months of study by the County Planning Commission. The plan has the approval of the Department of State Planning and Economic Development of the Virginia Conservation Department.

Three readings are required before the plan goes into effect. Since 1944, the county has operated under an interim ordinance whereby each building permit had to be submitted to the Planning Commission.

The plan's 11 proposed districts are set forth in a series of maps, which are to become a part of the ordinance. The maps designate residential, business, industrial and farm areas. According to Planning Commission Chairman J. Peter Holland, Jr., they represent the ideas of a majority of residents as brought out in public hearings over the county.

Minimum lot sizes and "frontage, setbacks, and in some cases, minimum space requirements for dwelling units are prescribed in other sections of the ordinance.

Land use for commercial and business areas, for motels, tourist homes and restaurants, is set forth in detail.

Construction in County Remains At High Level

A report to the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors Monday by Building Inspector V. Alfred Etheridge points up the rapid growth of the county from a rural status to that of an urban community.

Etheridge reported that on July 20 his office had issued a total of 1,496 building permits since January 1 with a total estimated construction value of $9,280,615, including 1,226 family units valued at $7,578,998.

From June 28 to July 28, Etheridge said, 194 building permits were issued for a value of $1,000,000, including four churches valued at $109,000.

Etheridge said the June total of construction value was about $2,500,000, making it the sixth month in succession that the county's building permits exceeded the $1,000,000 mark.

The ordinance, however, maintains a provision permitting non-conforming uses existing at the time of its enactment to continue. Should a non-conforming use be discontinued for one year, the discontinuance would be deemed permanent.

Change said the county's agricultural district under the ordinance would be "as close as the law will allow" and "much less restrictive" than in those of other counties with master zoning plans.

County Building Inspector V. Alfred Etheridge presented the board new figures confirming the rapid trend of the county from rural to urban status, which had been predicted in the master zoning plan ordinance.

On July 20, he said his office had issued a total of 1,496 building permits since January 1 with a total estimated construction value of $9,280,615, including 1,226 family units valued at $7,578,998.

From June 28 to July 28, Etheridge said, 194 building permits were issued for a value of $1,000,000, including four churches valued at $109,000.

Etheridge said the June total of construction value was about $2,500,000, making it the sixth month in succession that the county's building permits exceeded the $1,000,000 mark.

Change said building activity in the county for the next six months would likely exceed the total of the first six months, with plans ready to build 4,000 family units in one set and 400 in another as soon as possible.

The supervisors also: Granted the Virginia Electric and Power Company an easement for power line extension to the Sand Bridge area.

Approved the Federal plan of Workman's Compensation Insurance for employees of the county, paid solely by the county, to replace the county's existing self-insured plan, on the grounds of less cost.

Rescinded an ordinance passed at the June meeting to close Boulevard between 34th and 36th streets in North Virginia Beach, after discovery that proper posting of signs to close the street had not been complied with.

The supervisors will hold their next meeting August 30 instead of the fourth August to permit them to attend a forum under the auspices of the Virginia Landmarks Commission and Municipalities Association in Charlottesville.

AROUND THE FARM

Nitrogen Needed On Pastures For Heavier Fall Yields

Nitrogen applied now or in early August will give pastures a much-needed boost for fall grazing or hay.

John F. Shoulters, associate agronomist at VPI, says applying 30 to 50 pounds of nitrogen to pastures will increase the amount of hebage when rains come, if enough phosphate and potash are present. If the pasture was topdressed last winter or spring with at least 500 pounds per acre of a recommended fertilizer, enough phosphate and potash likely will be present so nitrogen alone will give the desired results.

However, if the pasture has not been adequately topdressed with phosphorus and potash within the last year, it is advisable to use a complete fertilizer for more rapid growth.

This year, with a drought of long standing, it is particularly important to apply additional nitrogen for fall growth. Many pastures have lost much of their legume stand, and weather conditions have been unfavorable for adequate fixing of nitrogen in the soil so far this season.

NOTES FOR HOMEMAKERS

By Mrs. Elizabeth Deal
County Home Demonstration Agent

Ever hear of deviled cottage cheese? It's a tasty salad thought up by nutritionists at VPI. You'll need 4 hard-cooked eggs, 1-4 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 teaspoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon chopped olives, 1 tablespoon pickle relish, 1-2 to 3-4 cup cottage cheese with chives, 1-4 teaspoon salt, and 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Cut eggs in half lengthwise and remove yolks. Mash yolks and add mustard, vinegar, chopped olives, and relish. Add cottage cheese, mix well, and season with salt and pepper. Refill egg whites with mixture, piling it high. Sprinkle with paprika. Serve in lettuce cups. And for another salad featuring cottage cheese, try chive cheese mold. Use 1 package lemon-flavored gelatin, 1 cup hot water, 1 cup cold water, 1-2 large avocado, 1 cup chive cottage cheese, 6 tablespoons mayonnaise, and 1-3 cup chopped pecan meats. Dissolve flavored gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until syrupy. Mash avocado. Mix with cottage cheese, mayonnaise, and nuts, and add to thickened gelatin. Pour into mold and chill. Garnish with oranges slices or segments. Serves 6.

When You Make Cream Puffs
If you want your cream puffs to really "puff" and increase in volume, be sure not to overcook the mixture of water, fat, and flour. Take the mixture off the stove when it leaves the sides of the pan and forms a compact ball.

meet for their fourth annual conference at VPI August 2 and 3. Among the speakers will be Dr. H. L. Vandemark, professor of dairying, University of Illinois; Dr. H. A. Herman, executive secretary, National Association of Artificial Breeders, Columbia, Mo.; Dr. W. J. Bendix, state veterinarian, Richmond; and W. H. Armstrong, manager, The Virginia Artificial Breeding Association, Rocky Mount.

Other speakers will be members of the VPI staff.

Insect Survey Work Reported

Farmers in Virginia continue their battle against bugs. In his weekly report on insect activities in Virginia, Arthur P. Morris, associate entomologist at VPI, says alfalfa and clover fields are frequent victims. Leaf hoppers and lygus bugs are beginning to cause yellowing of alfalfa in some localities. The leaf hoppers and grasshoppers in alfalfa fields of Loudoun and Fauquier.

Corn in all parts of the state continues to be damaged by various species of larvae. In addition, sap beetles are causing injury in some fields. Damage from the European corn borer is heavier than in recent years in Warren County.

An encouraging note is struck on truck crops in eastern Virginia, except for sap beetles in sweet corn and an increase in Mexican bean beetle adults.

The heaviest outbreak of spotted tentiform leafminers in years is reported in some apple orchards of Frederick county. European red mites are attacking apple foliage in northern Virginia. Although the infestation is classed as "medium," the mites are generally more numerous than usual at this time of year. Tobacco farmers can look for the mid-summer brood of cigarette beetles and tobacco moths, which are expected to be emerging in a few days.

Inter-State Event Set For All Stars

The Virginia Chapter of All Stars, an honorary 4-H organization, will play host to an inter-state conference at VPI August 20-22.

States which will send All Star delegates are Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Rhode Island, Tennessee, and West Virginia.

Vacation With Fun, Training Available For Older Rural Youth

A vacation - with traditional fun-making coupled with leadership training - is in the offering for many Virginia older rural youth. Dr. James A. Duncan, older rural youth specialist at VPI, announces plans for a leadership training camp for young men and women at Camp Farrar, Virginia Beach, August 4-8.

Those interested in attending should contact their county agricultural or home agents. The program will include general assemblies with discussion groups on such subjects as economics and public policy, foreign relations, and program planning. In addition to state 4-H staff members from VPI, speakers will include Dr. H. M. Love, head of the VPI agricultural economics department, and W. W. Bure, 4-H Club Foundation, Washington, D. C.

There will be classes in recreation, arts and handicrafts, and photography, and recreation will include swimming, fishing, athletics, and tours.

UNANIMOUS PRAISE FOR COLONY RESTAURANT

Countless thousands who have visited Virginia Beach's famed Colony Restaurant have been unanimous in their praise of the fine food and service found at the popular eating establishment. Typical of the expressions of satisfied customers is the following:

"We enjoyed the food very much; the service was excellent; we would like to come again soon." These are the words of Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Cooke, of Clinton, Iowa.

If you haven't enjoyed a Colony meal you should do so real soon. The Colony Restaurant is located on Atlantic Avenue in the Jefferson Hotel building. (ADV.)

DUCKS EXPECTED

Thousands of ducks are expected to visit the Hog Island Waterfowl Refuge on the lower James this year. It was estimated last year that 2,500 to 3,000 ducks used the area last year and from 6,000 to 8,000 geese wintered in the fields planted in grain to attract them. It will probably be several years still before there is maximum utilization by ducks.

When the property was acquired, it was easy to do things at once that would attract geese although few geese came into the area previously. The grainfields have attracted the honkers until they have built up to their present high levels. It took more time to develop feeding areas for ducks.

Caldwell, Jr., 583d CO, emphasized that although heavy demands were made on the group's radar equipment during the 60-hour exercise, there was no instance of radar failure and that this success was attributable in large part to the 583d's around-the-clock support.

4-H Members Learn to Grow Better Beef

Better quality beef is being produced by Virginia farm youth, as can be demonstrated in a study of the 16 Junior Fat Stock Shows and Sales held by the Future Farmers of America and the 4-H Clubs over a three-month period last Spring.

"This is a most encouraging trend," according to W. M. Gaunt, Jr., of Richmond, the Managing Director of the Virginia Chain Store Council whose membership has taken an active supporting role to the annual Fat Stock Shows and Sales since 1941.

"It means that our young people are progressing an producing beef that all of us can be proud of in Virginia, and this is certain to be welcomed not only by the packers and retailers but, more important, by our homemakers."

Gaunt, in reviewing last Spring's figures against those of four years ago, revealed that 8 per cent of the 487 head shown and sold in 1954 by Virginia youth graded Choice or better, whereas only 76 per cent of the 442 head shown in 1951 graded Choice or better.

The five food chains — American Stores, Colonial Stores, Great A & P Food Stores, the Kroger Company, and Safeway Stores — provided a substantial amount of support to last Spring's shows in purchasing 155 per cent or 71 steers put in the ring by Virginia youth. Gaunt said. Of the 71 animals purchased by the food chains, 69 were in Choice or Prime grades, again emphasizing the importance of top-quality beef production.

Trophies were awarded to the Grand Champion by four of five food chains. Gaunt said, at 10 of the 16 shows which were held during the months of March, April & May & embraced 52 counties. Once the beef was purchased by the stores, it later was advertised and sold in chain store outlets nearest to where the steers were raised.

The five food chains operating in Virginia, Gaunt said, paid $19-

4525 for the Future Farmers of America and 4-H Club steers. Receipts from the sales of meat and by-products from the animals amounted to $15,767.24, which Gaunt said resulted in a cost of $3,747.61 to the principal food chains for their role in encouraging youth in the production of better-quality beef in Virginia.

"Chambers of Commerce, local business firms and individuals," Gaunt said, "as well as packers and buyers from the chains well could be congratulated for helping to sponsor these shows and sales."

"We are confident that these shows and sales not only help to educate our youth in the practical requirements of fitting and ring showmanship for their animals, but it also provides a sound and practical lesson for the youngsters in the economics of the beef industry."

Top prize for a Grand Champion was paid at the Roanoke show, where the 865-pound Short-horn, exhibited by Dickie Shelbourne, of Montgomery County, was sold for 75c per hundred pounds. Dickie's blue-ribbon winning Short-horn won a handsome trophy given by The Kroger Company.

Next highest price, 65c per hundred pounds, was paid at the Bristol Show where Jimmy Rosenbaum's 1,100-pound Hereford was judged as the Grand Champion and also the winner of a trophy from The Kroger Company. The third highest price, 60c per hundred pounds, was paid at the Richmond show where Billy Thomas, of Loudoun County, sold his Grand Champion 920-pound Angus to Colonial Stores.

Colonial Stores not only gave a trophy to the Richmond Grand Champion steer but a handsome trophy to the best pen of hogs. Colonial also has sponsored an all-expenses-paid trip in November to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago for the winning 4-H Club livestock judging four-member team of Charles Flora, of Botetourt County; Max Branch, also of Botetourt County; James Gove, of Augusta County; and Wayne Hogge, of Norfolk County.

Stanton — Allen River, Augusta County, 905-pound Angus, given trophy by Kroger; Smithfield — Harold Griffin, Isle of Wight County, 965-pound Hereford, given trophy by Colonial; Roanoke — Dickie Shelbourne, Montgomery County, 865-pound Short-horn, given trophy by Kroger; Bristol — Jimmy Rosenbaum, Lee County, 1,100-pound Hereford, given trophy by Kroger; Front Royal — George Cosser, Page County, 835-pound Hereford; Richmond — Bill Thomas, Loudoun County, 920-pound Angus, given trophy by Colonial; Suffolk — Ed Felton, Nansemond County, 1,070-pound Hereford; Petersburg — Arthur Ford, of Union Level, 885-pound Angus.

Also, Charlottesville — Bill Clover, Albemarle County, 910-pound Angus, given trophy by Safeway; Danville — David Barksdale, Halifax County, 1,120-pound Hereford, given trophy by Kroger; Fredericksburg — Jay Broadbent, King George County, 965-pound Hereford, given trophy by Safeway; Richards — Kermit Hinkle, of Cedar Bluff, 900-pound Hereford; Portsmouth — Bobby Saunders, Norfolk County, 981-pound Hereford, given trophy by Colonial; Winchester — George Cather, Frederick County, 1,200-pound Short-horn, given trophy by American; Courtland — Merrill Ralston, Southampton County, 965-pound Hereford; and Sussex — Selma Cox, of Waverly, 955-pound Angus.

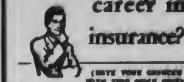

Each of the 16 Grand Champions was graded out as Prime. Gaunt said, and all but one of the 16 Reserve Champions graded Prime — the sole exception was graded Choice.

power engine, full-time power steering, fully-automatic 5-speed-Flite transmission and side power brakes."

Braden backed up his sales optimism by citing customer delivery records of the past 30 days which show a steady increase for the periods ending June 20, July 30 and July 10. Sales were 2,600 cars, 2,501 and 3,068 cars respectively, he said.

"Chrysler dealers are doing an increasingly better job of market penetration as can be seen by the fact that in 1952 Chrysler was eleventh in sales, in 1953 tenth, and this year in ninth place," Braden said.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Browser's" License

"Specs" Johnson, who thinks it's a real treat to spend an hour or so browsing in a bookshop found his idea of heaven up in Centerville last week.

"Just inside the door," Specs says, "there's a tray of bright blue buttons. If you want to look around without having someone suggest you buy the latest best-selling novel, or maybe a history of Africa, you pin a button on your coat lapel."

"You can poke around all you like. Then when you've found the book you want, take off the button, and someone's right there to take care of you."

From where I sit, everybody likes to make his own choice. It doesn't matter whether it's books, or preferences in clothing or makes of cars. And it's no surprise that folks have personal preferences in beverages, too. So if your neighbor orders a glass of beer while you're having coffee, remember he's entitled to his choice, too.

European powers. But the so-called peace treaty with Western Germany has not been approved by France because France has not yet approved EDC although it has been approved by Germany, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg. If it votes down the treaty the only way Germany could be re-armed would be through the joint action of Great Britain and the United States in granting national sovereignty to the areas of Western Germany which they now occupy. Under that sovereignty, Germany could be accepted as a member of NATO.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

TAKE NOTICE that the undersigned will, on the 1st day of September, 1954, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., at Princess Anne Court House, Princess Anne, Virginia, petition the Judge of the Circuit Court for the appointment of a Special Commissioner who shall be directed to convey the following property:

All of that certain tract, piece or parcel of land, being in Lynnhaven Magistral District, situated on the Old Norfolk-London Bridge Road, and being designated as "4.0 Acres" on a plat entitled "Property of London Bridge Baptist Church Princess Anne Co., Va. Scale: 1" = 100'. May 26, 1954. W. B. Gallup County Surveyor," said land being more particularly bounded and described according to said plat as follows:

Beginning at a pipe in the north side of the Old Norfolk-London Bridge Road, thence north 9 degrees 20' west along the center of a ditch 766.5 feet to a pin; thence south 81 degrees 38' east 182.2 feet to a pin; thence south 52 degrees 48' east 80.6 feet to a pin; thence south 12 degrees 54' east along the center of a ditch 672.5 feet to a pipe in the north side of the Old Norfolk-London Bridge Road, thence along the north side of the Old Norfolk-London Bridge Road south 84 degrees 40' west 271.6 feet to a pipe, the place of beginning.

To the undersigned as Trustees of the London Bridge Baptist Church in accordance with Section 57-17 of the 1950 Code of Virginia, at which time all interested parties may appear and do what may be necessary to protect their interest therein.

Pilot Club Hears Report From Boston Meeting

The Pilot Club of Norfolk held its July dinner meeting at the Staghorn on Tuesday evening with Miss Martha Lawrence, Governor of District II, program chairman. Reports of the 33rd annual Pilot International Convention which was held in Boston, at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel, July 14-18, were given by Alice Brewer White, president of the Norfolk club and official delegate; Mrs. Mildred Bradshaw, international director; Miss Lawrence and Miss Marion Benoit.

A tape-recorded message from Miss Winifred Harriett Newman, newly installed International president of Charleston, West Virginia, was heard. This interview was made by Mrs. White and disks will be sent to many of the 350 clubs in the United States and seven countries for use by Pilots on their own local radio stations. Miss Newman's theme for her administration "Vision, Action, Reality" was the theme of her message.

Plans were discussed at the meeting after the dinner, for the Better Public Relations Clinic which will be held late in September, sponsored by the Norfolk and Portsmouth Pilot Clubs, for all men's and women's organizations in the Tidewater area.

JANE KELLAM SPONSORED BY JUNIOR WOMEN

The Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County sponsored Miss Jane Kellam, a Virginia Beach High School student, as a delegate to Girls' State at Blacksburg, Virginia. The conference took place during the week of July 12-17. Miss Kellam was elected a member of the General Assembly, the legislative body modeled after our state law-making organization. The young people, according to Miss Kellam's report, learned a great deal about how our government operates during the week's stay at Girls' State.

In the first half of 1954, two-thirds of all American families own one or more automobiles and half of all families have television sets, according to the Federal Reserve Board survey of consumer finances conducted by the University of Michigan.

More than half of all American non-farm families own their own homes with more than 50 per cent of them being free of mortgage debt. These are the people who this year will spend many millions of dollars in remodeling and modernizing their homes.

Among the first places that most definitely date the house are the kitchen and the bathroom. But these are the rooms that are perhaps the easiest of all to modernize to make them as attractive as "frill" rooms in the latest houses on any street in the United States.

Such materials as prefinished wallpanels that now come in a wide variety of patterns, ranging from plain colors to lined and tile patterns and even marble and woodgrain, are designed for the handy man who wants to do his own modernizing work.

By following the simple directions supplied with the material and the special adhesives, any man that is handy with the simple carpenter tools can refinish the walls and ceiling of his kitchen and bathroom with this modern hardboard material.

Prefinished wallpanels, which have a factory-applied baked enamel surface, put an end to future redecorating costs and one of the most attractive features of this material is its ease of cleaning, a feature that will appeal to any housewife.

Tomb Gives Up Treasures

Robert Taylor and Eleanor Farber come to the end of their search for the hidden tomb of the ancient Egyptian Pharaoh Rameses in this scene from "Valley of the Kings," MGM adventure drama in color, showing at the Beach Theatre next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The picture was filmed on location in Egypt and is most timely review of world attention now focused on excavations in that ancient land.

Junior Woman's Club Committee To Aid "Million Penny" Drive

Mrs. Leslie R. Watson, Public Affairs chairman of the Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County, has appointed a committee of ten to work on the "Million Penny Campaign."

Mrs. Edgar E. Cayce, Mrs. Gordon Potter, Miss Connie Loving, Miss Evelyn Glimbert, Mrs. D. Murray Malbon, Mrs. George D. Newkirk, Mrs. John Baines, Mrs. Joseph R. Larson, Mrs. V. Alford Etheridge and Mrs. Fredrick G. Trummer.

The Junior Woman's Club is working in conjunction with the local Ruritan Club to raise money for band instruments and uniforms for the ew Princess Anne Central School. The school is located at Thalia and will open in September, 1954.

The above-named committee members are placing a box for penny contributions in every home in Princess Anne County in order to raise the necessary funds for the new band.

Brownies Busy At Day Camp

Camp-Linkhorn the Girl Scout day camp in Princess Anne County reminds one of a bee hive with eighty little Brownie Scouts moving around busy with the day's activities. These Brownies are divided into three patrols.

The Thunderbirds, Seacats and Weroans and each patrol is divided into three units. To give you some idea of what these Brownies do let's follow them through the camp last Wednesday. In the morning the Thunderbirds were working on Ceramics and Weroans were doing dramatics. Then Mrs. Sara Sadler Wood, who so graciously gave the entire morning was teaching each patrol creative dancing. Miss Strong from The Virginia Pilot came down to the camp and brought a photographer and they took several pictures of the different activities. In the afternoon the Weroans pantomimed Fairy Tales. Thunderbirds had each unit sing a song and the other units had to name it and the Seacats sang songs and played games. So you see they are a very busy little group learning many new things and also having lots of fun.

Chief Justice Earl Warren Heads Dignitary List at Celebration

Plans for an impressive legal celebration in September at the College of William and Mary are moving into high gear, according to Dr. W. Melville Jones, executive director of the Marshall-Wythe-Blackstone Commemorative Ceremonies.

"It's shaping up as one of the most impressive ceremonies William and Mary has ever undertaken," said Dr. Jones, "and we're anticipating one of the largest arrays of dignitaries that have ever converged on the 261-year-old campus."

Chief Justice Earl Warren has already accepted an invitation to participate in the ceremonies, according to William and Mary President Alvin Duke Chandler.

Invitations have also been extended to the eight associate justices of the Supreme Court, said Chandler, "and to other distinguished legal experts throughout the English-speaking world."

Associate Justice C. Vernon Spratley of the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia has also accepted an invitation to the ceremonies and invitations have been extended to all members of the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia.

Chandler said that although the celebration is still more than two months away, he is "quite gratified with the response and enthusiasm that has been exhibited thus far. It will easily be one of the largest celebrations that the College has ever sponsored."

More than 2,500 brochures outlining the celebration were mailed last week to attorneys, law schools, and bar associations throughout the country, according to Dr. Jones.

Featured in the celebration will be the unveiling of busts of John Marshall, George Wythe, and Sir William Blackstone. It will commemorate the beginning of the 200th anniversary of Marshall's birth and the 175th anniversary of the establishment at William and Mary of the first chair of law in the United States.

The William and Mary Law School Association voted last year to hold the celebration "to emphasize the vast influence which the three jurists have had upon American jurisprudence."

The ceremonies will also serve to inaugurate the first chair of taxation at the College of William and Mary and to dedicate the Anglo-American Bench and Bar to its traditions of representative constitutional government.

When the busts are unveiled in September, it will mark the second step within a year that William and Mary has taken to honor its first professor of law, George Wythe, and his renowned student, John Marshall.

The first step was taken last fall when the College's Board of Visitors voted to change the name of the William and Mary law school from the Department of Jurisprudence to the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

As the second oldest law school in the English world, it is antedated only by the Vinerian professorship at Oxford, established in 1758 and held by Blackstone.

The William and Mary law school is 38 years older than Harvard, which was founded in 1827, and the law school at Columbia University.

Lowell to Speak On People, Churches, Things

"People, Churches and Things" will be topic of Mr. Lowell's meditation at the 11 a. m. service of the Methodist Church, 18th St. near Atlantic Ave., next Sunday, August 1. The sacrament of Holy Communion will be observed. At the evening service, 8 o'clock, Mr. Lowell's topic will be "The Meaning of Reverence."

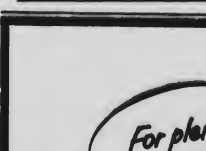

Christmas Worship and Fellowship. Lesson for August 1: Acts 2:46-47; Corinthians 5: 12-17; Hebrews 10: 24-25.
Golden Text: Hebrews 10: 24-25.

Worship is an important thing in one's spiritual growth. As a boy, the writer heard his elders in the meeting sometimes thanking God that they were still on "praying ground." Later, he learned the full significance of this when he was told that some of the Christians of an earlier time had a special place where they went to pray. It was known as their "praying ground." How good it would be if more professing Christians should have not a praying ground, necessarily, but a set time to meditate and pray.

Public worship should be an uplift to the sincere Christian. It is helpful to meet with others of like faith and manner of living. If a larger number should attend church in the right attitude, there would be less criticism of the preacher and the choir. If they should go in the spirit of worship instead of going to be entertained a great blessing would come to them.

Then we are to live as Christians in the every-day - forgiving one another, being compassionate and kind, and putting on love as the bond of perfection. The word of God must dwell richly in Christians. And living as Christians includes behaving in a Christ-like way toward all men. By their manner of living they can show other men that they are true followers of the Lord.

On Friday evening the 23rd of July the Official Board and the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Virginia Beach Methodist Church were joint hosts at a reception honoring the Reverend and Mrs. C. Stanley Lowell. Mr. Lowell began his ministry at the local church in June having transferred from Wesley Methodist Church, Washington, D. C. The social hall of the church which was the scene for the affair was beautifully decorated with ferns and arrangements of gladioli by Mrs. C. H. Helms and Mrs. Carl Raw. The punch tables arranged by Mrs. Harold Kellam, Mrs. Ruth Watson and Mrs. George Burwell were presided over by Mrs. Norman Riberding, Mrs. Worth Petty and Mrs. Douglas Wilson. Miss Elizabeth Puckett was hostess in the dining room. Guests were presented to a receiving line composed of Mr. Harold Kellam, chairman of the Official Board, and Mrs. Kellam; Mr. and Mrs. Lowell; Mrs. George Snell, President of the W. S. C. S. and Mr. Snell, and Mr. Aubrey Holmes, Sr., Supt. of the church school and Mrs. Holmes.

week Lesley Savage, TheatreGoRound producer, says there has been a considerable demand for a Coward play on this Summer's schedule, and the change is in response to the request.

Leads will be played by Roger Hamilton, Maria Corbett and Harry Baader, featured members of the company. Baader distinguished himself in the Jose Ferrer role in "The Shrike." Miss Corbett and Hamilton was popular favor playing opposite each other in the F. Hugh Herbert Farce, "A Girl Can Tell."

"Design for Living" will be directed by Rica Martens, who directed "The Shrike."

Currently playing at TheatreGoRound is the Broadway success "Burlesque," with Miss Mari tens and Ken Donnelly in the leading roles. A highlight of the play is the miniature burlesque show, complete with skits, chorus girls and a satirical strip-tease.

Reservations may be made by telephoning 2730. The show starts at 8:40, and all reservations must be picked up no later than 8:30.

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK • JULY 25-31

You can bet your life Safety Pays!

There's trouble and danger in unfilled holes and ditches, and in unprotected hay chutes, uncovered water tanks, cisterns, wells! Check your farm for hazardous openings into which people or animals might fall; remember, especially, children are curious about things they can crawl into.

Repair weak or broken steps; check handrails. Keep stairways clear of boxes, brooms, toys, etc. Be sure all steps are well lighted. Never over-wax steps.

Keep farm machinery in A-1 repair, but don't fix it while it's running! Don't "save time" by leaving off safety shields on power take-offs. Keep children away from machinery. Keep electric motors clean and free of trash accumulation. Keep home appliances and cords in good condition.

Always wear gloves when repairing rusty or barbed fences. Use only an approved electric fence controller. Keep electric cords in good condition; use only moisture-proof cords outside; heavy rubber cords for motors.

Make a safe inventory of farmyard and home. Keep tools picked up. Be sure that the pathway to your main electrical switch box is free of all obstructions. Inspect switches, insulation, outlets. Keep extra, proper-size fuses on hand.

COMMERCIAL and INDUSTRIAL BUSINESS REVIEW SECTION

LONG EXPERIENCE MAKES EXTERMINATING COMPANY'S WORK MOST EFFECTIVE

Every home owner should take the precaution of protecting their home from the damages that come from termites & other destroying insects. For more than 20 years J. B. Rose, owner of the Tidewater Termite Exterminating Co., has been giving the protecting treatment that insures the home-owner that their property will not be damaged as so often has happened.

In commenting on the need for such a service being performed Mr. Rose said as follows: "Looking back to the crude methods and antiquated forms of control used just in the past quarter of a century, we are surprised that throughout the years man has been able to control these property destroying and disease carrying vermin at all."

A telephone call to Norfolk 66-5511 will give you the benefit of an appointment to have your premises inspected and if the need is obvious, you will be informed of what is needed to give your home the proper protection and you will also know in advance just what the cost will be. Every job carries a written 5-year guarantee.

"The progress made in equipment, materials and research," continued Mr. Rose, "is a story any industry could be proud of. The increasing, economic and social importance of pest control is a tribute to the hard work of pioneers in the field."

Mr. Rose cautioned property owners to watch for any signs of flying ants accompanied by deterioration or destruction, sawdust piles and mud tunnels and to call for an inspector to determine whether or not the cause is the termite.

The favorite dishes in Old Mexico include meat balls, prepared differently but just as popular as in Italy - Sweden or other countries.

Domesticated meat-animals were introduced into Mexico with the coming of Cortez some 500 years ago. Mexican Cooks have since developed a large variety of excellent meat dishes.

The American homemaker seeking new ways to prepare old favorites has found the answer to many of her problems by consulting recipes and menus that have originated in Mexico. In addition to offering exciting flavor appeal, Mexican-style foods are healthful. For example, less than 1/3 of an ounce of chili powder contains the daily adult requirement of Vitamin A.

These Mexican Meat Balls make an excellent main dish and are fine as a party snack for friends. They may be combined with almost any other food, but are particularly good when served with Mexican Fried Rice.

two slices of bread that have been cubed, in milk until the liquid has been absorbed. Mix together the softened bread, 1 pound ground pork, 1 pound ground veal, 1 slightly beaten egg, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper and 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. When well mixed, shape the mixture into balls the size of large walnuts.

Separate three(3) eggs and beat whites until stiff but not too dry. Beat egg yolks until thick. Add yolks and 2 tablespoons flour to the egg whites and fold together thoroughly. Coat the meat balls in the egg mixture then brown on all sides in 1-2 cup hot salad oil in the frying pan. Remove the meat from the pan. In the same pan and oil, slightly saute 2 tablespoons of finely chopped onions and 1 clove crushed garlic. Blend 2 teaspoons of chili powder with 2 tablespoons cold water and add the mixture to the onions and garlic. Blend well. Bring this mixture to a boil and then add the browned meat balls. Cover and simmer 45 minutes.

To serve with the meat balls, try this recipe for Mexican Fried Rice.

Cook 1 1/4 cups uncooked rice in a heavy skillet containing 3 tablespoons of hot salt oil, until the rice is golden brown, stirring constantly. Add to the rice 1 clove of crushed garlic, 1 cup tomato juice, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper and 1 cup hot water. Bring to a boil and simmer about 15 minutes or until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. You can be sure that your friends and family too will relish this new way of preparing an old favorite. Plan to have a tossed Salad, made of all those good home-grown tomato cubes, cucumbers, and every thing that makes a wonderful salad. Use your favorite salad dressing and be very sure its really cold, thats so important. Thats all for now. So, Bye,

THE CHANGEOVER COTTONS

At long last, women have discovered that dark cottons are wonderful for the changeover period between Summer and the new Fall fashions. They're mighty thrifty items, too, for they not only make a woman feel quite properly dressed - especially here in the South - but they are added items to her wardrobe which she can wear twelve months in the year. So many of the newer cottons look like flannel, tweed and broadcloth - their weaves and finishes being such - and, of course, cottons are lighter for 'twelve seasons wear, they're mostly crease resistant and - naturally, washable. So, dark cottons are a good buy for the trans-season wearing. Whether you wear a homemade or a store-bought cotton, with the new weaves and finishes, you can't help but look smart and certainly you'll be extremely more comfortable in a dark cotton than you will in heavier togs in this weather which if it runs true to form, will hang on hot and humid far into Fall. NOW IT'S VEGETABLES! - For a couple of seasons now, designers have been swamping us with the floral touch in fashions and they've been most acceptable and pretty. Now, the latest from Italy is the news that Laura Apronte has gone out into her vegetable garden for the colorful inspiration she has employed in her latest sweater collection. A letter from Rome describes one green pea sweater with buttons up and down the sleeves from shoulder to cuffs, made little pale green. One in a shade looking much like Schiaparelli's famous "choking pink" is the radish sweater and the egg plant inspired a dlish purple sweater with a green turtle neck. It all sounds sort of like Salvadori Dali let loose from his painting pen, doesn't it?

ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN - When you attend the New York Dress Institute's semi-annual press showings, you always know you'll find new things to report but there are times when you can't help but wonder, "What next?" and this last fashion junket brought that query to mind. What with the new mauve look in makeup, the "bulky, chunky more looks" in costume jewelry, the blue look in mink and the "wise-ask-the-sphinx" hat look, well, what next? Lily Dache, internationally known milliner who has just gone into the beauty business, showed us the new mauve look at a midnight supper party in her luxurious penthouse. She showed one model wearing the Marie Marie face powder, which the gay Lily told us "This has a real segment of mauve in it, for wear with the newest fashion shades of blue." She then told us that with evening clothes, a pure mauve powder would be worn and demonstrated on a model. Lily's new company is called General Beauty Products and includes Lufen Lelon perfumes, Marie Marie cosmetics and Lily Dache hair products. At the House of Trifari, "Bulky is the objective" we were old in reference to the "mauve" look in jewelry. This is to be a season when every type of necklace will be worn at once. You'll be carting around arm loads of bracelets and bulky, large earrings. There are buyers who claim that the long, long strings of beads that jewelry houses tried to introduce last year, didn't go over and so, to move that stock the new fashion described above has been started. No matter the origin, the long strings of beads are beautiful, gay or elegant as you prefer them and everybody will be wearing them come the Fall time. You'll not be able to resist Trifari's beautiful and colorfully de-

If you have "venetian" blinds, paint a ring of nail polish around one of the pulls that tips the shutters down. You'll not have to guess any longer when you want to change the shutters.

Put a coat of paste wax on curtain rods if you want curtains or drapes to travel smoothly. You can also use the wax on rods for hanging clothes in the closets.

Scarves can be hung on wire hangers by means of clamp type clothes pins. This keeps them orderly and saves space in drawers, too.

When baking berry pies or broiling, use aluminum foil paper in oven or broiler to catch drippings and thus prevent cleaning the whole unit. Simply wrap drippings and foil and toss in the garbage. If pictures or mirrors are inclined to slip to one side after they are hung, paste a small piece of sandpaper underneath one of the lower corners.

To keep small nails, brackets, hooks and other such items, place in glass jars on a small shelf. Then you can keep these filed and find what you're looking for easily.

If wallpaper is used on a single wall in a room, plan to use the paper on some accessory to hold the room together. Wallpaper may be used on cornices, as a covering for dressing table or screens.
